STELLAR WORKS

PRESS BOOK

Cultural sensibility, timeless craft.

ABOUT US

Stellar Works stands for a renaissance of refined culture and Asian aesthetics. Inspired by the long standing craft and industry of traditional cultures, it represents a commitment to bridging the gap between old and new, east and west – in attitude, form and application.

Stellar Works seeks to reintroduce past collections of classics, alongside culturally-inspired contemporary signatures. It infuses freshness into heritage and grounds innovation with enduring craftsmanship.

IN 2012

We established Stellar Works as a way to bring ideas together: East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry – bringing the best of the past into the light of the present. Our aim was to inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics, taking the forms, styles and motifs that have characterised Japanese design across the centuries and filtering them through the lens of the European tradition to create something new and timeless.

We bridge the gap
Between east and west

East meets West —
Culture Iconography in Chair Making
東方遇見西方—
椅子設計的文化圖像學

撰文／黃亮　圖片提供／Stefan Marks / Design Museum London

2017 年第十五屆倫敦設計節（London Design Festival 2017）雖處在上半年不安的恐攻餘悸與脫歐政局協議不確定性中，仍然於9月16-24日以九大特區四百項活動擴大舉行了，這是歐洲最大金融都會 business as usual 的決定，更是倫敦展開全球設計創意能量所展現的精神指標。

筆者決定這次不管焦所提的亮點（highlight）：戶外地標裝置（Landmark Project）；V&A 博物館的合作特展；Somerset House 馬蒂斯設計新域（Design Frontiers）；威尼設計特區和 Designjunction，等等 top 10 destinations & districts，轉而開聽輕聲細語的文化交談：東方與西方設計的交互影響。

》傳統與創新的文化圖像學

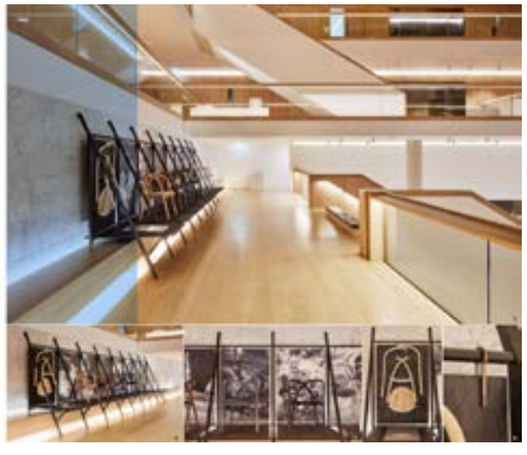

遠東文化經由絲路貿易交通傳遞到西方，中國和日本的哲學與美學一直是西方藝術的靈感泉源；尤其在建築和設計領域材質與紋飾的運用，空間的隱部所構成的傳統或東西方家具擺飾的搭配，也不斷出現在時尚潮流中，如今透過旅行和全球化的頻繁接觸甚至網路的無限連結，已經沒有異國風味的想像距離，而是尋常看待的文化並存；進一步的內在交融於焉衍生。

這屆倫敦設計節期間，由立基上海知名港台的設計雙人組 Neri&Hu（也意設計）在倫敦設計博物館構成的一個 Display（Indigo: A Culture Iconography）即為探討重新設計一個明式椅，探索方傳統文化圖像和工法融入西方工業製造的轉譯過程。

倫敦設計博物館（The Design Museum）於兩年前 2016 年 11 月 24 日搬遷至日前的肯辛頓區（High Street Kensington）新址，建築物是原置多年在 1962 年完成的原英國國協聯誼會（Commonwealth Institute），外觀由荷蘭建特丹的 OMA 建築事務所改建，原教只保留帳篷狀屋頂，玻璃帷幕牆全改換符合當代節能標準的玻璃結構，內部空間則委任以低限主義聞名的英國室內設計師 John Pawson 重新組織規劃，他曾在日本待過七年受到極簡美學的影響，風格清晰展現在挑高四層的中庭空間，以及四面方型鏤空開放動線與一致的原木質色，如意設計的展示位於二樓開放列距道模列，一如所處空間的優性，簡不大卻鮮明醒目，引人駐足細觀。

London feiert die Kreativindustrie und verwandelt sich vom 16. bis 21. September in einen Hotspot für Designliebhaber. Die Highlights des London Design Festivals 2017 haben wir für Sie zusammengefasst.

West Kensington

Immer einen Besuch wert ist das Designmuseum, das letztes Jahr in sein neues Zuhause in Kensington eingezogen ist. Zur Festivalwoche baut Stellar Works, ein Studio mit Dependancen in London und Hong Kong, hier eine Installation über das Färben mit Indigo auf. Der Schweizer Keramikspezialist Laufen zeigt, wie 12 Designer – darunter Patricia Urquiola und Konstantin Grcic – den weißen Werkstoff neu interpretieren. Und für „Set in Stone" werden die Marmor- und Sandsteinskulpturen von Größen wie Michael Anastassiades und Jasper Morrison über das gesamte Museumsareal verstreut. Anfassen und Ausprobieren ausdrücklich erwünscht! Wer sich außerdem ein Update wünscht, was die großen internationalen Marken dieses Jahr zu bieten haben, kann sich auf der kommerziell ausgerichteten „100% Design" Messe in Earls Court davon ein Bild machen.

What to See at the London Design Festival

The city is abuzz with good design

By Natalia Rachlin

September 14, 2017

The winds have picked up, the chill has settled in, and autumn has made its blustery presence known here in London, an annual indication that the city's cultural calendar is about to get very, very busy. Kicking things off this week is the London Design Festival—followed by London Fashion Week (next week) and Frieze (next month)—which sees some 400 events, exhibitions and installations take over the city, as designers both emerging and established take center stage. Now in its 15th year, the nine-day celebration brings back trade shows like Decorex, 100% Design, London Design Fair, and Design Junction, and introduces plenty of new programming, including Design Frontiers, a multidisciplinary showcase of 30 international designers working across fashion, graphics, digital, automotive, and product design. With so much on show all around this creative capital, we whittled down a quick hit list of ten must-see shows and unmissable installations.

Yuichiro Hori of Stellar Works Weighs In

Why China is absent from the design conversation

By Olivia Martin • August 29, 2017 • Design, Product

Why China is absent from the design conversation. Pictured here: A high-back chair by Stellar Works underway. (Courtesy Stellar Works)

Despite its solid economic growth and sizable population (the largest in the world), China is noticeably absent from many conversations and events surrounding design. As numerous publications have pointed out, there was very little representation of China this past year at Milan Design Week and New York Design Week, among others. To learn more, The Architect's Newspaper (AN) managing editor Olivia Martin sat down with Yuichiro Hori of Stellar Works, a Shanghai-based design company, to talk about the current design climate in China. Although Hori is Japanese, he found Shanghai to be the best place to launch Stellar Works, a cross-cultural brand that has worked with designers such as Yabu Pushelberg, Space Copenhagen, Neri& Hu, and David Rockwell. Stellar Works has been praised as one of the few companies truly representing China (and Asia in general) in the design fair circuit.

The Architect's Newspaper: Tell me a bit about starting Stellar Works and how you ended up with a factory in Shanghai and a factory in France.

Yuichiro Hori: My background is in furniture design, so I was designing my collection without my own factory and I was supposed to be making everything in Japan. The quality of Japanese manufacturing is very good, but the problem is that the factories aren't very flexible. The Japanese manufacturing mentality is conservative and people hesitate to take on new challenges. This leads to long lead times and high costs. I had lots of ideas for my new collections, but it was difficult to get them done.

When I went to China, I was surprised by the large-scale furniture factories with new machines and highly skilled workers—I was very impressed! I started asking some of the Chinese companies to work with me.

Ultimately, I set up my own factory in Shanghai, which is an amazing environment: It is innovative and dynamic and international and I am able to find skilled workers easily. So, I moved to Shanghai for my factory there and also started working with the high-end French manufacturing furniture firm Laval to do the furniture's hand detailing.

The Slow Collection by Danish design duo Space Copenhagen features wooden furniture that explores the beauty of narrow silhouettes. The collection includes a lounge chair, dining chair, side chair, dining table and coffee table. All items feature narrow legs that elevate and support, striking a balance between mid-century Danish and classic Japanese design.

Signe Bindslev Henriksen and Peter Bundgaard Ratzow, founders of Space Copenhagen, said one of their aims was to design a series of organically shaped, sculptural and long-lasting furniture. They also wanted to celebrate the feeling "of leaning back, hanging out and enjoying life".

Continuing our series Material Tendencies, we spoke with Jun Aizaki, the owner and principal of CRÈME / Jun Aizaki Architecture & Design, a creative design agency based in Brooklyn.

Profile of Jun Aizaki on Architonic

If you had to restrict yourself to working with just one material for the next three years, which would you choose?

I must say wood is the material that comes close to me. I don't think I could do anything without it, whether it is reclaimed wood or new. I like the organic nature. For me it is like coming back to the basics. Both wood and metal are globally pretty available. Any city with an industrial district has a metal - and a woodshop. It is kind of like the corner stone of making things.

What makes a space comfortable for you?

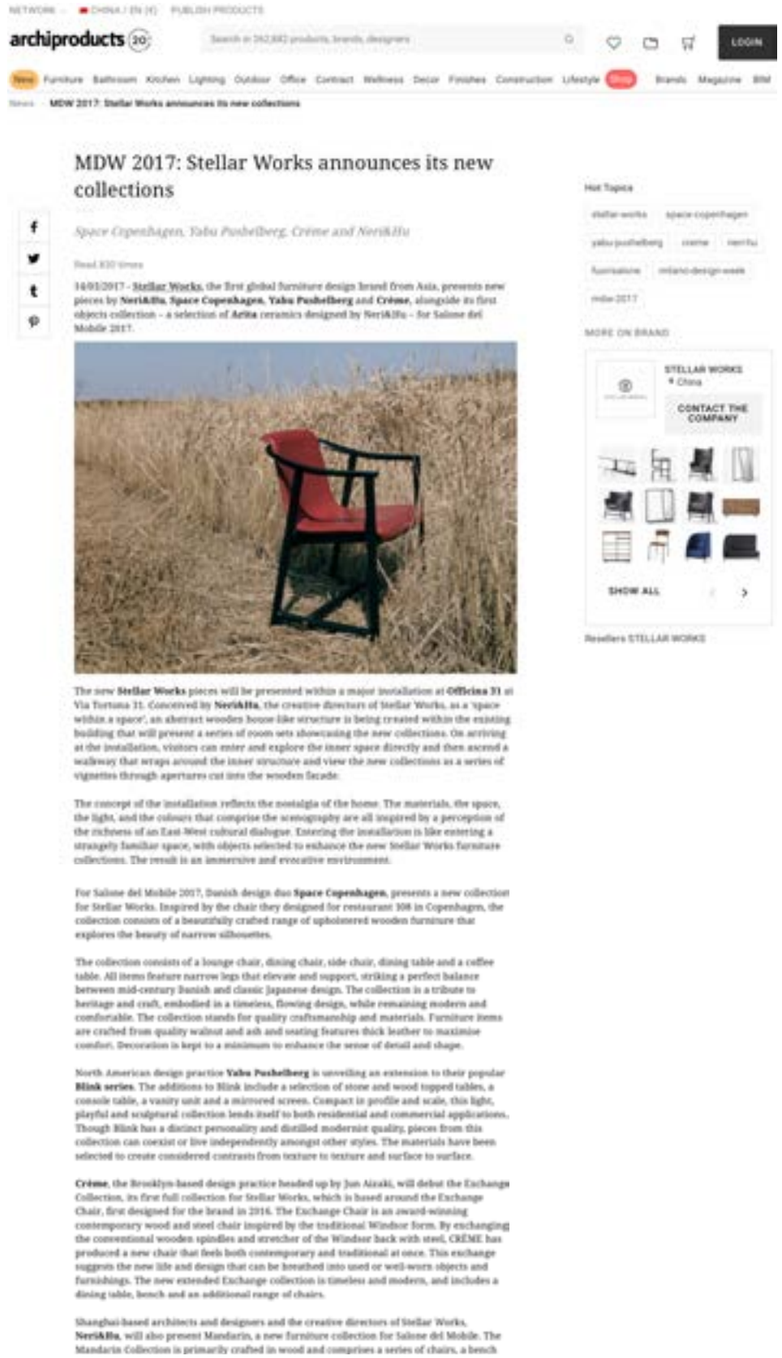

People feel comfortable in spaces that feel warm and inviting. Lighting is absolutely key and the choice of materials. In our studio we strive to design spaces that have a good balance.

We don't want to just 'wow' people. We'd rather have the 'wow' almost come naturally, when you visit that space multiple times. It does not have to be the first time. We like things that age and get worn out. We think about it in a longer lifespan.

MDW 2017: Stellar Works announces its new collections

Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg, Crème and Neri&Hu

Read 830 times

14/03/2017 - Stellar Works, the first global furniture design brand from Asia, presents new pieces by Neri&Hu, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg and Crème, alongside its first objects collection – a selection of Arita ceramics designed by Neri&Hu – for Salone del Mobile 2017.

The new Stellar Works pieces will be presented within a major installation at Officina 31 at Via Tortona 31. Conceived by Neri&Hu, the creative directors of Stellar Works, as a 'space within a space', an abstract wooden house like structure is being created within the existing building that will present a series of room sets showcasing the new collections. On arriving at the installation, visitors can enter and explore the inner space directly and then ascend a walkway that wraps around the inner structure and view the new collections as a series of vignettes through apertures cut into the wooden facade.

The concept of the installation reflects the nostalgia of the home. The materials, the space, the light, and the colours that comprise the scenography are all inspired by a perception of the richness of an East-West cultural dialogue. Entering the installation is like entering a strangely familiar space, with objects selected to enhance the new Stellar Works furniture collections. The result is an immersive and evocative environment.

For Salone del Mobile 2017, Danish design duo Space Copenhagen, presents a new collection for Stellar Works. Inspired by the chair they designed for restaurant 108 in Copenhagen, the collection consists of a beautifully crafted range of upholstered wooden furniture that explores the beauty of narrow silhouettes.

The collection consists of a lounge chair, dining chair, side chair, dining table and a coffee table. All items feature narrow legs that elevate and support, striking a perfect balance between mid-century Danish and classic Japanese design. The collection is a tribute to heritage and craft, embodied in a timeless, flowing design, while remaining modern and comfortable. The collection stands for quality craftsmanship and materials. Furniture items are crafted from quality walnut and ash and seating features thick leather to maximise comfort. Decoration is kept to a minimum to enhance the sense of detail and shape.

North American design practice Yabu Pushelberg is unveiling an extension to their popular Blink series. The additions to Blink include a selection of stone and wood topped tables, a console table, a vanity unit and a mirrored screen. Compact in profile and scale, this light, playful and sculptural collection lends itself to both residential and commercial applications. Though Blink has a distinct personality and distilled modernist quality, pieces from this collection can coexist or live independently amongst other styles. The materials have been selected to create considered contrasts from texture to texture and surface to surface.

Crème, the Brooklyn-based design practice headed up by Jun Aizaki, will debut the Exchange Collection, its first full collection for Stellar Works, which is based around the Exchange Chair, first designed for the brand in 2016. The Exchange Chair is an award-winning contemporary wood and steel chair inspired by the traditional Windsor form. By exchanging the conventional wooden spindles and stretcher of the Windsor back with steel, CRÈME has produced a new chair that feels both contemporary and traditional at once. This exchange suggests the new life and design that can be breathed into used or well-worn objects and furnishings. The new extended Exchange collection is timeless and modern, and includes a dining table, bench and an additional range of chairs.

Shanghai-based architects and designers and the creative directors of Stellar Works, Neri&Hu, will also present Mandarin, a new furniture collection for Salone del Mobile. The Mandarin Collection is primarily crafted in wood and comprises a series of chairs, a bench

How Stellar Works Is Redefining 'Made in China'

Another kind of manufacturing is happening in the land of mass production: Stellar Works raises the bar with quality handcrafted furniture built in Shanghai.

The Lounge chair by Woodly in collection in Paris. Made more replica the wooden spindle of the traditional Windsor adding a contemporary edge.

Another kind of manufacturing is happening in the land of mass production: Stellar Works raises the bar with quality handcrafted furniture built in Shanghai.

With its Japanese founder, French partner and Chinese manufacturing base, Stellar Works is effortlessly cosmopolitan. Since its founding in 2012, the company has continually subverted the cliché that China is home to only mass-volume and low-quality production. But the aspect of Stellar Works that most turns heads is its Shanghai factory, where many products are made by hand.

"If we made our furniture elsewhere, it would mostly be made by machine because of the cost," explains founder and CEO Yuichiro Hori. "Here, it's still affordable to do it by hand."

In April, at Milan's Salone del Mobile, Hori was on hand to present four collections of three by previous collaborators (Yabu Pushelberg, Space Copenhagen, and Neil&Nu Design and Research Office), and one that has been newly expanded by multi-disciplinary practice

Hori says the brand has a distinctly Asian aesthetic, but it could be argued it's primarily influenced by Shanghai's cosmopolitan buzz. Says Azaki: "This city is an incubator of people who were educated abroad and are bringing these amazing and diverse talents. A distinct aesthetic grows out of that condition."

The company now sells in 35 countries, and revenue last year reached US$20 million. While Europe and North America have caught on to the brand, it is also gaining recognition among Chinese audiences, who are beginning to wean themselves from their predilection for copies. Hori is now looking to expand. A collaboration last year with New York designer David Rockwell resulted in the acquisition of a bicycle factory next door to Hori's first location; the new building is being used to fabricate this bent metal frame that is the hallmark of Rockwell's Valet collection.

"I think there is a reason we think of China as only mass-produced goods," says Barry Richards, a principal at the Rockwell Group, which worked on the project. "It's because that is all we asked for in the past." But now people are starting to ask for something else, and this Shanghai brand is providing it in abundance.

Out Now: The Products Issue

Radical changes are being made within the product design world. Our May issue spotlights 10 makers and manufacturers who are leading the revolution. Plus, Alberto Meda's son Francesco carves his own path, what we saw and loved at Toronto Design Week and IMM Cologne, and more.

2/10

From Yves Béhar's sensor-embedded clothing that combats age-related muscle atrophy and Othr's made-by-order 3-D-printed accessories to clocks that elicit an emotional response, the product design world is experiencing a revolution. The May 2017 issue of Azure – on newsstands now – focuses on 10 makers and manufacturers who are leading the charge.

Also in this issue, we visit the Eindhoven studio of Raw Color, the design firm who has successfully fused the worlds of graphic design, product design and brand identity; while in Shanghai, furniture manufacturer Stellar Works is raising the bar for mass production. In Milan, Francesco Meda – son of Alberto – talks about carving his own path while collaborating with his father.

Plus: What we saw and loved at Toronto Design Week and IMM Cologne; Patricia Urquiola on the power of relationships; a trade school aiming to increase the enrolment of women and other under-represented groups through well-considered architecture; and are flat-pack refugee shelters the answer for protecting the most vulnerable?

Slow Collection by Space Copenhagen for Stellar Works

Launched at this year's Salone del Mobile 2017 in Milan, Danish design duo Space Copenhagen have created the new Slow Collection for Stellar Works. Inspired by the chair they designed for Restaurant 108 in Copenhagen (below), the Slow Collection is a range of upholstered wooden furniture that explores the beauty of the silhouette.

The collection comprises a lounge chair, dining chair, side chair, dining table and a coffee table, crafted from walnut and ash with leather seats for the chairs. Referencing mid-century Danish design and Japanese aesthetics, the simple pieces feature elegant, beautifully crafted, narrow legs.

Space Copenhagen say: 'We often use the term 'slow aesthetic' to describe the intention of our work. One of the aims for this collection has been to design a series of organic-shaped, sculptural and long-lasting furniture. Curious about the future – still embraces the qualities of refined detailing, comfort and craftsmanship. The collection also celebrates the feel of slow pace – of leaning back, hanging out and enjoying life.'

Giovane, nomade e hi-tech, il Fuorisalone al Tortona District

Guida agli oltre 180 eventi nella zona di Porta Genova. E i nostri suggerimenti su cosa non perdere assolutamente

Ci siamo. Anche la Tortona design week è pronta a partire. In una Milano che parla di design – e fa design – tutto l'anno, il circuito diretto a due passi da Porta Genova si appresta a spalancare le porte dei suoi oltre 180 eventi, in una zona dove da tempo si incontrano moda, cultura e sperimentazione a ogni livello.

E proprio in Porta Genova, di fianco alla passerella Bikè presso il Parco Corsa, che sarà allestita una grande mostra aperta alla città in cui saranno esposti "5 scenari" per Milano, realizzati dai cinque studi di architettura che hanno partecipato al workshop dello scorso dicembre sul futuro degli scali ferroviari cittadini. Dal 4 al 9 aprile, ogni sera – fatta eccezione per il 6, giorno del dibattito sulla proposta – sarà presentato un progetto diverso. Continuando a percorrere via Tortona, potrete immergervi nel cuore del district, incontrando uno dopo l'altro gli spazi che da sempre caratterizzano quest'area. Al numero 27, Superstudiopiù, gigante del Fuorisalone, si fa portavoce di colore, energia e sperimentazione. Sono questi i cardini del Superdesign Show, che dal 2000 ospita i nomi di importanti brand e designer. Sarete accolti da un'installazione di Patricia Urquiola per 3M in polivete appreziare industrial design, art design, artigianato d'autore, tecnologia a tutti i livelli e in ogni campo, dal tessile, alla decorazione, passando da una contaminazione con la tradizione artistica.

Con Discovering_peopleNstories conosceremo le novità tra artigiani, autori, creativi giovani ed indipendenti, selezionati in tutto il mondo, mentre Selected Objects stringerà l'occhio alle piccole e medie aziende. Tra le novità di quest'anno, da segnalare anche la presentazione da parte di AGC Asahi Glass, azienda giapponese produttrice di vetri altamente tecnologici, del progetto sensoriale Touch che mette in mostra la percezione tattile del vetro. Tutte le opere in vetro presentate nell'installazione sono sensibili al tatto, consentendo così allo spettatore di farle oscillare, suonarle come strumenti musicali e colorarle.

Piazza Tortona, di molti eventi ed espositori è l'Opificio 31, in via Tortona 31. Qui vedrete brillare Stellar Works, brand di design nato in Asia, con l'installazione House Within A House che riproduce l'interno di un'abitazione nella quale sono collocate le nuove collezioni di arredo di Rem&Hu, direttori creativi del marchio. Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg e Cràime, che fanno del dialogo tra Oriente e Occidente il cappotto della loro produzione. Accanto a Stellar Works, troverete il design nordico di Veedra, azienda norvegese produttrice di complementi d'arredo per pareti ed spazi pubblici all'aperto, che ha ideato Nordic life in urban spaces, dove l'arredo urbano rinascerà in chiave ecologica e creativa.

Fate poi un salto nei popup store "O &SOIL, lasciandovi affascinare dalla semplicità con cui gli oggetti che ci circondano possono essere trasformati in design, prima di farvi travolgere dall'esposizione del Design Collective, dove le aziende Dressup, Ecoplen, ExtraVerso, Dekora Design, Chendù, Ama e MateeSplash mostreranno le tendenze della piccola impresa dedicata al design con artigianato made in Italy, progetti accessibili ai nuovi startup.

Gli appassionati di moda potranno vedere le proposte della galleria collettiva Coontemporarymood, tra progetti individuali, installazioni e talk sui temi di architettura e design. La maggior parte degli articoli esposti potranno essere acquistati. Già il 3 aprile – sempre in via Tortona 31 – verrà svelato il nuovo setting dello spazio di Archiproducts Milano, la piattaforma di aggregazione per architetti, brand e designer che proporrà oltre 2000 nuovi prodotti e 40 partners, sempre in un'ottica di condivisione e contaminazione. Arriviamo in città le due nuove vetrine di via Tortona con cui Archiproducts Shop non è più solo piattaforma online, ma design a portata di mano. Potrete visitare il nuovo spazio e contemporaneamente vivere la Design Experience, dove i grandi protagonisti della cultura nazionale e internazionale si confronteranno sulla pratica del disegno.

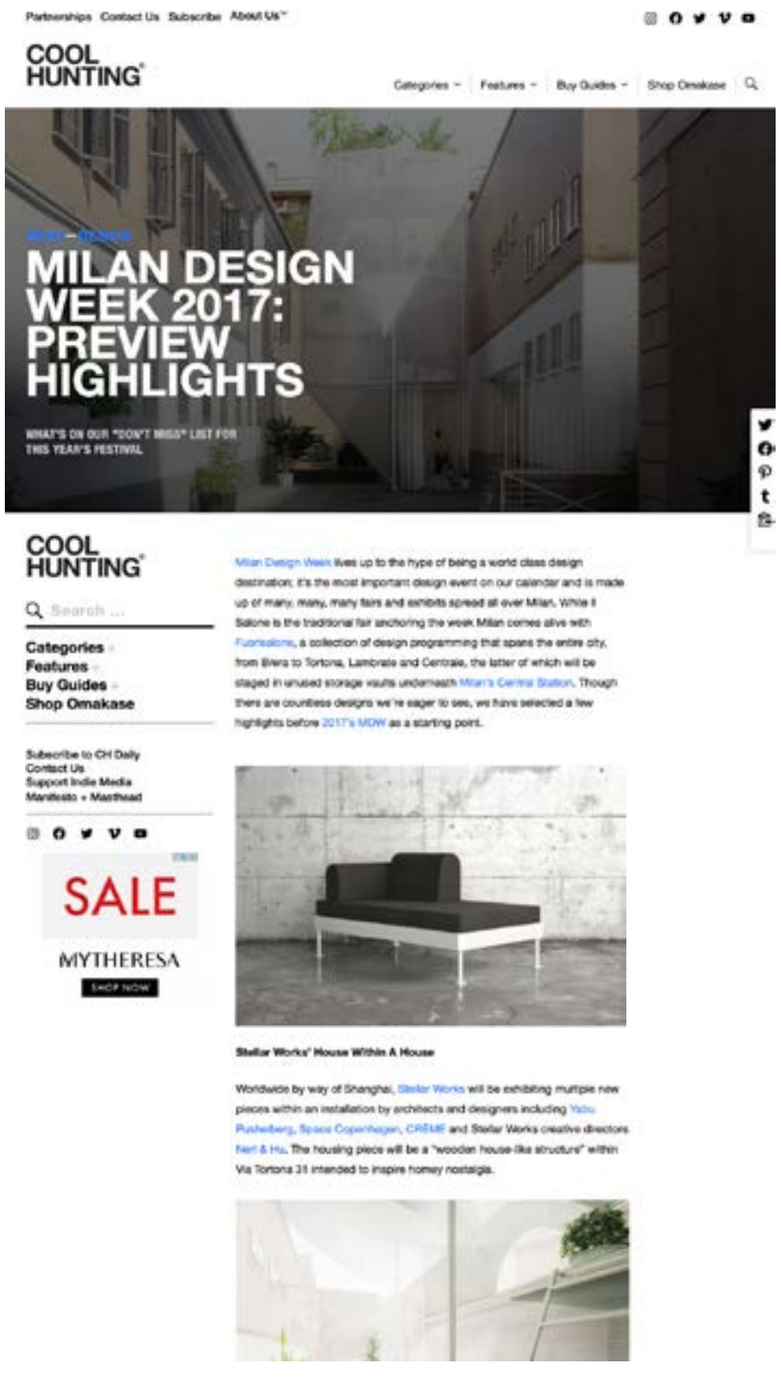

Sempre in via Tortona, al numero 33, l'installazione Milano Next sarà interamente dedicata alla città. Attesta da Domus, è l'occasione della guida Domus Urban Stories Milan e dà spazio a testimonianze dei mondo della cultura, dell'architettura e del design, tra cui quelle di David Chipperfield, Hiaeto Fukasawa e Jacquen Herzog.

Protagonista del progetto Mini Living, presso la Tornerie e Carrozzeria in via Tortona 32, è un'idea/pia sostenibile ed ecologica, con proposte innovative, diverse rispetto a uno stile di vita convenzionale, che mostrano come l'architettura possa essere la risposta creativa alle sfide che si presenteranno in futuro. E' in virtù di questo spirito che lo studio newyorkese Se-A realizza un'installazione che propone un nuovo – e più etico – modo di vivere, improntato all'utilizzo delle risorse in modo eco-friendly.

Altro crocevia di esperienze è lo spazio BASE Milano, in via Bergognone 34. Ad accogliere i visitatori, The Hello Bench, una panchina speciale, dove si accorciano le distanze tra persone, dando la possibilità di creare una connessione. E' la nuova visione di un oggetto che per antonomasia divide e crea differenza, unisce nuove che mira a sconfiggere l'indifferenza che aggiunge di noi si trova a vivere ogni giorno. Sempre a BASE si potrà partecipare a Manifattura a.s. The challenge for the future of Italian companies, laboratori convegni incontri BaSi mostreranno come le imprese italiane affrontano la sfida dell'industria 4.0, tra nuova manifattura e innovazione. Ci sono anche il progetto di Moleskine dedicato alla relazione tra due oggetti nomadi per antonomasia, zaino e taccuino, e l'installazione immersiva e interattiva di Samsung commissionata allo studio Zaha Hadid Architects e all'acclamato collettivo di arte e design digitale Universal:Everything.

Fiona Sinclair Scott, CNN

"If you were to ask a person in their thirties 20 years ago which luxury brands they're into, you'd get a very different response to what you might expect from a 30-year-old today," said Stefan Holwe.

The CEO and co-founder of Horizn Studios -- a new Berlin-based brand of luggage and travel accessories -- was speaking ahead of Milan's international design week, an event that has been described as design's Super Bowl.

Their latest collection blends mid-century Danish and classic Japanese design values, keeping decoration to a minimum to enhance the focus on detail and shape. The collection was crafted from oak, walnut and ash.

Crème creates indigo-dyed wooden furniture for Stellar Works

Eleanor Gibson | 30 May 2017 | 1 comment

Brooklyn-based studio Crème employed traditional Chinese dying techniques to create these indigo-coloured wooden chairs for Stellar Works.

The Special Edition Indigo Exchange chairs are coloured using dye from Guizhou village in southern China

To celebrate the launch of its Exchange Collection for Chinese brand Stellar Works at this year's ICFF, Crème created limited-edition versions of the range's chair in distinctive blue hues.

10 trends from Milan design week that nobody is talking about

Marcus Fairs | 21 April 2017 | 18 comments

Are marble and brass still the hot materials? Has millennial pink been usurped by emerald green? Does anyone actually care? Dezeen editor-in-chief Marcus Fairs offers a guide to the bigger Milan trends that seem to have slipped under the radar.

Now the dust has settled on the fair for another year, some of the most striking observations from the world's biggest and most important design gathering relate to what wasn't there, rather than what was. With key brands absent, politics off the agenda and China barely mentioned, the week offers a somewhat outmoded view of what design means today.

However most fairgoers seemed blissfully unconcerned by this, mindlessly instagramming everything in sight and calling out ever-shallower trends based on the flimsiest of evidence. So here is our alternative guide to what was really happening (and not happening) in Milan this year...

Chinese visitors were everywhere

There was a marked increase in Chinese visitors this year, with tour groups visiting shows around the city particularly noticeable. Chinese cities are investing heavily in their creative industries and sending delegations to Milan to get ideas, while homegrown media brands are sending journalists. This marks a huge potential change in Milan's demographic and reach, and perhaps signals the start of China's long anticipated emergence as a key player in the design world.

On top of this professional interest, cultural tourism is a growth industry in China. This year, Milan design week happened to coincide with the vast Vinitaly wine fair in Verona – the world's largest celebration of wine – meaning many tour groups stopped off in Milan on the way. Design was merely the appetiser.

The design world acts like China doesn't exist

On the other hand, where was China itself? Wandering the streets of Milan or the halls of the Salone del Mobile, the world's most populous nation and its largest manufacturing economy might as well not exist. Stellar Works was the only Chinese brand we saw, Neri & Hu flew the flag for Chinese design, winning Elle Deco's Designer of the Year award, but otherwise China was the elephant in the room. Space Curvet's HQB Lamps installation at Palazzo Clerici (pictured), which featured LED lights bought at the Huaqiangbei electronic market in Shenzhen, was about the only show that acknowledged the importance of China in global supply chains.

Kids stole the show last year with its exhibition The Station of Milano, but was noticeably absent this year

Key brands stayed home

There were plenty of big consumer brands showing in Milan again this year, including LG, Lavazza, Samsung, Audi, Pepsi and Panasonic. But most of these are older, established brands rather than the ones that are changing the world right now. Where were Google, Apple, Facebook, Uber and Tesla? Where for that

Stellar Works, puente de diseño entre Oriente y Occidente

14 julio, 2017

La firma cuenta para su colección 2017 con diseños de diversos estudios, como Neri&Hu.

Stellar Works es una empresa de ascendencia asiática que desde 2013 propone colecciones sostenibles, de nueva factura, inspiradas en estilos tradicionales de todo el mundo pero con preferencia por lo nipón. Los muebles de la compañía visten interiores como los del restaurante Noma de Copenhague, el Baccarat Hotel de Nueva York y el Banyan Tree de Yanshuo, o las boutiques de Gucci en la región Asia-Pacífico.

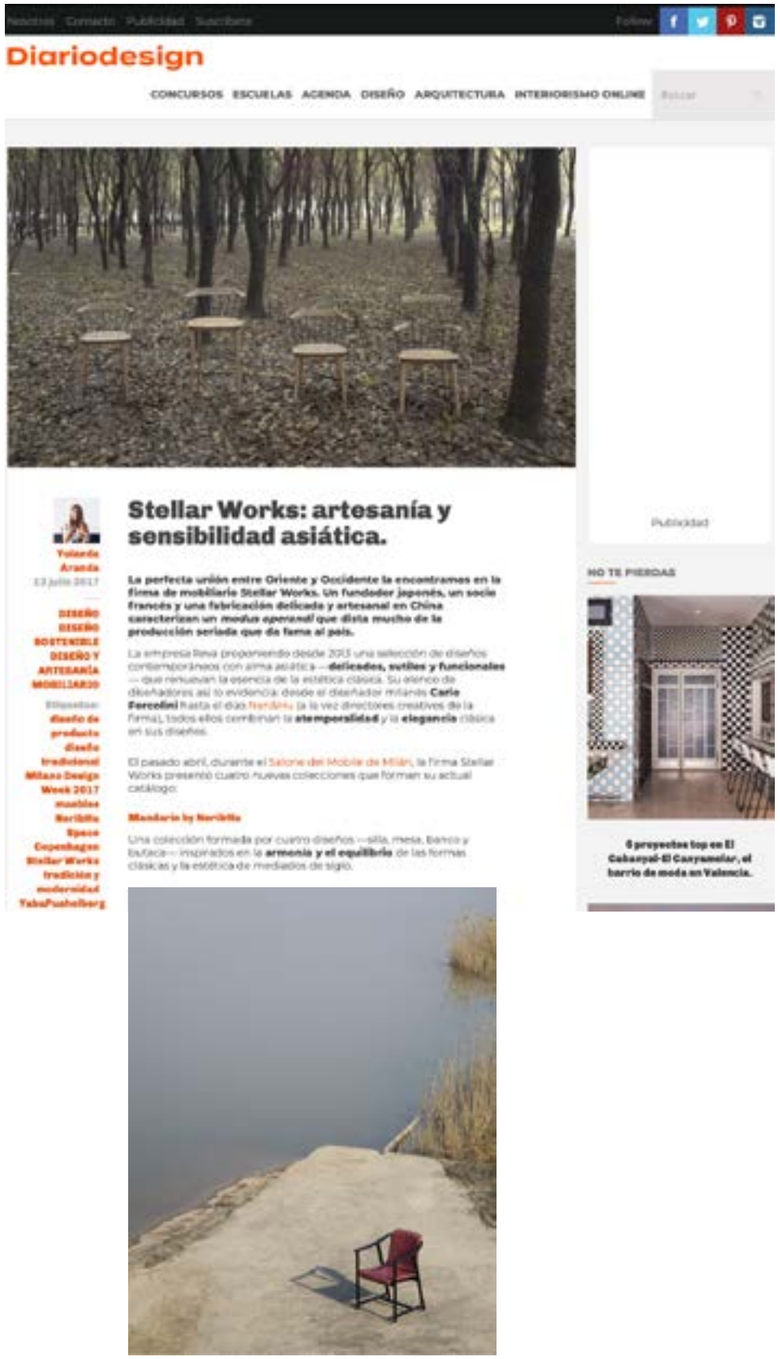

Colección Mandarín, por Neri&Hu

La colección encuentra la inspiración en la armonía y el equilibrio que hay entre la forma clásica y la estética de mediados de siglo. Neri&Hu han traducido estas cualidades en el diseño de una mesa y sillas siguiendo las tipologías de diseño de templos asiáticos: la esfera que simboliza el Templo del Cielo frente a la forma cuadrada representada por el Templo de la Tierra.

La perfecta unión entre Oriente y Occidente la encontramos en la firma de mobiliario Stellar Works. Un fundador japonés, un socio francés y una fabricación delicada y artesanal en China caracterizan un modus operandi que dista mucho de la producción seriada que da fama al país.

La empresa lleva proponiendo desde 2013 una selección de diseños contemporáneos con alma asiática —delicados, sutiles y funcionales — que renuevan la esencia de la estética clásica. Su elenco de diseñadores así lo evidencia: desde el diseñador milanés Carlo Forcolini hasta el dúo Neri&Hu (a la vez directores creativos de la firma), todos ellos combinan la atemporalidad y la elegancia clásica en sus diseños.

El pasado abril, durante el Salone del Mobile de Milán, la firma Stellar Works presentó cuatro nuevas colecciones que forman su actual catálogo:

Mandarin by Neriéhu

Una colección formada por cuatro diseños —silla, mesa, banco y taburete— inspirados en la armonía y el equilibrio de las formas clásicas y la estética de mediados de siglo.

LONDON DESIGN FESTIVAL, 5 DRITTE PER NON DIRE "ME LO SONO PERSO!"

Mostre e installazioni imperdibili per chi si trova in città durante i giorni della kermesse, per non perdersi tra le centinaia di appuntamenti in programma

QUATTRO INSTALLAZIONI E UNA MOSTRA AL DESIGN MUSEUM

Foto by Luke Hayes

4 buoni motivi per visitare il Design Museum la cui nuova sede, inaugurata lo scorso 26 novembre, celebra il suo primo London Design Festival. Ad aprire le porte del Festival e celebrare la partnership di Design Museum e British Land, sarà una speciale ed eclettica installazione di tavolini, plinti, sedute, panche e un bar temporaneo realizzati dall'artista Camille Walala in collaborazione con Christopher Spitery e Kirsteen Martin di Studio Design UK. Per gli amanti dei marmi e delle pietre è caldamente consigliata l'esposizione Set in Stone,, selezione di opere d'autore realizzate dal Pritzker Prize Eduardo Souto de Moura, da Elemental (Alejandro Aravena), da Jasper Morrison, da Jorge Silva, da Michael Anastassiades, da Paulo Duvid, da Peter Saville e Sagmeister & Walsh, da Miguel Vieira Baptista. Installati sia all'interno che all'esterno del museo, i lavori dei 9 designer in mostra, piccoli monumenti che spaziano dall'utilità pubblica all'uso domestico, rappresentano un'indagine sull'unicità e sulla qualità dei materiali naturali impiegati e sulle ultime tecnologie disponibili. Poi c'è Reductionism, installazione realizzata dal team di Land Rover che mostra al pubblico il processo di progettazione di una nuova vettura in cui l'automobile è rappresentata nella sua forma purista, ridotta a forme e linee elementari (quelle necessarie) non inquinate da elementi estranei. L'azienda cinese Stellar Works incuriosirà il pubblico con A Cultural Iconography, un'installazione ideata dal duo Neri&Hu, direttori creativi del brand, composta da campioni di materiali, utensili, sedie, che evocano l'associazione tra vecchio e nuovo, Oriente e Occidente, e mostrano come la tecnica dell'invecchiamento possa trasformarsi in un processo di produzione contemporaneo e culturale. Il mondo delle ceramiche sarà invece esplorato dal brand svizzero Laufen, azienda leader nel settore bathroom che al design Museum si presenta con A Curated Art Show. What? La mostra mette in scena il lavoro di 12 designer internazionali invitati con un open brief a riflettere sulle potenzialità della ceramica. Dall'astratto al figurativo, dalla fabbricazione artigianale alla fabbricazione digitale, i 17 pezzi in esposizione coinvolgeranno il mondo dell'arte, della scultura e del design. Least but not last c'è Breathing Colour, la coloratissima mostra inserita nel palinsesto ufficiale del museo che esplora il mondo delle texture e del colore realizzata dalla designer olandese Hella Jongerius. La caleidoscopica installazione mostra 15 anni di ricerche sul colore e i suoi comportamenti attraverso collezioni e commissioni che esplorano gli effetti della luce sulla nostra percezione di colore e forma. Martedì 19 settembre, dalle 18.15 alle 19.30, è previsto un talk.

The second edition of Tortona Rocks is about to start with a full programme of events, with research projects and internationality, arranged by Milano Space Makers ready to animate the design week in the Tortona area. Here are the highlights of the programme, real must-sees of the design week for a totalizing visual experience of interior design and the decorative arts, future scenarios and distant cultures.

At Via Tortona 58, Corian® Design Surface and Cabana Magazine present the exhibition 'CORIAN® CABANA CLUB', a multi-cultural, emotional journey into the world of maximalism. A group of world personalities in the fields of fashion, interior design and the decorative arts, with the art direction of Cabana through the creative director Christop Radl and the editor-in-chief Martina Mondadori Sarnago, will create a series of fascinating settings drawing inspiration from the evocative, emotional world of Cabana, using Corian® and blending it into their vision, taste and style. The seven settings of the 'Corian® Cabana Club' will be created by Cabana Magazine and Corian® Design Surface in co-operation with Antonio Marras, Ashley Hicks, Carolina Irving, Marica Gazzoni, Nathalie Farman-Farma, Stephan Janson and Susanne Thon.

The project MINI LIVING, at Via Tortona 31, speaks of a more sustainable and ecologic lifestyle, and will stun visitors with an innovative proposal that questions conventional lifestyle to show how architecture can be the response creative to face future challenges, like smaller and smaller spaces and limited resources in urban areas. Created in co-operation with the New York architectural firm SO-IL, MINI present the installation MINI LIVING - 'Breathe', a visionary concept based on the idea of a more aware and sustainable lifestyle, with the suggestion of alternative solutions to improve life in the city. A space for three people, 5 m wide and 10 m high, will show a new idea of home meaning an active ecosystem where the resources are used intelligently in an eco-friendly way.

'Rising' Contemporary Design Exhibition, at Via Nirti 3, is a highly sophisticated Chinese collective that investigates the use of traditional materials like paper, silk, bamboo, clay and copper. The exhibition is a paradigm of far eastern creativity which unites the roots of craftsman tradition and expressions of contemporary design, summarising research lasting 3 years which catalogued more than 2000 types of materials, more than 30 villages visited in the search for traditions and artisan skills and invited 20 designers from different fields. There will be 70 items on display which summarise the essence of Chinese aesthetics.

Stellar Works, the first global design brand founded in Asia, returns to Opificio 31, at Via Tortona 31, with the installation House Within a House to present the new furnishing collections including new pieces created by Neri&Hu, creative directors of the brand, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg and Crème, in addition to the first ceramic collection, Arita Ceramics, designed by Neri&Hu. The installation reproduces the interior of a house with different rooms with the furnishings in an atmosphere where everything contributes to emphasising the dialogue between Orient and Occident, a characteristic feature of the brand where styles of Japanese culture meet with Chinese craftsmanship mixing all with an international aesthetic of western taste.

There will also be the experience of Nordic design in the Opificio with Vestre, a historic Norwegian company leader in the production of furnishings and accessories for cities, parks and public open spaces, which presents Nordic Life in Urban Spaces, an installation that opens the doors to a culture still limited to northern Europe - shared design and sociability, urban sharing and collective spaces. Vestre offers an innovative view of urban furnishing for an ecologic, creative rebirth of contemporary cities.

Project: The Katharine, Winston-Salem, North Carolina
Housed within the former R.J. Reynolds Building, the Katharine brasserie (named for Reynolds' wife) breathes new life into the former tobacco company's headquarters recently transformed into Kimpton's Cardinal Hotel. Brooklyn, New York–based Crème looked to "design a restaurant that acts as the hotel's soul," says founder Jun Aizaki, who drew inspiration from traditional French cafés mixed with southern flair to match its Winston-Salem location. Natural elements blend with an Art Deco style highlighted through tobacco motifs and mosaic tiles, while the neutral color palette is illuminated by a variety of lighting, including the pendants hanging above the bar that resemble croissants, says Aizaki.

Product: Indigo Exchange Chair for Stellar Works
Dipped in a rich blue dye, the Indigo chair for Stellar Works is a new take on the studio's versatile Exchange chair. Hong Kong's Fabrik Lab worked alongside Aizaki on perfecting the chair's shade through experimentation with staining. At "the core of our aesthetic and designs are things that age, and materials that last the test of time and get better," notes Aizaki. Indigo "extends the use of traditional methods that are somewhat being lost and instead [creates] different uses for it."

Stellar Works' East-West Dialogue

Shanghai-based Stellar Works sees itself as the first global furniture design brand from Asia, and has been building its presence steadily since its founding in 2012. In Milan this year, the brand presented a major installation in the Tortona district.

Stellar Works' Tortona installation was designed by the brand's Creative Director Neri&Hu, and contained new products by Neri&Hu, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg and Crème along with Steller Works' first objects collection – a selection of Arita ceramics designed by Neri&Hu.

The new products were exhibited in a 'space within a space' – a nostalgic wooden house-like structure within an existing building. A walkway wrapped around the structure offering viewpoints of the collection through carefully placed apertures. The aim was to create the scenography of an East-West cultural dialogue through the choreography of materials, space, light and colours.

Neri&Hu's new Mandarin Collection – chairs, a bench and a large 2,400 x 900mm dining table – emphasises a balance between classical Asian furniture forms and mid-century aesthetics. Says Lyndon Neri, "We have looked at typologies of classic furniture designs and have translated these into the design of a table and chairs following Asian design typologies: the sphere which symbolises the temple of Heaven versus the square form represented by the temple of Earth." The chairs and bench epitomise the mix with their upholstered fiberglass seats.

The Arita Collection of ceramics blurs the typologies of plates and bowls, thereby extending the functional possibilities of each item. The vessels in the collection are also non-specific in function. The collection was produced in Arita, Japan using 400-year-old techniques.

Brooklyn-based design studio Crème (directed by Jun Aizaki) created the Exchange Collection – an extension to the wood and steel Exchange Chair of 2016. The chair was inspired by the traditional Windsor form, with steel replacing the typical wooden spindles. The new collection comprises a dining chair, lounge chair with cushion, high-back chair, two seater, Bar chairs and dining table.

Danish designers Space Copenhagen created the Stow Collection of upholstered wooden furniture, drawing inspiration from a chair they designed for restaurant 108 in Copenhagen. Say the designers, "We

Tortona Design Week: appuntamenti e highlight

Dopo aver accolto, nell'edizione 2016, 150.000 visitatori e oltre 200 eventi – Tortona Design Week si conferma anche quest'anno uno dei poli più attivi in città nel contesto del Fuorisalone, in scena dal 4 al 9 aprile a Milano.

Tante le novità di prodotto, i progetti e le aziende presenti, provenienti da tutto il mondo per indagare i nuovi paradigmi del design contemporaneo, sempre più interconnesso e flessibile.

A un anno dalla sua apertura BASE Milano si farà portavoce del tema "design nomade" grazie all'omonima mostra che raccoglie differenti interpretazioni di designer internazionali, da Ibaca, la casa portatile di Elena Bompani fino a WaterBed l'abitazione sull'acqua di Daniel Durin, passando per le sperimentazioni di HOMI Smart, con un focus dedicato al crossover tra design e nuove tecnologie.

Gli spazi dell'ex Ansaldo ospiteranno anche l'evento "Manifattura 4.0. The challenge for the future of the Italian companies" che presenta due progetti speciali "Green Smart Living" e "rOBOTRIP | open tools for art and design". Protagonista sarà poi l'installazione immersiva e interattiva di Samsung commissionata allo studio Zaha Hadid Architects e al collettivo di arte e design digitale Universal Everything per celebrare il nuovo design Galaxy.

Nel palinsesto degli eventi di Milano Space Makers, il progetto MINI LIVING - "Breathe", mostrerà come l'architettura possa offrire soluzioni creative per un vivere più consapevole ed eco-friendly. "CORIAN® CABANA CLUB", il progetto realizzato da Corian® Design Surface e Cabana Magazine, un viaggio multiculturale nel mondo del massimalismo e "Rõng" Contemporary Design Exhibition, una collettiva cinese che indaga l'utilizzo dei materiali tradizionali come carta, seta, bamboo, argilla e rame.

Stellar Works, primo brand globale di design nato in Asia, presenterà l'installazione House Within a House dove saranno esposte le nuove collezioni di arredo a firma di Neri&Hu, direttori creativi del marchio, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg e Crème. Vestre, storica azienda norvegese, proporrà un'esposizione dedicata all'urban design offrendo così una visione innovativa dell'arredo urbano per una rinascita in chiave ecologica e creativa delle città contemporanee.

GALLERY

#SUPERDESIGN SHOW di Superstudio si tinge poi di colore con il tema scelto per il 2017 "TIME to COLOR" e propone installazioni come quella di Tokujin Yoshioka per LG, gli incredibili vetri di AGC Asahi Glass in collaborazione con Jin Kuramoto e il pluripremiato studio londinese Raw Edges. E ancora, il padiglione con il meglio del design emergente polacco a cura di Dorota Koziara, il progetto di PepsiCo con Mathieu Lehanneur, Luca Nichetto, Fabio Novembre, lo chef Davide Oldani, Studio Job, Patricia Urquiola, tra gli altri.

Con Materials Village sarà inoltre dato spazio al meglio dell'innovazione dei materiali a cura di Material ConneXion con un'installazione di Studio Patricia Urquiola per 3M.

RESIDENCE BEZOCHT MILAAN DESIGN WEEK

Nieuws en trends uit de interieur- en designwereld

Milaan Design Week en Salone del Mobile. Hier komt de internationale designwereld elk jaar in april steevast samen om hun allernieuwste collecties te tonen aan pers, publiek en de designexperts. Dit jaar vond de Design Week samen van 4 tot en met 9 april. Wat waren de highlights?

Om bezoekers op weg te helpen in de overdaad aan activiteiten, verzamelde Residence de favoriete adressen van designexperts en de mooiste events van designmerken op de Residence Milaan City Guide, een kaart te verkrijgen bij het Nederlandse event Masterly. Vorig jaar was dit evenement een van de hoogtepunten, waar curator Nicole Uniquoie nieuw en gevestigd talent van eigen bodem met een oog voor ambacht en vakmanschap, samenbracht. Ook dit jaar stelde Masterly niet teleur en grepen ook gevestigde Nederlandse merken zoals Leolux (sinds dit jaar verbonden aan Edward van Vliet) en Gelderland het evenement aan om hun merk aan een nieuw publiek te tonen. Gelderland koos hiervoor een samenwerking met Scholten & Baijings.

Deze vorm van houtbewerking en Japanse feel die daarmee verbonden is, was ook bij het Frans-Japanse Stellar Works terug te zien. Het merk omarmt zijn Aziatische heritage en tilt dat naar een internationaal niveau door lokaal vakmanschap met industrialisatie te combineren. Neri & Hu, een ontwerpduo dat we meermaals tegenkwamen op de beurs, draagt de rol van art director voor dit merk en ontwierpen voor deze presentatie een nieuwe tafelset, waar traditionele Chinese rondingen clean en minimalistisch worden verwerkt. Ook Space Copenhagen en Yabu Pushelberg ontwierpen meubels voor dit merk waarbij de Aziatische heritage modern en hedendaags wordt gemaakt.

Designers blend emotions with creativity to create design magic

Designs that really capture people's interest make you think about things in a different way

This image shows the "Escape" bench. At the 2017 Salone del Mobile in Milan, there was a focus on soft, organic forms with natural curves, such as the silica, hand-dyed sand and powdered glass furniture from Fernando Mastrangelo.

"It is all about emotions, even if it is just about things in your everyday life. Design that really captures people's interest usually just makes you think about things in a different way," says Japanese designer Oki Sato.

It was a prescient observation during the Salone del Mobile, which celebrated its 56th anniversary in April with more exhibitions, installations and events at the Rho fairgrounds and across Milan's many palaces, boutiques and museums than any one person could possibly see.

Leather interiors: from sofas and stools to murals for the wall

From stylish seating to luxe lamps, leather's good looks only improve with age

Habitat does a lovely line in modern leather couches, including this overscale modular design, called Opollo, in Mid Tan Carson City leather. The large right-arm chaise sofa group is made in Italy and is also available in light brown and black leather. £5,400; habitat.co.uk

Top tip for stress-free domesticity is to surround ourselves with materials that improve with age. And at the head of the list of surfaces that look better weathered is leather. It's a practical and tactile material: the only downside is that it often comes wrapped around a shiny budget couch or reproduction library chair. Happily, designers are giving the material a fresh look.

The leather to lust after has traditionally been Italian-made and pricy. Poltrona Frau, the handmade furniture firm that creates upholstery for Ferrari, Alfa Romeo and Maserati, was founded in 1912. While proud of its heritage, it has placed itself at the forefront of contemporary leather designs, launching the Ren collection, by Neri & Hu, in 2016, and this year reimagining its Chester

Modern Heroes: George Yabu and Glenn Pushelberg

BY STEPHEN BRADLEY

Today's modern heroes are George Yabu and Glenn Pushelberg who lead one of the most highly regarded design firms in the world. Their work ranges across the commercial space (hotels, restaurants, retail and hospitality) to high-end homes and beautiful furniture. We caught up with them at the launch of their latest collections to learn about their process of creation and collaboration.

IDEALIST: How did you guys start working together?

George: Actually we met in school... in nursery school! We went to this four-year programme in Toronto and that's where we met. Then a couple years later after we graduated we ran into each other on the street in New York. I hadn't seen Glenn in years and that same day running into him we were both looking for studio space. Every place I saw, the rent was too expensive or it was too big, so we ended up sharing the space, but we both had our own ambitions.

Glenn: And then we started working on each other's projects.

George: We started helping each other with deadlines and then we thought, well who's going to pay for that coffee and the cream in the fridge? I think sometimes when you don't plan things they set up a synergy of their own... so that's what happened.

IDEALIST: What are you showing today?

George: We're showing this, which is the Blink Collection with Stellar Works and we're showing a desk and vanity for Glass Italia.

London's Design Fair: The Top 10 Pieces We're Obsessed With

We went, we saw, we coveted: From seductive chairs to sleek coffee grinders, here are 10 buzzy finds from the 2017 London Design Festival

By Sarah Medford
Sept. 28, 2017 4:13 pm ET

The British capital provided an uncharacteristically sunny backdrop for last week's 15th annual London Design Festival, the citywide event highlighting handsome innovations and fresh-to-market ideas. Stealing the foreground this year was an unusually strong cast of global creators who infiltrated the U.K. talent show in myriad, unmissable ways. Shanghai-based Stellar Works dyed its beechwood chairs with indigo; Almira Sadar put Slovenian crochet needles to work on extra-nubbly baskets and throws; and Provençal Cecile Daladier scarred the surfaces of her flower pots with dried herbs—harvested just outside her studio door—to create ghostly, otherworldly works of art. In all, the offerings felt more like joyous passion projects than commercial endeavors. Here, our nods for best in show.

Frond Ambition

Echoes of the ancient

A husband-and-wife design team are at the vanguard of a fresh Asian aesthetic.

Lyndon Neri and Hannana Hu never planned to become the standard bearers of a new era in Chinese design. Children of the diaspora, he was born in the Philippines, she in Taiwan. They met while studying architecture at the University of California Berkeley. He completed his masters degree at Harvard, she at Princeton. "I chose architecture," she says, "because it uses both sides of the brain."

After marrying, they joined Michaell Graves Architecture & Design in New York, intent on North American careers. But in the early 2000s, when Graves won the contract to revive Shanghai's historic Three on the Bund, he appointed Neri as project lead. Neri, Hu and their young family moved to China's fastest city – population 24.15 million – for an intended six-week stay.

"The idea was to stay temporarily to see the project through," Neri says. "But then SARS hit and we were stuck. Six weeks became three months, three months became six months, six months turned into a year. During our wait to return to the States we began to realise there was an incredible energy, a new sense of opportunity arising in China." Neri and Hu launched Neri & Hu Design and Research Office in 2004, an interdisciplinary practice with scope across architecture, master planning, interiors and product design.

Combining the streamlined allure of the Bauhaus with the quiet exuberance of Ming, as architects they create buildings of a stern beauty, often enlivened by precious detailing. Their Tanggu Yangzhou Retreat hotel in the Hanxiang district, opened in February, lies low to the ground like a grey brick basilisk. A series of interior courtyards and reflecting ponds echoes the logic of traditional alleyways, laneway homes. Its interiors are lined in rich timber and silky granite, highlighted by the glow of perforated brass. Windows punched into the brutal exterior soften the melancholic landscape inside.

As product designers, they devise furniture and lighting imbued with poetry and whimsy, underpinned by intellectual rigour. Originally, they sidestepped Chinese manufacturing ("all the copying, the high volume but low quality", says Neri) by working with brands in Portugal (De La Espada), Holland (Moooi) and Spain (BD Barcelona), creating products with names such as Molan, Container and Emperor – nods to their edgy East-meets-West aesthetic.

Then, in 2015, Neri and Hu were appointed creative directors of a new Chinese design brand, Atelier Works.

The brainchild of Japanese designer-turned-entrepreneur Kuehiro Mori in partnership with venerable French brand Laval, Atelier Works was launched in 2012 and operates from a factory outside of Shanghai. "The Japanese and French are known for their fine craftsmanship," says Hsu, "but it's no longer feasible to execute to such a high level inside Japan or France. The Chinese are renowned for their massive capacity, but divided for their disrespect for authenticity. I realised that by upskilling the local workforce we could raise standards and create a highly viable business."

He was right. Today Atelier Works exports to 25 countries and last year posted revenues of $US24 million. Hsu is counting on $US32 million turnover this fiscal year.

Neri & Hu's collections for the brand sit off Shanghai's particular history as the most cosmopolitan of mainland Chinese cities, the "Paris of the East" with its elegant French Concession, the glitzy neon skyscrapers of the Pudong district and the rugged industrial precincts across the Huangpu River.

There's the Band sofas, chairs and stools – the soft curves and lush padding of which reference the landmark art deco strip of riverside buildings that originally brought the designers to Shanghai. Their Ming chairs retain the classic 19th century basswood chair, criss-crossing the back rail to evoke the elegance of traditional Chinese decorative arts. The Utility chairs read as an ode to Shanghai's industrial past, the almost DIY allure of the metal frame linking timber and upholstery seats and backs. Like many of their designs, the Utility pieces are just quirky enough to make them feel slightly off-kilter, creating an intriguing tension that reflects the histories of the designers themselves.

As creative directors of Atelier Works, Neri and Hu also oversee the work of an eclectic line-up of external designers, including New York's David Rockwell, Toronto's Yabu Pushelberg and Sydney's Nic Graham. Their skill is in integrating disparate aesthetics and practices, layering them into a single brand to create a singular message. It's furniture that speaks to the complexity of China today and into the future. ●

我们谈论设计时通常只在意那些软性的东西，也就是创意和理念，但设计也不得不考虑制造工艺——因为设计最终需要通过某种介质来呈现。

文 | 姚芳沁

伦敦东部的Clerkenwell地区向来以聚集众多设计师工作室闻名。今年5月，这里迎来了一名新成员，这个名为Stellar Works的家具品牌来自中国上海，这是它在英国开设的首间showroom。

中国制造在一些人看来有些廉价、粗制滥造，对于定位高端的品牌来说，需要回避，Stellar Works反其道行之，大大方方地宣传自己Made in Shanghai，加获得了很高的认可。你或许不知道，全球主要奢华酒店的餐厅都有Stellar Works的产品，比如瑰吉酒店、爱马仕旗下的上下、全球最佳餐厅Noma；Google、微软和Dropbox这些技术巨头的总部办公室里，也有来自Stellar Works的家具。

虽然总部位于中国，Stellar Works的管理团队都是外国人，它的网站亦总全英文页。这家公司还获得了来自法国家具品牌Ligne Roset的投资。Stellar Works自称“中西合璧”：中式元素以中国手工制造来体现，他们从当地招募工人，提供手工制造的培训，设计交由全球知名设计师完成，既有来自中国的加德设计，还有丹麦的Space Copenhagen和美国的David Rockwell。

我们谈论设计时通常只在意那些软性的东西，也就是创意和理念，但其实设计也不得不考虑制造工艺——因为设计最终需要通过某种介质来呈现。

我在欧洲接触过不少设计师，他们对中国制造有很高评价，“工厂配备最先进的机器，员工勤奋，乐于创新，服务周到，有求必应”，这是中国制造最常被提及的优点。相反，他们会说欧洲人保守和懒惰，不愿接受新挑战，但凡遇到设计创意突破他们的舒适区，他们便不愿去尝试。两加上一些新店项目的交付期很短，我国的生产速度达不到要求。

时至今日，拿到一张贴明方原文利手工制造的手袋，人们可能还是会莫名产生一种高级感，但欧洲手工艺正在走向衰落——那些经验丰富的手工技师大都年事已高，年轻人也不愿从事这样的工作。

维系高质量的手工制造，中国是好的选择。“消费升级了，中国制造的定义也会发生变化。”美国知名建筑师和设计师David Rockwell曾在接受媒体采访时说。

这是Stellar Works看上中国制造的原因所在。创始人Yuchire Hori记得，1960到1970年代的日本，和今天的中国非常相似。当时日本主要生产廉价商品出口到美国，但随着消费升级的到来，那种商业模式无法继续，日本本国市场又小，走投无路之下，这些工厂被迫转型。

与当年日本不一样的地方是，中国本土市场足够大，足以支撑代工厂将精力转向外的产能向内转移。诺贝网最严选这样的平台整合了那些为西方高端品牌代工的中国工厂，为中国消费者提供具有设计感、质量又很好的产品就是一个例子。

这种平台的出现，回避涉及抄袭创意设计的知识产权问题。不过一些西方设计师和我说，这样的批评对一些中国工厂来说并不完全公平。很多中国工厂从实际参与了设计的研究，毕竟选择什么材料，这些材料在新的工艺技术下可以发挥哪些新的设计可能，这些不是设计师本人能完成的。在这种情况下，工厂方面其实也应该有产品部分知识产权。不过，这些工厂最大的问题，可能还是过于依赖机械化量产，利润空间只能靠特别多的数量来取小，这不是可持续的商业模式。

有一种新的趋势是，越来越多的西方设计师，用当代的设计理念重新包装中国传统手工艺产品，并把它们带到海外市场。在2017年的米兰设计周上，美国设计师Christopher Jenner带出了一系列由官兰堡砂锅窑制作的居用品并很快售罄。至今还不断有欧洲的设计关于店向他询问能否适营。

Möbelmesse Mailand

Die gute Nachricht zuerst: Über Geschmack braucht nicht mehr gestritten zu werden. Denn nie war die Vielfalt an Stilen und Stücken so groß wie in diesem Jahr

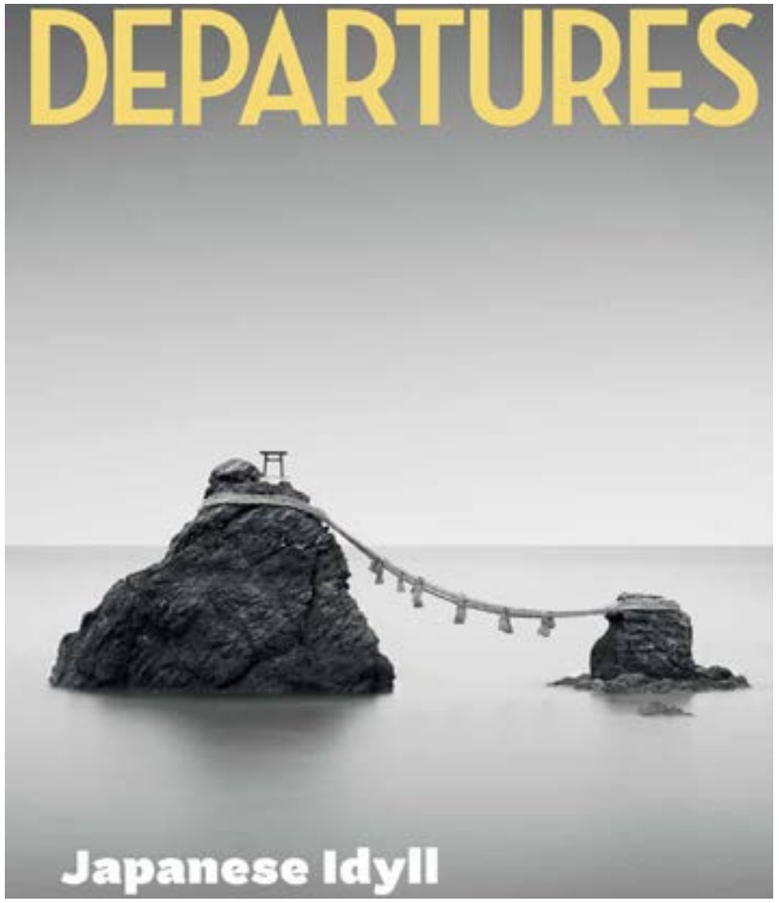

In jedem April gibt es diese eine Woche, in der die norditalienische Metropole zum Epizentrum des Designs avanciert: Mailänder Möbelmesse. Eine Stadt im ästhetischen Rausch. Auch wir haben uns ins Getümmel gestürzt und unser Fazit klingt durchweg verheißungsvoll: viel Spaß zu Hause! Stilistisch darf jeder nach seiner Fasson glücklich werden. Das Spektrum reicht von skandinavisch hygge (zum Glück vorbei die allzu puristischen Zeiten) über modern elegant bis klassisch pompös mit Retro-Twist. Möbel, Stoffe (viele Stoffe!), sogar Glas und eigentlich der ganze Raum erlauben sich einer gehörigen Portion Farbe. Rosatöne in Kombination mit Orange, Gelb und Rottönen oder dunkles Grün mit Türkis bestimmen die Palette. Jegliche Strenge scheint gewichen zu sein zugunsten von Komfort und überhaupt überwiegt der Wert von Qualität. Wie gesagt: viel Spaß!!

Succulents That Let It Snow

Debra Lee Baldwin, author of "Designing with Succulents," on new cold-hardy varieties that add color to your winter garden—just when you need it most

SEEING RED Sempervivum tectorum 'Sedlo,' left, a cultivar of hens-and-chicks, and Sedum adolphianum, right, turn from green to red in winter.

IF YOU GARDEN in a climate that endures real winters, all that succulent-loaded landscaping in sunny states might have you chlorophyll-green with envy. These chubby leaves and architectural forms, set to mention a rainbow of colors, elude northern gardeners.

The booming succulents industry has responded to our pain. In response to demand, growers are cultivating tough, showy varieties that sail through subzero winters. These newcomers not only save Northerners the trouble of hauling them inside when temperatures drop, they add a new type of evergreen to your winter garden, and a conversation-ready modern charm most sculptural.

"Most cold-hardy succulents change color through the seasons when grown outdoors," said Mattie Jepsen of northern California's Mountain Crest Gardens, a large online family-operated retailer that's seen sales increase 50-fold in five years. For example, the plants pictured at left ("Sleeping Beauty") take on cranberry hues in winter. In summer, or in the greenhouse, those lime-and-chicks rosettes are creamy tinted green with reddish tips, while the sedum's scalloped leaves are pale green with purple edges. The plants tousled with clusters of starry yellow flowers.

At Mr. Jepsen's nursery, he said, the cold-hardy varieties actually "look best after a snowy winter." Early last spring, when rain melted 18 inches of snow, which had hid the plants for six weeks, "the colors were the most spectacular we'd seen—vivid rich shades of red, purple, pink, and even a few oranges, blues, and golds."

"There are hundreds of kinds of sedum," said Panayoti Kelaidis, senior curator of the Denver Botanic Gardens. He noted that these tiny-leaved ground covers (commonly known as stonecrops) spread by rooting from little pieces "even in Zone 3." Where average lows are between -35 and -50 degrees, Mr. Kelaidis enthusiastic about hylotelephiums. After those shrub-permeable' broccoli-shaped flowers go to seed and fluffy arches, they resemble

EVOLUTION

NOT-QUITE-MATCHING CHINA

A new iteration of the horseshoe chair—historically a staple of well-to-do Chinese—is as graceful as the original and far more comfortable

THEN In the 17th and 18th centuries during the Qing Dynasty, China enjoyed relative economic and political stability. As the merchant class grew, the production of furniture flourished, its forms frequently emulating pieces once reserved for the royal court. The horseshoe chair shown here illustrates the shapeliness and hand-carving that appealed to the era's aspiring classes. That said, this ambitious seat wasn't a great joy when it came to comfort.

NOW Designers Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu, based in London and Shanghai, looked to their Asian heritage when they designed this chair, part of their Mandarin collection. "We found inspiration in the harmony between classical forms and midcentury aesthetics," said Mr. Neri. Fortunately, the modernizations went beyond emulating Charles and Ray Eames's molded-plywood experiments and included upholstery—proving that a chair can still convey status without punishing your posterior. —Eleanore Park

Knoll celebrated its 80th anniversary by releasing an outstanding cluster of new collections presented at Salone del Mobile. One of which was Mark Newson's Aluminium Chair – a series that pays honour to the structured chairs of Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, the forefather of modernism, 90 years later, Newson's designs (inspired by the space age) add a heavy dose of forward-thinking technicality and materiality to the original framework, while staying true to tradition.

Using the original 1952 Triangle Chair design by Vilhelm Wohlert – which was used to complement his work on the Louisiana Museum of Modern Art – Stellar Works' newest edition reflects the evolution of furniture for public spaces. Made from aluminium for the outdoor environment, the chair is a nod to the Danish designer's pared-down mid-century pieces that became known for their less-is-more ethos and ability to turn the structural into the sculptural.

2 Test how it works before you buy. Nobody likes a sofa bed that is clunky to pull out, but it also needs to be robust enough to give adequate support. Mattresses should fold effortlessly back inside the sofa: if the mattress is too thick it can get stuck, but if it's too thin, your guests won't be happy. Our mattresses are 12cm thick and are coil-sprung, with a supportive foam and latex body (pocket springs don't fold well). Use a topper for added comfort.

Dining tables take up a surprising amount of space, so opt for a design that you can adapt. Bühne frei für Space Copenhagen! In Mailand zeigten Signe Bindslev Henriksen und Peter Bundgaard Rützou Neuheiten für Gubi, Stellar Works und Fredericia aus natürlichen Materialien.

Im Jahr 13 nach seiner Gründung wendet sich Space Copenhagen den elementaren Dingen zu, der Gravitation und der Unendlichkeit. In die Sphäre zwischen gedanklichem Experiment und Bodenhaftung folgen wir den Raumkadetten Signe Bindslev Henriksen und Peter Bundgaard Rützou nur zu gern. Auf dem Salone konnte man ihren Entwürfen quasi überall begegnen. Für Stellar Works entstand das Sofasystem „Infinity", dessen ordnahe Module der Idee der Wohnlandschaft neuen Atem einhauchen. Fredericia ergänzt seine Space-Entwürfe um einige Möbel mit betont klarer Linie. Und bei Gubi schließlich wurden wir Zeuge, wie die Tischvariante der „Gravity Lamp" ihren Stahlfuß erstmals auf „Moon" setzte, einen Beistelltisch, dessen runde Platte aus grauem Marmor an den Erdtrabanten erinnert und die Basis aus geschwärzter Eiche an eine lunare Landekapsel.

Keines, dachte sich Hermès und schuf die Sitzbank „Kanumi" aus Bambus, die mit den Stoffen des Traditionshauses noch sommerlicher daherkommt.

Made in China: Der chinesische Möbelhersteller Stellar Works will „keine billige Kopie" sein. Und holt sich für die neue Kollektion Space Copenhagen und Neri & Hu an Bord, die zwei flexible Sofa-Konzepte entwickelt haben.

Eines steht fest: Äußerlich haben die beiden Sofas nicht viel gemeinsam. Das eine ist minimalistisch, geradezu skandinavisch und zurückhaltend, das andere erinnert mit seinen kugelrunden Sitzpolstern an einen Marshmallow. Oder eine Raupe, die sich kurz im Wohnzimmer niedergelassen hat. Gemeint sind die zwei neuen Sofas, die der chinesische Möbelhersteller Stellar Works während des Salone del Mobile in Tortona präsentierte. „Wir wollten ein Sofa entwerfen, das sich flexibel umbauen lässt", sagt Signe Bindslev Henriksen von Space Copenhagen, die für den ersten Entwurf verantwortlich ist. „Wir ziehen ja ständig um, vergrößern und verkleinern uns, deshalb sollte ein Sofa modular sein", findet auch Rosanna Hu, die gemeinsam mit ihrem Partner Lyndon Neri das Studio Neri & Hu leitet und das andere Sofa designt hat. „Ich glaube, es gibt heute ein starkes Bedürfnis nach spielerischen Designs, die sich mit uns verändern."

Auf die Bedürfnisse unserer Zeit eingehen, darum will Stellar Works sich kümmern – dafür gründete Yuichiro Hori das Label 2012. Neri & Hu beraten das Label auch als Kreativdirektoren. „Wir möchten mit Stellar Works aber auch zeigen, dass Design aus China keineswegs nur eine billige Kopie sein muss", erklärt Lyndon Neri. Auch deshalb die Zusammenarbeit mit Space Copenhagen als Gestalter. „Asiatisches und dänisches Design teilen viele Grundprinzipien", finden Neri & Hu.

Mittwoch, 18.04.2018, Dieses Jahr ist alles stressiger. Ja, wirklich! Das Programm ist so gut, dass man nichts verpassen möchte – und doch ist es nie möglich, alles zu sehen. Unser Tag beginnt in Rossana Orlandis Galerie, wo wir Ini Archibong zum Interview treffen. Der Designer hat die vierte Kollektion für Sé entworfen, die 22 Objekte umfasst. Träumerische Farben, edle Materialien und ein außergewöhnliches Nachwuchstalent – vom 34-jährigen Designer werden wir noch viel hören.

Danach geht es auf die Messe, die dieses Jahr besonders voll ist, die Eurocucina lockt noch mehr internationales Publikum nach Rho Fiera.

Zurück in der Stadt schauen wir uns die Ausstellung „Typecasting" von Vitra an, danach geht es zu Dimore Studio. Emiliano und Britt haben gleich drei Installationen in Brera – unter anderem haben sie ihr Büro in eine abstrakte Welt aus Plastik und Blumen verwandelt. Und beweisen: Dimore Studio überraschen jedes Jahr aufs Neue. Während die beiden letztes Jahr auf starke Farben setzten, stehen dieses Jahr die Materialien im Vordergrund.

Abends treffen wir Space Copenhagen und Neri & Hu zum privaten Dinner bei Stellar Works. Letzteres Duo leitet die chinesische Firma als Kreativdirektoren, „weil wir beweisen wollen, dass Design aus China nicht immer nur eine Kopie ist", wie Lyndon Neri erklärt. Er und Rossana Hu gestalten Hotels, Restaurants und Möbel – und „wollen beweisen, dass China gute, neue Möbel entwerfen kann."

Desmontando mitos con Stellar Works

La firma de diseño china hace doblete con sus nuevos diseños y con la exposición 'arquiveryWHERE' de Neri&Hu

ROCÍO GARCÍA 14 DE MAYO DE 2018, 16:53

Sofá Infinity, de Space Copenhagen para Stellar Works

Si eres de los que tiene prejuicios te recomendamos que sigas leyendo para deshacerte de ellos, y es que cuando en el mundo se habla de China normalmente saltan todas las alertas gritando copias a gritos. Para acabar con este estigma, vamos a hablar de las novedades que presentará en el Salón de Milán la firma con base en Shanghái Stellar Works.

La firma se ha convertido en la primera marca asiática de diseño contemporáneo, sabiendo incorporar a sus piezas pequeños gestos recuperados de la artesanía tradicional. No es de extrañar que las colaboraciones vengan de la mano de grandes estudios de diseño como Space Copenhagen, que ha creado el sofá modular Infinity con una gran innovación técnica: en su confección se han obviado las costuras y los módulos, resultando una pieza casi escultural que se adapta perfectamente al cuerpo.

Neri & Hu design team has modern take on Asian aesthetic

Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu never planned to become the standard bearers of a new era in Chinese design. Children of the diaspora, he was born in the Philippines, she in Taiwan. They met while studying architecture at the University of California Berkeley. He completed his masters degree at Harvard, she at Princeton. "I chose architecture," she says, "because it uses both sides of the brain."

After marrying, they joined Michael Graves Architecture & Design in New York, intent on North American careers. But in the early 2000s, when Graves won the contract to revive Shanghai's historic Three on the Bund, he appointed Neri as project lead. Neri, Hu and their young family moved to China's busiest city – population 24.15 million – for an

Everything We Saw During Milan Design Week (Well, Almost)

Milan Design Week 2018 has come and gone and Azure's editors were on the ground to take it all in. From the crowded booths at Salone del Mobile to the many Fuorisalone installations throughout the city, here's a comprehensive wrap-up of what we saw and experienced.

THE LULL BEFORE THE STORM

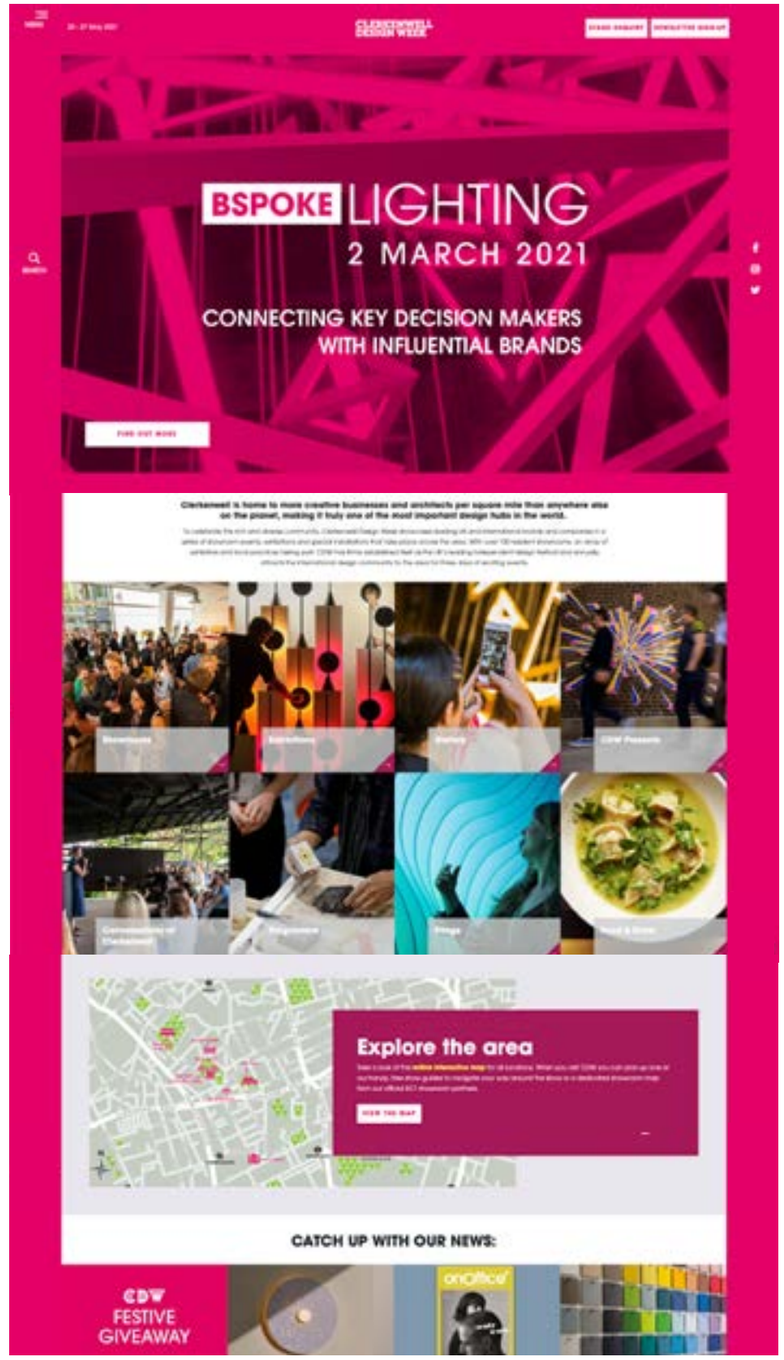

It was a relatively quiet first day at the Salone del Mobile. According to organizers, however, more than 434,000 visitors ultimately converged under the glass canopies of the FieraMilano exhibition centre to attend the 57th annual edition of the fair. That number is a 1% per cent increase over 2016, when the biennial kitchen and bathroom exhibitions were last held.

STELLAR WORKS POP-UP IN TORTONA

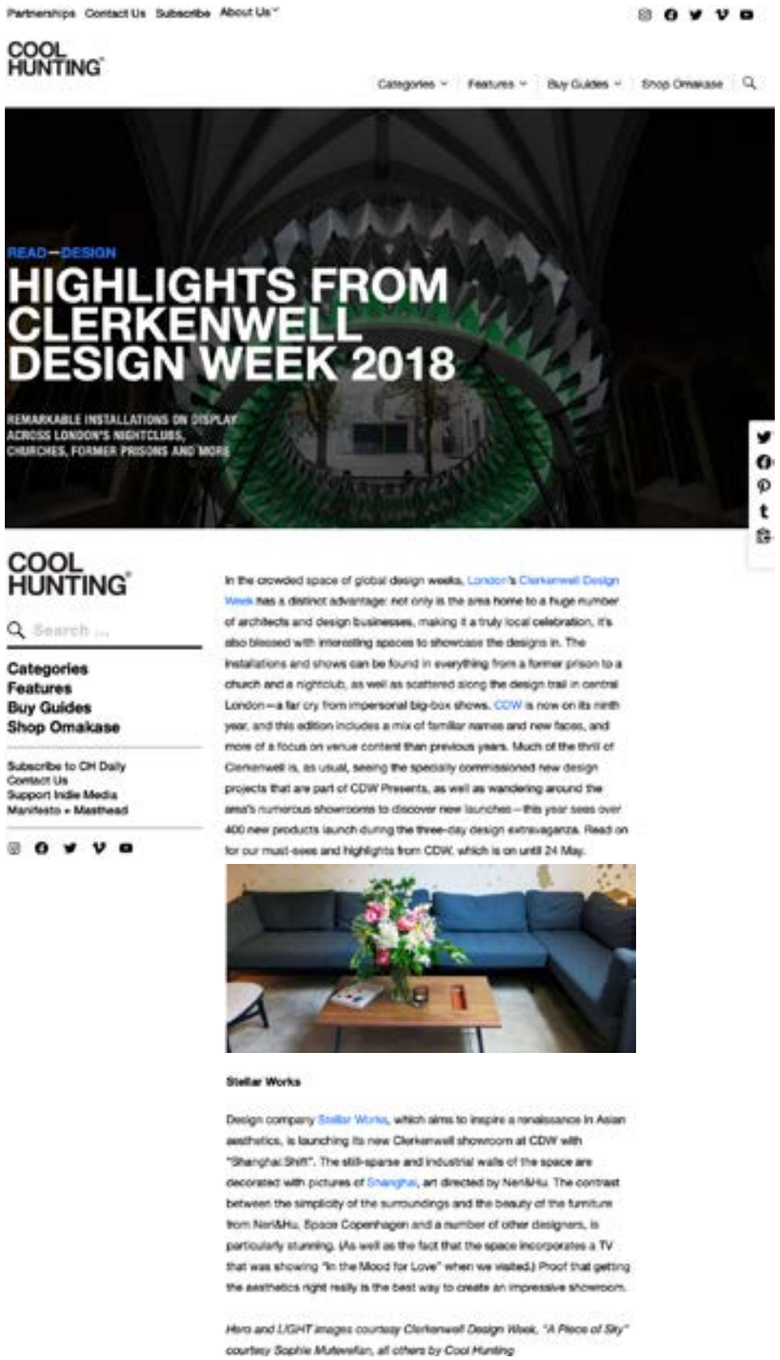

A sculptural tower of chairs dominated a wall at the Stellar Works showcase in Tortona Design District. New furniture by Space Copenhagen and Stellar Works creative directors Meri&Hu were on display in the space, which aimed to evoke traditional Shanghai neighbourhoods.

In the crowded space of global design weeks, London's Clerkenwell Design Week has a distinct advantage: not only is the area home to a huge number of architects and design businesses, making it a truly local celebration, it's also blessed with interesting spaces to showcase the designs in. The installations and shows can be found in everything from a former prison to a church and a nightclub, as well as scattered along the design trail in central London—a far cry from impersonal big-box shows. CDW is now on its ninth year, and this edition includes a mix of familiar names and new faces, and more of a focus on venue content than previous years. Much of the thrill of Clerkenwell is, as usual, seeing the specially commissioned new design projects that are part of CDW Presents, as well as wandering around the area's numerous showrooms to discover new launches—this year sees over 400 new products launch during the three-day design extravaganza. Read on for our must-sees and highlights from CDW, which is on until 24 May.

Stellar Works

Design company Stellar Works, which aims to inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics, is launching its new Clerkenwell showroom at CDW with "Shanghai Shift". The still-sparse and industrial walls of the space are decorated with pictures of Shanghai, art directed by Neri&Hu. The contrast between the simplicity of the surroundings and the beauty of the furniture from Neri&Hu, Space Copenhagen and a number of other designers, is particularly stunning. (As well as the fact that the space incorporates a TV that was showing "In the Mood for Love" when we visited.) Proof that getting the aesthetics right really is the best way to create an impressive showroom.

as stellar works' first time on show at an IMM cologne fair, they are marking the celebration with a global debut of a new range in collaboration with neriXhu, taking the name 'bund', the collection references the namesake district of shanghai, the city of residence for the architect and designer duo. the area, which features an abundance of art deco architecture, is a lasting symbol of the city's past, present and future, combining elements from its industrial origins and colonial history. as such, it intertwines soft, sculpted structures of wood with rich fabric forms. the shapes, totalling an armchair, dining chair, ottoman and two bar stool options, not only pay homage to the architectural style, but significantly offers excelling support and comfort.

Swedish rug brand Kasthall launched four new rugs for Stockholm Design Week, won an award for an existing rug and collaborated with Stella Works for a showroom display. "We are slowly adding new carpets into the grand collection of Kasthall," says creative design advisor and co-founder of Claesson Koivisto Rune, Ola Rune. "We are trying to lead the trends, find new techniques and make new yarns. I think if we do that we will continue to have a legacy."

Kasthall were also showing the Arita collection by Neri & Hu for Stella Works. These containers were inspired by traditional Chinese wine bottles and can be stacked with other pieces from the collection, while the brass holders enable easy pouring even when they contain hot liquids.

Chinese designers are "developing their own language" say Neri&Hu

Natashah Hitti | 14 June 2018 | Leave a comment

Designers in China are no longer copying the west as a new generation of home-grown talents emerges, according to Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu of Shanghai studio Neri&Hu.

Awareness of design among Chinese consumers is changing at "super speed", say the duo, while the government is encouraging the creative sector to develop original ideas rather than copying the west.

"The design scene in Shanghai is changing, extremely fast," Hu told Dezeen. "Like, super speed. Ten years ago people didn't really understand modern design, nor did they appreciate it."

Today things are changing, she said.

"Customers are learning really fast, and the market is shifting, and now people are seeking out things that have individual characteristics," said Hu, adding that there was now a "real hunger and thirst for knowledge" about contemporary design.

China wants to be more creative

The shift comes at a time when the Chinese government is actively encouraging industry to be more creative and less reliant on overseas ideas.

In 2015, Chinese president Xi Jinping announced his Made in China 2025 initiative, which aims to repurpose the country as a global power in design and innovation.

"Xi Jinping has called on Chinese companies to produce things that are really strong and unique, that are truly from China," said Neri. "There is support from the government to be creative so that we are not seen as a country that just copies things any more."

Parecía haber entrado en crisis y languidecía al lado de zonas más pujantes. Pero Tortona resiste. Nos damos un paseo por una de las zonas imprescindibles del Milan Design Week 2018.

Siempre es una experiencia bajar del metro en Porta Genova y cruzar por la pasarela cerrada las vías férreas que dan acceso a la zona Tortona. Puestos de comida callejera, tiendas de lo más original y ambiente estudiantil antes de llegar al meollo de la cuestión: porque hemos venido a ver diseño del bueno.

Construido por todos

Un año más, MINI Living se cuela en el Fuorisalone. Una instalación que empieza a ser imprescindible año tras año.

En esta ocasión, la antigua nave industrial se ha convertido en un colorido hogar de la mano del estudio londinense Studiomama. La instalación volvía a cuestionar las prácticas arquitectónicas convencionales, poniendo el foco en esta ocasión en la colaboración. La participación de residentes y arquitectos puede resolver los desafíos del futuro en el entorno urbano.

Cuatro espacios, cada uno en un color demostrando la maestría del estudio en el uso de los diferentes tonos. Con geometrías básicas y piezas icónicas de diseño que definían necesidades y se adaptaban a la perfección al espacio mínimo que caracteriza las viviendas de hoy en día. En ese original marco que supone el callejón de Via Tortona 32.

FUORISALONE 2018 – A COMPLETE GUIDE

Milan's most anticipated event of the year is just around the corner. Here's what you can expect from some of the biggest design districts in the city.

DI ROBERTO FIANDACA 07/03/2018

With just a month to go before Milan's most anticipated event of the year, Milan Design Week 2018 (April 17-22), we're pulling out the calendars to break down the city district by district between exclusive events and must-see installations. Get ready to pencil in your favorites and be sure to follow along for more news on designers, events, and exhibits about town.

Fuorisalone 2018: Tortona Design District

Now in its third edition, Tortona Rocks, in the Porta Genova area, lights up with the work of international design. Organized by Milano Space Maker, the "Design Narrative" theme welcomes DOpificio 31 among others with "the best of design between Europe and Asia". Located just in front of the MUDEC Museum, the space will show designers from Norway (Norwegian Presence), Switzerland (Swiss Design District), as well as Japanese and German (two installations dedicated to sustainable living proposed by Containerwerk). Meanwhile, award-winning designers Nerdibu present their installation any/everywhere for Stellar Works, a space to play "with the concepts of context and location", while the Politecnico di Milano shows up with a workshop in collaboration with Vans.

As always, the Tortona Design District will take to the streets, animating much of the neighborhood with countless events between Via Tortona and Via Savona. Totaling 20 exhibits, 30 designers, and 50 companies, Tortona is among the most famous districts at Fuorisalone. Last but not least, the Asia Design Pavilion makes its debut this year with the best of asian design in Via Watt 15.

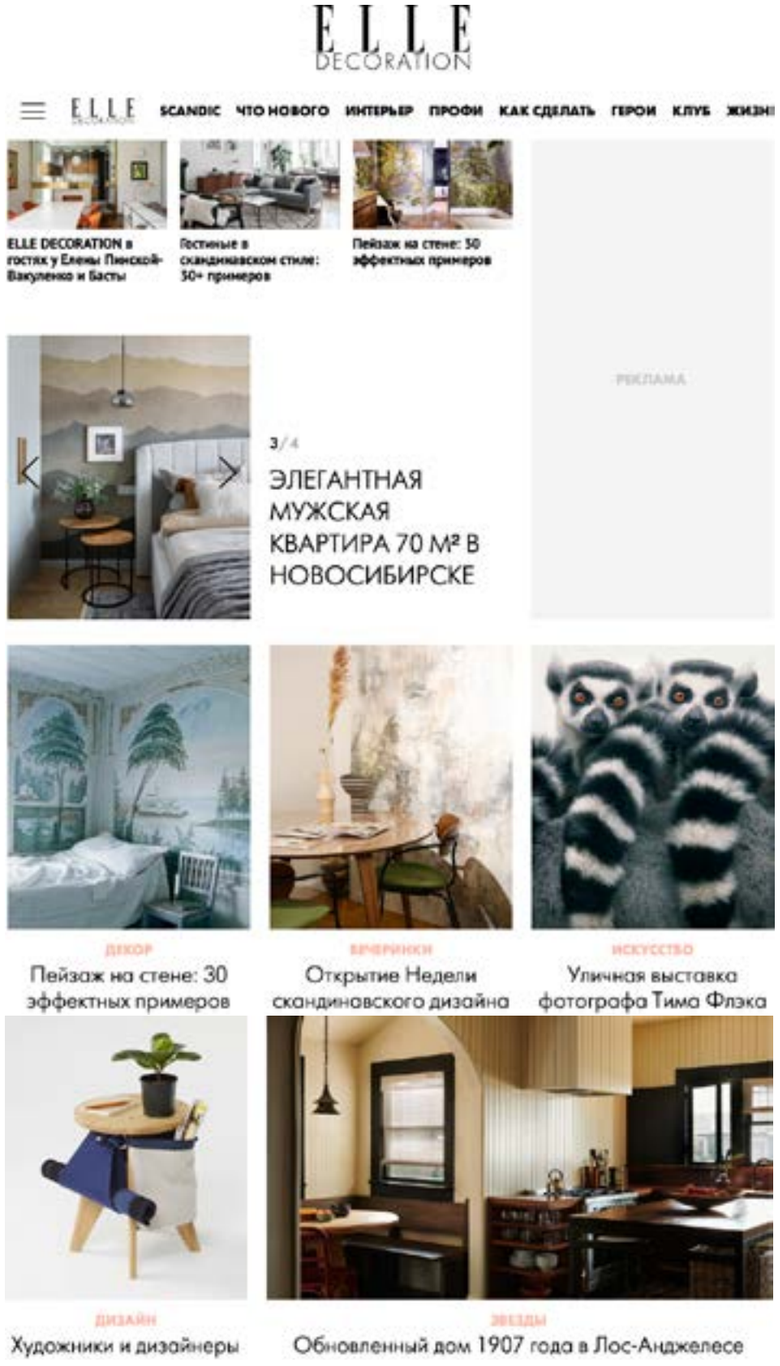

FuoriSalone 2018: Porta Venezia in Design

Uniting food & wine, Art Nouveau architecture, and design, "Porta Venezia in Design" makes its sixth appearance at this year's Fuorisalone. The vibrant and decorative neighborhood will take visitors on a tour through the gorgeous buildings, stores, and bars.

Confirming their presence, Jannella&Volpi and Maserba return to Via Melzo 7 for a much-anticipated show, while the new home textile collections from Lisa Corti make an appearance in Via Lecco 2. This year's concept store, Stamberga(internal courtyard of Via Melzo 3), is set to host a collection of 20th century Italian design from the 1 + 1 Historical Design Gallery as well as iconic pieces from Bonacina 1889 and Sen Factory at the intersection between Italian and Japanese design. The Czech Cultural Center in Via G.B. Morgagni 20 presents the world premier of "A Century of Czech design. From Cubism to the 21st century", a project reflecting on the first 100 years of the Czech Republic through design. Remember to swing by Doppia Firma 2018, the lovechild of a designer and artisan, in Villa Mozart (Via Mozart 9) for a one of a kind collection of 13 original objects.

Stellar Works 依舊不食人間煙火

2018/07/30 | 單品設計 設計新聞
Yen

分享

看著剛出爐的 Stellar Works（星坊傢俱）品牌形象廣告，那來自攝影師蘇裏的作品，仿佛耳邊傳來一陣熟悉的吟唱——踏似為王菲的《夢中人》。無他的，只因為一如往常地，星坊的傢俱總是熱愛空蕩與飄渺的場景。不過這一次那場景則從野外的竹林與河畔，轉移到上海的街道與巷弄，甚至有些還進入了室內，也有了路人與寵物的介入。但那不食人間煙火的形象依舊如故。

這是為何？雖然，在那充滿藝術感的圖像中傢俱依然是主角，而色彩也稍微變得豐富些，但對於終究得登堂入室的傢俱而言，卻早超越出其基本功能的印象。原來，隨著共用住宿與工作空間的盛行，傢俱也逐漸變成"非階級系統"（non-hierarchal system），意味著傢俱將有著更能符合社群空間的普及性。這種激進的變革對於品牌創意總監 Neri&Hu 而言，"就啟發了我們將傢俱呈現的手法變得擬人化：讓它們貼伴成為一個團隊、小群眾、親密夥伴或好哥兒們。"

所以，他們設計的 Industry 椅子系列在窗前的小聚、Vilhem Wolhert 設計的 Triangle 座椅在垂涕內對話、Space Copenhagen 的 Infinity 沙發慵懶地躺在高架下；甚至，也將 Jens Risom 的 C140 椅子置放在面館、或將Cabinet of Curiosity 櫥櫃與上海日常的鹹魚製作並列——這些微妙的、上海人才知道的幽默感，不僅希望傳遞出品牌"Made in Shanghai"的新宣言，也希望能彰顯出長久以來被忽略、甚至被曲為"不夠大雅"的上海文化內涵，其實可以有所作為。

Neri&Hu 的胡如珊記得，在接下品牌創意總監一職的時候，就認為品牌正處於很多事情的"之間"，而這樣的"之間"就無法正確地有所定位，特別是針對品牌的 DNA。所以，為求尋找到明確答案，問題就來自於"今日上海代表著什麼？"——"今日的上海是一個非常具有國際感的都市，這個城市本身幾乎就像一個國家，它已跨越出中國，雖然依附於中國，但它有自己的文化，這就是為什麼我們（在廣告裏）不說是'中國製造'"，她解釋，"'上海製造'也就意味著所有在這個城市中人們所能看到的精神。"

Exciting new collections launched at Singapore Design Week 2018

by Home & Decor / March 26, 2018

STELLAR WORKS

Although new to Singapore, the brand was started in 2012, by Yuichiro Hori, a former furniture designer from Japan, who decided to move his factory to Shanghai, as he was impressed with the city's large-scale furniture factories with new machines and highly skilled workers.

Mr Hori doesn't design anymore, but he works with leading design firms such as Neri&Hu, Space Copenhagen, and OEO Studio.

Mr Hiro says Stellar Works was started as a way to bring ideas together: East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry. "By drawing together a unique combination of heritage, craft skills and production expertise from Europe and Asia, we have created an international design brand with cross-cultural resonance," says Mr Hori.

In Singapore, Stellar Works chairs can be found in The Warehouse Hotel and at the Straits Clan, and elsewhere such as Lady Bund in Shanghai and Ted Baker's Penthouse in London.

Neri & Hu: "Crear espacios y juntar objetos no es decorar"

La exitosa pareja de arquitectos, afincada en Shanghái, cree en "una decoración con cualidades espaciales".

Lyndon Neri (Filipinas, 1965) y Rossana Hu (Taiwán, 1968) forman hoy uno de los estudios de diseño y arquitectura más reconocidos y exitosos del momento. Afincados en Shanghái –en Londres también tienen estudio–, hablamos con ellos en el estand de la empresa española Gandiablasco durante la Feria del Mueble de Milán. Concretamente para la marca Gan, han diseñado una pieza muy arquitectónica y decorativa al tiempo llena de sensaciones visibles: un jarrón 3D, bautizado como Lan, que define bien su forma de entender el diseño, la decoración y el espacio residencial. Con ellos hablamos sobre diseño –artesanía y pasado son palabras que mencionan varias veces–, decoración, arquitectura, sobre cómo es su casa y también cómo trabajan juntos.

Invitados de honor en la Feria del Mueble de Estocolmo, del 5 al 9 de febrero, recuperamos esta entrevista realizada en abril.

Repasando vuestra arquitectura, productos y algunas conferencias, creo que vuestra casa ideal sería un espacio cuyas vistas formarían parte de la decoración, casi como un cuadro; donde lo público y lo privado estarían entremezclados, habría pocos muebles y los materiales servirían para transmitir sensaciones muy cinceretas. ¿Añadirías o quitarías algo?

Rossana Hu (RH): Me gusta. Creo que lo siguiente que debemos hacer es tratar de convertir esas ideas en un dibujo.

Lyndon Neri (LN): También me gusta tu propuesta y, sobre todo, nos define, pero si una idea no se convierte en algo tangible, real, no vale nada. Lo que quiero decir es que se necesita experimentar esa sensación táctil de la que hablas en un proyecto. Además, el hecho de prescindir de mobiliario no es una elección naïf, sino consciente. En mi opinión, la sección es lo más importante de una vivienda, más que su alzado. A menudo, la gente se fija en la fachada, en cómo es el edificio por fuera. Como arquitectos, a nosotros eso no nos interesa, nos interesa mucho más la sección y las transiciones entre los espacios.

30 years of ICFF

The iconic NYCxDesign exhibition marked its 30th anniversary with a 2018 edition packed with exhibitors and installations

Redazione | 21 May 2018

The 30th edition of ICFF – the biggest event in the NYCxDesign calendar – opened its doors on 20 May, welcome visitors into what proved to be a truly knock-out event. Not only was ICFF celebrating 30 years of operations, during which time it has become the key North American event in the global design panorama, but there was also a stunning array of exhibitors and installations to wow the crowds.
The 800 participating brands – hailing from over 40 different countries – were split into 11 categories, including furniture, decoration, materials, bathrooms and fabrics. Meanwhile, the first floor of the Jacob K. Javits Convention Center was reserved for the hottest new products in this year's collections.
There were plenty of Italian names on show. Kartell offered up a varied range of products including seating, small furniture, lighting and accessories.
Porro and Living Divani were making their first appearance at the event, alongside partner organisation West | NYC Home, with the most recent collections – already on show at their Fifth Avenue store – thrust into the limelight at ICFF too.
There was a debut also for Fimes, who – working with partner Anna Gratia (Brooklyn) – showcased a range of wardrobes, walk-in closets and the Kronos sofa.
The Italian ceramics industry played a key role in the event thanks to the "Ceramics of Italy" consortium, promoted by Confindustria Ceramica and EdiCer with additional support from ICE. Florim, Atlas Concorde, Fap and Refin were just a few of the brands who took part in the initiative.
Representing the bathroom sector were Antoniolupi, Gessi and Effegibi, with its focus on wellness, while outdoor brands of the calibre of Ethimo, EMU and Nardi were also there.
One brand worthy of a special mention is Klodea, the Italian handle producer based in Florida.
Looking at the international panorama as a whole, stand-out brands included Flavor Paper, the New York brand producing eclectic and creative wall paper, and Tuuci, the leading umbrella manufacture based in Miami. Bernhardt Design caught the eye for its comfortable, contemporary furniture, while Stellar Works impressed with its minimalist style.

Creative installations included VIA French Design's itinerant "No Taste for Bad Taste. So Starck, so Bouroullec… so Le French Design" exhibition, a homage to French design. Also worth a visit was Handmade in Germany, a collection of contemporary, hand-made products.

ICCF will return in December with ICFF South Florida, which takes place in Fort Lauderdale from 4 to 6 December.

5 Minutes With... Yuichiro Hori of Stellar Works

We catch up with the furniture brand's Shanghai-based Japanese founder and CEO, and hear about manufacturing with high volume and a crafted character in China.

Yuichiro Hori has carved out a sweet spot for the Stellar Works brand in Shanghai. The brand was established in 2012 as a partnership between Hori and luxury French manufacturer Ligne, and has rapidly achieved a global following. Key to its broad character is the Asian sensibility it begins through with products.

This was also expressed in Stellar Works' presentation in Milan earlier this year, where it presented the installation anywhereanywhere in the Tortona district. Designed by the brand's Creative Director NeriHu, the installation presented contemporary and mid-century furniture pieces among large-format photography that depicted how Shanghai is changing – particularly in terms of its housing stock. The idea was to prompt visitors to question what it means to be anywhere or everywhere.

It's a relevant question for the inhabitants of Asia's fast-growing megacities. Against that background of change, we began by asking Hori about timelessness.

What gives a design timelessness?

Stellar Works doesn't look at short-term trends. We look at the future and the past; all design must be sustainable for a long time. Also, the material must be timeless.

Utility Sofa by Neri&Hu for Stellar Works

Stellar Works showcased the Utility Sofa by Neri&Hu, which has been reimagined with a more refined silhouette, combining comfort with practicality and offering a sophisticated take on the enduringly popular industrial aesthetic. In Singapore, Stellar Works is carried by P5.

Chair 118 by Sebastian Herkner for Thonet

Sebastian Herkner interpreted the 'Frankfurt Chair' in a contemporary way for Thonet with Chair 118. Herkner worked with the Thonet principle of reducing a chair to the fewest elements possible but added refined details. The shape of the chair legs is an example: they are rounded on the back and characterised by slight edges on the front, referencing the horseshoe shape of the seat. In Singapore, Thonet is carried by Xtra.

Why Furniture Brand Stellar Works Is Proudly Made In Shanghai

Headquartered in Shanghai, Stellar Works produces minimalist furniture pieces that hark back to its Asian roots
Shanghai may not be the first city to come to mind when it comes to furniture production, but Yuichiro Hori hopes to change that with his Shanghai-based brand Stellar Works.
The founder recognises the potential of the city's manufacturing prowess and its growing design scene: "We opened our factory in Shanghai in 2008, with the concept of utilising technical know-how from France while using Toyota production systems from Japan." He adds: "The city is also very international, with a fast-growing economy and a multicultural history that reflects the essence of Stellar Works."

Salone del Mobile 2018: 12 Must-Sees At The Milan Furniture Fair

By Hong Xinying
April 17, 2018

Every April in Milan, droves of design lovers and industry insiders gather for Salone del Mobile alongside a blitz of events held as part of Milan Design Week. As the massive furniture fair kicks off in Milan this week, we share the collections to covet and the installations that inspire.

Running from April 17 to 22 this year, the 57th edition of the annual fair showcases the latest collections from leading brands from around the world, as well as emerging design names to watch. Here's our pick of the pieces and collaborations to keep an eye on this year.

Settle into the welcoming embrace of this curvy couch, designed by Shanghai-based practice Neri & Hu for Italian furniture maker Arflex. It's part of the Cradle collection, which comprises a sofa (pictured here), an armchair and a small table.

Each design features a triangular construction and a cowhide strap that wraps around the back, as well as elegant legs that make it appear to float above the ground.

Nori&Hu for Stellar Works // The Bund furniture collection by Shanghai-based architects and designers and the creative directors of Stellar Works, Nori&Hu, is inspired by the Bund, a lasting symbol of Shanghai's past, present and future. The collection combines elements from both the city's industrial origins and its splendid colonial history. The soft curves and rich fabric finishes observed in Bund pieces pay homage to the Art Deco style, which is permanently ingrained in the DNA of Shanghai.

Stellar Works also showcased The Utility Sofa, which has been reimagined with a more refined silhouette, combining comfort with practicality and offering a sophisticated take on the enduringly popular industrial aesthetic.

ANTENNE - Milaan

MILAN DESIGN WEEK

De Salone del Mobile, hét interieurevent van het jaar, brengt de belangrijkste merken, de bekendste ontwerpers en de opkomende talenten allemaal samen op de grootste meubel- en designbeurs ter wereld. Tijdens de Design Week biedt de hoofdstad van Lombardije een totaalervaring met een gigantische beurs in het tentoonstellingspark zelf en een stad die een week lang in het teken van design staat. Zoals elk jaar vlogen de journalisten van Actief Wonen en zusterblad Déco idées naar Milaan. Een overzicht van onze favorietjes van 2019.

SHINE ON SHANGHAI

Het in Shanghai gevestigde meubelmerk Stellar Works pakt uit met een eerste verlichtingscollectie. 'Hotaru', ontworpen door de Deense designstudio 'OEO Studio', omvat een bureaulamp, een staande lamp en hanglampen. Dit alles geëtaleerd in de nostalgische 'Galleria Teatro Manzoni' onder het goedkeurend oog van creatieve directeurs Neri & Hu.

NERI & HU, WHO ELSE?

Traceer mij een Milaan-parcours enkel met ontwerpen van Neri & Hu en ik ben een tevreden mens. Het ennéatrezen duo toonde onder meer voor een multifunctionele bed (Molteni&C), poëtische lampen (Artemide) en een elegante sofa en dito bijzettafels (Stellar Works). Telkens trouw aan het eigen Oosterse erfgoed, maar met een frisse update. Ook op de expo 'Blurred Rooms' van Paola C. gooiden ze hoge ogen met hun sierlijke servies 'The Society Collection'.

STOLE MED
JAPANSKE REFERENCER

Kristina Dam har tidligere demonstreret sin glæde ved japansk inspireret æstetik. Den asiatiske forbindelse kendetegner også hendes nye Japanese Stools – en serie skamler og barstole, som den danske designer lancerede i foråret på den internationale møbelmesse i Milano, fra 2700 kr., Kristina Dam Studio.

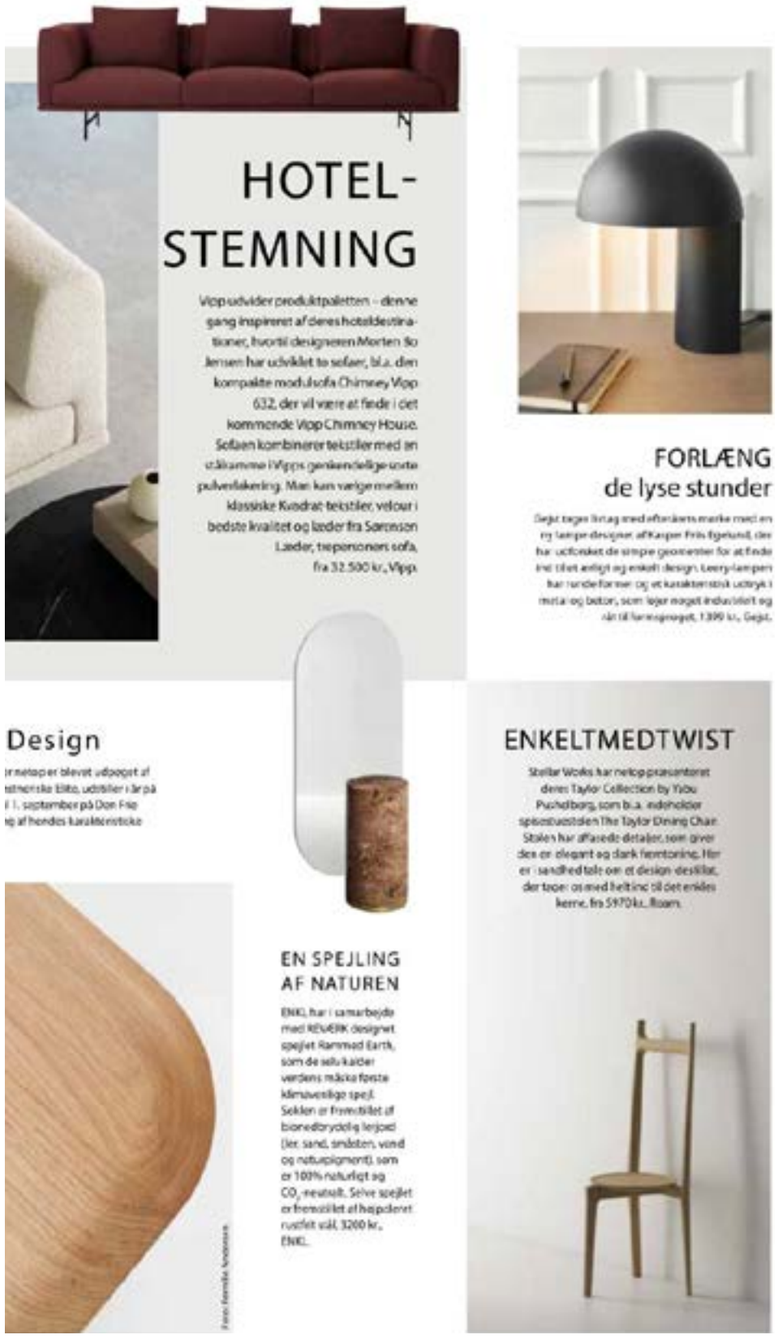

PIA FÅR NYT LIV

Møbeltegneren Poul Cadovius tegnede i slutningen af 1940'erne sit ikoniske reolsystem Royal System. Omkring to år senere kunne han tegne stol til sin kollektion. Pia Chair fik liv i 1950, og nu genoplives stolen med det lette udtryk hos dk3. 60-års-fødselaren fås i fire varianter: og/sort, eg/lud, sortlakeret eg og vaget eg med sæde af håndflettet papirkvalitet, fra 4495 kr., dk3.

Nyt fra NERI & HU

Stellar Works kreative direktører, Neri & Hu, har designet en ny sofa- og bordserie. Discipline Sofa er rent en daybed med en variation af tilhørende hynder. Elementerne kan kobles på forskellig vis: i en L-formet konstellation eller, som vist her, som et enkelt modul med integreret bord. Fra 36.970 kr., Stella Works/Room.

HOTEL-
STEMNING

Vipp udvider produktpaletten – denne gang inspireret af deres hoteldestinationer, hvortil designeren Morten Bo Jensen har udviklet to sofaer, bl.a. den kompakte modulsofa Chimney Vipp 632, der vil være at finde i det kommende Vipp Chimney House. Sofaen kombinerer tekstiler med en stålramme i Vipps genkendelige sorte pulverlakering. Man kan vælge mellem klassiske Kvadrat tekstiler, velour i bedste kvalitet og læder fra Sørensen Læder, trepersoners sofa, fra 32.500 kr., Vipp.

Gejst tager livtag med efterårets mørke med en ny lampe designet af Kasper Friis Egelund, der har udforsket de simple geometrier for at finde frem til et stilet udtryk og enkelt design. Leery-lampen har runde former og et karakteristisk udtryk i metal og beton, som lejer meget industrielt og alligevel formsprogsligt. 1.399 kr., Gejst.

Selve spejlet er fremstillet af håndskåret rustfelt stål. 3200 kr., ENKL.

ENKELTMEDTWIST

Stellar Works har netop præsenteret deres Taylor Collection by Yabu Pushelberg, som bl.a. indeholder spisestuestolen The Taylor Dining Chair. Stolen har aflange detaljer, som giver den en elegant og dark feentoning. Her er i sandhed tale om et design destillat, der taler os med helt inc til det enkles kerne. fra 5970 kr., Roam.

PARTNERS IN PRACTICE

Space Copenhagen

Through sensitive attention to texture and mood, and careful selection of collaborators, the Danish firm is shaping interiors around the world.

By Giovanna Dunmall

PARTNERS IN PRACTICE

Mater, Gubi, Stellar Works, and HBF.

"Their approach is about reducing, not adding," says Yuichiro Hori, CEO and founder of Shanghai-based furniture brand Stellar Works. Space Copenhagen doesn't closely follow trends, Hori adds, which makes its designs "sustainable" in every sense.

Rützou attributes Space Copenhagen's elemental style to its Scandinavian roots. It isn't that he and Henriksen eschew ornament; they just want it to "be there for a reason." The same goes for color: Clients occasionally request that the designers "go wild," explains Henriksen, but, "It's not our first preference." Embracing a moderated palette not only obviates the need to reupholster with changing trends but lends itself to a more layered and textured approach. "We lose the idea of the materials being the 'colors' and the 'patterns,'" Henriksen says.

According to Hori, the office's intimate size is exactly right for the "long conversations" necessary at the outset of a project. It also plays well during the all-important product development process. "Big studios handle so many things and lose focus," he says.

SOM, which has more than 1,000 employees in 11 offices around the world, recently teamed up with Space Copenhagen on The Stratford, a hotel housed within the 42-story Manhattan Loft Gardens in London. (SOM was the base-build architect and structural engineer for the building.) "The fact that we focused on the logistics and technical aspects of the project allowed Space Copenhagen to bring a personal touch and high level of quality to our design," says Kent Jackson, a design partner at SOM's London office. He points to Space Copenhagen's knack for breaking down scale and introducing texture, and praises the firm's skills in "balancing our architectural composition with their clean aesthetics, natural timbers, warm metals, and stone-clad bathrooms."

And chemistry, of course, is important to a dynamic within a team as well. For Rützou and Henriksen, getting any bigger would mean altering the way they work. "We love being this size because it allows us to be engaged in all aspects of the creative output," says Henriksen. And though Space Copenhagen may be "small but effective," as Harry Handelsman, who developed The Stratford with his firm Manhattan Loft Corporation, puts it, it is increasingly in a position to offer significant contract work to the furniture companies it collaborates with. Henrik Marstrand, the founder and CEO of the furniture manufacturer Mater, backs up this sentiment. Space Copenhagen's involvement with hospitality projects provides "the opportunity to have a sizable impact by allowing us to implement ethical solutions on a larger scale," he says.

Whether a firm is large or small is ultimately irrelevant, argues Handelsman. "It's not that if you combine the two you get a happy medium," he says. "It's a question of attitude, of commitment." Henriksen agrees: "If you embark on a project that takes four, five, or even more years, you need to love it somehow. It's your life and what you will get up to every morning, so you need to feel fueled by every aspect of the project." ■

Space Copenhagen designs a significant portion of its furniture. Shanghai-based furniture manufacturer Stellar Works is a longtime collaborator with the Danish firm. The Slow collection (left) is one of several lines they've created together.

For its first project in the United States, it renovated Copenhagen's New York, Space Copenhagen outfitted retailers with warm metallic finishes, soft textiles, and furniture with a Danish flourish.

01/05/2019 - Aggrecasa + Stellar Works take stage at Galleria Teatro Manzoni for Milan Design Week 2019 in 'Behind the Scenes'. Stellar Works presents a theatrical installation, titled 'Montage', revealing new collections from an array of designers including Nerí&Hu, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg, OEO Studio and Tom Fereday.

Room desk by Jens Risom, 88 shelves by Jens Risom

Inspired by the neighboring 1950s Teatro Manzoni, the two brands will create installations referencing their own dramatic interpretations of theatre, sharing a central 'entrance foyer' which brings together the two creative concepts.

The installation creative directors Nerí&Hu is executed as a collage of multiple small 'theatres' arranged in a sequential journey along the Galleria, showcasing products by a myriad designers and re-issues by Midcentury masters. Each 'theatre' features its own orientation and color palette, with stepped levels acting as 'stages' displaying the new collections. Visitors will also find themselves in the spotlight, with framed openings offering multiple views, while also allowing glimpses of the installations from outside.

THE CRAWFORD COLLECTION BY TOM FEREDAY AND LANE CRAWFORD

The Crawford Collection is comprised of a sofa, bed, tables and a dining chair. Following Stellar Works' ethos, the collection was developed on the principle of honest design that celebrates Asian sensibilities, whilst reinterpreting them for an international audience. The collection also represents a fusion of cultures that celebrates the growing design movement in the Asia Pacific region. Tom Fereday's designs utilise natural materials, tactile finishes and subtle, yet elegant details.

Designed by Neri&Hu, the Discipline sofa series is based on a single striking horizontal element. The integral platform supports upholstered cushions in four possible arrangements: straight half back and corners, both of which can be set at the right- or left-hand end.

With a low-slung profile and set on four super slender stainless steel legs, the solid wood and veneer plane seems to hover just above the ground. The individual pieces can be used as standalone seating or grouped in L-shaped and back-to-back compositions. Upholstery options include leather and a variety of fabrics, while an optional side table can be affixed on either side.

Stellar Works Goes "Behind the Scenes" in Milan

At this year's Milan Furniture Fair, Stellar Works introduces a diverse series of new offerings from designers including Space Copenhagen, CRÊME, Yabu Pushelberg, OEO Studio and Tom Fereday.

WORDS Stefan Novakovic

POSTED Mar 18, 2019

SHARE Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, Pinterest, Email

In homage to the eponymous Teatro Manzoni – a nearby 1930 landmark – the Behind the Scenes series by Stellar Works and Agapecasa draws inspiration from the world of theatre. The two brands will share the entrance foyer at the Galleria Manzoni during Milan Design Week and then preview their latest collections in individually stylized contexts. Agapecasa will debut an installation curated by Camilla Benedini, while Stellar Works' The Montage will offer a showcase that combines a variety of upcoming collections with new re-issues of classic mid-century designs.

Led by Stellar Works creative directors Neri&Hu, The Montage draws on a vision of the theatre as a place to "see and be seen," blurring the distinction between spectator and performer. Organized as a sequence of individual "theatres" – each with a discrete visual orientation and colour palette – the exhibition will guide visitors through a series of terraced viewing spaces, evoking a sense of spectatorship that gradually dissolves as the vantage points become more intimate. Alongside Neri&Hu's own collection, the nimble and evolving "montage" experience will frame new furniture and lighting by designers including Space Copenhagen, CRÊME, Yabu Pushelberg, OEO Studio and Tom Fereday, as well as reissues of vintage pieces by Vilhelm Wohlert and Jens Risom.

TAYLOR COLLECTION Zurückhaltend-zeitlos: Möbelkollektion von Yabu Pushelberg für Stellar Works.

Designer: Yabu Pushelberg

19.06.2019

Zurückhaltend zeitlos

Der Name der Taylor Collection spielt nicht ohne Grund auf das englische Wort „tailored" für „maßgeschneidert" an. Denn die Designer George Yabu and Glenn Pushelberg haben, wie sie selbst sagen, die einzelnen Möbelstücke mit derselben Präzision und Geduld entworfen, die man bei einem Maßanzug aufwenden würde. Das Ergebnis ist eine Sammlung elementarer Möbelstücke, die mit ihrem unaufdringlichen Design zeitlose Eleganz zum Ausdruck bringt. Durch ihre zurückhaltende und funktionale Gestaltung passen die einzelnen Teile der Kollektion nicht nur ausgezeichnet zusammen, sondern fügen sich auch hervorragend in eine Vielzahl von Umgebungen ein – von Wohnräumen über Restaurants bis zu Hotels. Die Kollektion besteht aus einem gepolsterten Holzstuhl und einem dazugehörigen Eastisch, zwei ebenfalls gepolsterten Barhockern, einer minimalistisch gestalteten Vitrine, einem komfortablen Sofa mit dazu passendem Sessel und einem skulptural geformten Stummen Diener. nr

Less is more: The most iconic Nordic designs

By Clare Dowdy 18th April 2019

Minimalist, mid-century classics are making a comeback. Clare Dowdy picks the designs keeping the style alive.

Mid-century moment

In 1964, President Lyndon B Johnson was photographed sitting on a C140 chair (designed in 1955) in the Oval office when he signed the Civil Rights Act with Martin Luther King. This reissued version is upholstered in a Kvadrat fabric created by mid-century Danish textiles designer Nanna Ditzel. The chair's creator Jens Risom emigrated from Denmark to New York in 1939, and designed most of Hans Knoll's first furniture collection, before setting up his own company. "His shaping of the frame and the line of the chair look in many ways like Gio Ponti's," says Yuichiro Hori, founder of Shanghai-based Stellar Works. (Credit: Stellar Works)

Production by Infinite Design Studio

Tom Fereday was a major presence at this year's Milan Design Week, where the Sydney-based designer debuted his 'Crawford' collection for Asian design powerhouse Stellar Works. The launch formed part of the brand's 'Behind the Scenes' exhibition, which was housed in a charming 1940s cinema arcade. Featuring a sofa, bed, tables and chairs, the range was developed with Hong Kong department store Lane Crawford after Tom won its 2018 Creative Call Out. Infinite Design Studio caught up with Tom while in Milan to discuss the designer's ideas and inspirations.

When I first started developing furniture, I set about creating a set of principles that could guide my work and ensure that to the best of my abilities I developed work that was good for people and their environment. This was summarised up as 'honest design', creating pieces with nothing to hide.

Un lugar de encuentro para profesionales del diseño, que desde hace cinco años, presta atención permanente a las últimas tendencias de estilo.

Este año se celebrará del 21 al 23 de mayo, a continuación, se presentan cinco de los mejores nuevos productos que se presentan:

2. Embrace Table. Diseñada por EOOS para Carl Hansen & Son.

El trío de diseño austriaco, EOOS, se ha sumado a la colección Embrace, conformada por mesas de salón con formas circulares y escultóricas "no convencionales", hechas para fomentar la comunicación entre las personas.

Utilizaron una estructura de alambre de acero en lugar de patas, que una la parte superior de madera redonda con la base en forma de cruz.

3. Grid seating system. Diseñados por Ronan y Erwan Bouroullec para Established & Sons.

Este sistema de asientos modulares de los hermanos Bouroullec es uno de los cuatro nuevos diseños de la marca. Cada producto está diseñado para el lugar del trabajo, sin embargo, es capaz de adaptarse a las necesidades del hogar.

El diseño está disponible en módulos en forma de L o U. Puede personalizarse para que el exterior sea una jaula de metal, paneles de madera o tapicería insonorizada. Además, las opciones de estantes y mesas también son completamente ajustables.

4. Crawford bed. Diseñada por Tom Ferraday y Lane Crawford para Stellar Works.

Se trata de una cama de madera maciza con respaldo bajo y un marco de acero lineal que se ajusta como una cabecera integrada.

Crawford bed forma parte de una colección de la marca que comprende un sillón, una mesa y un comedor.

Behind the scenes

Proudly showing the signs of its age, in the hands of Agapecasa and Stellar Works, this exquisite architectural complex designed by Aldo Bergonzo in the late 1940s, becomes an exploration into the notion of theatre as a place to see and be seen, where roles of "spectator" and "performer" can often be blurred.

Camilla Benedini is the art director of the Agapecasa installation that narrates Angelo Mangiarotti's prolific work by through a journey in five acts, where each stage is dedicated to a unique and timeless object of the Mangiarotti Collection. Each of the spaces, mediated by Matteo Brioni's natural materials, elaborate on the work of the Milanese Maestro through objects, sketches and words printed on curtains like the script of a play.

NendoHs, conceives the installation for Stellar Works as a collage of multiple small theaters arranged in a sequential journey in "The Montage", each theater has a unique orientation and color with stepped levels upon which furniture is displayed. The coveted objects "perform" for visitors, but at the same time, visitors may also find themselves in the spotlight, as various framed openings allow curated views.

There's Salone—and then there's Fuorisalone. What to know outside the show

By Staff

The goings-on in Milanese storefronts and galleries during Salone are arguably just as exciting as the debuts happening on-site at the show. Here's your golden ticket: a guide to the who's who (and what's where) of Fuorisalone, the seven-day city-wide design festival that includes more than 1,000 events.

PRO TIPS

Stick to this simple advice from those who have gone wrong: Tackle one neighborhood at a time. You'll miss too much if you're constantly rushing to get across town.

Fuorisalone's online portal is overflowing with information, but the most crucial page is this map. Trying to figure out the most logical next step? Let geography be your guide.

TRIENNALE DI MILANO

After a 20-year hiatus, the Triennale di Milano returned in 2016 for its 21st edition. This year, the show comes back again with "Broken Nature: Design Takes on Human Survival," an exhibition curated by the prolific Italian curator Paola Antonelli, along with Ala Tannir, Laura Macrae, and Erica Petrillo. The show features a series of installations by designers, engineers and scientists that explores the human connection to the environment. Installations from 22 countries address the overarching theme. In the U.S. pavilion, "RECKONstruct" explores how new materials can help bolster a sustainable, circular economy. (Teatro dell'Arte, Viale Emilio Alemagna 14)

Vernus, a steel concept, part of RECKONstruct. Courtesy of RECKONstruct

"Aqua: Leonardo's Vision" honors the renaissance master's genius in an evocative installation that will focus on his studies of water. Staged in the heart of Milan at the Conca dell'Incoronata canal lock, the show features a massive LED screen that will allow viewers to gaze into the future of the city with a digital skyline that changes over the course of the day. Inside the canal itself, guests will take in a wunderkammer (a cabinet of curiosities) dedicated to the "beauty and energy" of water. The exhibit was created by Marco Balich in partnership with Balich Worldwide Shows. (Conca dell'Incoronata, Via San Marco)

Stellar Works and Aggeranza will join forces for "Behind the Scenes," a theater-inspired showcase appropriately located in a lavish 19th-century theater. It will highlight new pieces from Nerid Ha, Space Copenhagen, OEO Studio and Yabu Pushelberg and Tom Ferroday alongside reissues of midcentury vintage pieces by Vilhelm Wohlert and Jens Risom. 5. The Crawford Collection by Tom Fereday for Lane Crawford and Stellar Works
Luxury Asian department store Lane Crawford has collaborated with furniture brand Stellar Works to create the Crawford collection designed by Sydney-based Tom Fereday (who I first spotted at Stockholm Furniture Fair in 2017 when he was showing his outdoor collection for Australian brand SPOD.

The collection was the result of a Creative Call Out to young, emerging designers in Sydney last year, to help them grow their businesses and scale up production. Comprising a lounge chair, bed, tables and dining chair, the designs are made of a steel frame and smooth, FSC-certified timber elements. The light-coloured, natural fabric gives a soft, tactile finish.

Says Fereday: 'The collection is a considered range with subtle design details and a focus on honest materials and longevity of design. With sustainability as a fundamental core, the Crawford collection was developed with both integrity and longevity in mind.'

The Crawford Collection is available exclusively at Lane Crawford in store and online from this May. I'm not sure if it's something British audiences can easily get their hands on, but it's certainly worth keeping at eye on this up-and-coming designer!

The Evolution of Yabu Pushelberg

Last month in Milan, we sat down with George Yabu and Glenn Pushelberg to ask them a few questions about the studio's growth since it was founded almost four decades ago

The Taylor collection for Stellar Works was among one of the studio's ranges launched at Salone del Mobile this year. Pictured here is the Taylor valet

Design Anthology: You set up the studio almost four decades ago, how much has it all changed since then?

George Yabu: It's changed a lot.

Glenn Pushelberg: For the last five years we've been working on morphing ourselves from an interior design practice into a multi-disciplinary design practice. Now we have a product design team, fabric designers, lighting consultants and a graphic communications department.

Yabu: And they're all trained in these fields; they're not interior designers designing furniture but designers who actually trained in textiles designing textiles or carpets, and furniture designers designing furniture. Our clients say they can tell the difference, because these chairs that we're doing now aren't the same, they're not designed by interior designers, and that's a compliment to us. We're going to hire an architect next.

Pushelberg: The reasons we're doing this is that when you design projects like resorts, you want the ability to design the building, the interiors, the uniforms —all the details.

Yabu: It's a little bit more about complete concepts.

Pushelberg: Yes, so we're doing fewer projects, but designing more holistically.

And as the team has grown have you felt, as creative people, that it's made your lives easier or more challenging?

Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu on Change, Balance and Humility

At Salone del Mobile last month, the founders of Neri&Hu gave us a candid insight into the workings of their distinguished design firm

Suzy Annetta: What are some of the key changes that you've experienced in your studio, your practice and your life in general since you founded Neri&Hu in 2004?

Rossana Hu: We've had to deal with many different transformations. There's been growth. There's more of some things, and then a few other things we learned to juggle better so we can become more efficient, and I think those two balance each other out, in some ways. We've learned how to deal with things as they come, and now have the privilege of being able to select projects. And then there's the family aspect. When our children were younger it was harder for us to be absent, so I didn't travel as much. Compared to Lyndon, I hardly made the international trips, except here to Milan every year, which we would both travel for. But then two years ago all our kids left home; one is at university, one's doing her gap year and actually she's here with us, which has been fun, and our youngest went to boarding school. So that period was like another phase; I realised on the first day that I was at work, after they all had left, that come six o'clock I no longer needed to go home. We now have busier schedules and actually longer working hours. It's interesting, because it's not like we find it harder and harder to deal with the increasing work, we just find different ways of dealing with different things.

Do you do you find it a challenge to stay creative with all these things that you're juggling and the schedules that you have?

Lyndon Neri: Actually, Rossana always says something interesting: if you give me only two or three projects it's going to be dreadful for the client, because I will always change my mind.

Hu: Is that what I say or what you say?

Indre, the new lighting collection by Nikolai Kotlarczyk
September 21, 2020

Nikolai Kotlarczyk first met Michael Murray, director of Melbourne-based lighting company Rakumba by chance at an impromptu dinner of Australian designers in Milan several years ago. "I have no idea who invited me and my friend (and fellow expat Aussie designer) Glen Baghurst to the dinner - maybe it was the guys from Dowel Jones. We didn't really know any of the other Australian designers that well because both of us had been living away from Australia for quite a few years - me in Denmark and Glen in Sweden. Anyway, Michael was there and I think he had seen some of my brass pieces and really liked the story behind them and invited me to send him some ideas" says Kotlarczyk. "It was not until years later that we actually started a proper dialogue, but it stemmed from that chance meeting, as a lot of things do".

Eventually Kotlarczyk and Murray began talking about the specifics of a lighting collection but at first this was focused on large cast glass elements. These proved to be too difficult to manufacture and various other material options were explored including slip cast porcelain. "Although appealing the porcelain process ended up losing some of the original language of the design, so I pretty much started from scratch and presented new concepts" says Kotlarczyk. Two years ago Kotlarczyk and Murray settled on a design that captured something of the emotion of Copenhagen's streets. "I just presented two dimensional drawings, nothing overly detailed but they had the same anchor details and decorative inter-connecting features as what has ended up in the final versions of 'Indre'. The actual design of the lightsource came later at a workshop we did in a cafe in Milan. We knew we wanted a blown glass feature, but we were thinking of ways to incorporate a diffuser and this led to all of us thinking - why not integrate the lighting element and diffuser into a single unit. In hindsight simple, but this was technically very challenging" says Kotlarczyk.

Stellar Works Launches the Taylor Collection by Yabu Pushelberg

Jun 6, 2019 12:25 pm EDT

Stellar Works has unveiled the Taylor Collection designed by Yabu Pushelberg. Grounded in clean, comfortable and functional design, the global design studio sought to create a collection of essentials that effortlessly work together but are not tied to a specific genre. Taylor creates a duality of new and familiar, enabling the collection to translate into a multitude of environments, from restaurants and hotels to residential projects.

The range grew from the initial creation of a sleekly profiled wood framed chair. From here, Yabu Pushelberg evolved the design to create a full collection featuring sofas, chairs, tables, and a cabinet.

Dining Chair and Table

The Taylor Dining Chair is a modern wooden framed chair designed with chamfer details to create an elegant and refined piece. For the chair, the surface of the seat is flushed, integrating the upholstery from seat to frame for an effortlessly striking silhouette.

The Taylor Dining Table is distilled to its purest essence. Yabu Pushelberg has intricately designed a sleek and versatile piece to create an elegant form that can be used for any interior and is perfectly paired with the Taylor Dining Chair, which is available in soap finished walnut.

Bar Stool and Counter Stool

The Taylor Bar Stool and Counter Stool are modern designs also featuring chamfer details. As with the dining chair, the surface of the seat is flushed for a modern yet classic aesthetic.

Glass Cabinet

The Taylor Glass Cabinet was designed as a minimal display and storage unit adopting a modern style and aesthetic echoed throughout the Taylor collection.

Sofa and Lounge Chair

The Taylor Sofa is a sectional piece designed with soft curves and minimal upholstery details in the seat, back, and armrests. A companion piece to the Taylor Sofa, the Taylor Lounge Chair is seductive and multidimensional in shape and form and echoes the lines of the Taylor Sofa.

Five furniture design highlights from Clerkenwell Design Week 2019

Augusta Pownall | 22 May 2019 | Leave a comment

With Clerkenwell Design Week in full swing, design editor Augusta Pownall picks out five of the best new furniture designs showing there, including a height-adjustable stool and a bench designed by Foster + Partners.

Clerkenwell Design Week is a three-day festival that sees design events take place all over the small London district, which is home to many architectural studios and furniture showrooms.

This year's event takes place from 21 to 23 May, at venues including nightclub Fabric, St James Church and a former prison.

Here's our pick of the five best new products on show:

Crawford bed by Tom Fereday with Lane Crawford for Stellar Works

The three-way collaboration of Australian designer Tom Fereday with department store Lane Crawford and Stellar Works was the result of the store's Creative Call Out Sydney in 2018, for which the prize was the chance to create a collection for the brand.

The resulting Crawford collection comprises a lounge chair, table range, dining chair and bed. The solid timber bed has a low backrest and a linear steel frame that also provides an integrated bed head.

"I develop products based on the principle of honest design," says Fereday. "This involves celebrating the materials and manufacturing processes behind my furniture and striving to create enduring products that are meaningful to people and our environment."

中国 CHINA DESIGN POWER 设计力

"China is fast becoming the world's creative superpower"

Marcus Fairs | 17 April 2019 | Leave a comment

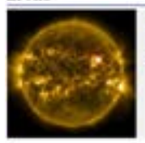

The design world flocked to Milan last week for its design week. But soon the action will shift to China, which is about to leapfrog the west when it comes to architecture and design, predicts Dezeen editor-in-chief Marcus Fairs.

China is fast becoming the world's creative superpower. And it is doing it on its own terms. No longer an emerging nation that needs to learn from the west or copy its way to commercial success, China is in many ways already ahead of the rest of the world.

And it is moving fast. Bewildered visitors to the country talk about "China speed" – the incredible velocity at which buildings get built, products get launched, start-ups get started, technologies get adopted.

Dockless bike-sharing networks are a good example of China speed in action. The first provider, Ofo, launched in 2014 and within a couple of years millions of rental bikes, unlocked via a smartphone app, were visible on Chinese streets. The market subsequently contracted dramatically but the speed and scale of the rollout of an entirely new urban mobility service was astonishing.

Another example is WeChat, the app that combines social media, messaging, payment and web functionality that is streets ahead of anything we have in the west.

Meanwhile China's ballooning middle class is developing a taste for high-quality design. Hotel chains and property developers are specifying certified products instead of knockoffs, and they are doing so in huge quantities. According to Stellar Works founder Yuichiro Hori, there were 762 openings of new high-quality hotels in China last year, and 54 in Shanghai alone. And they want their architects to specify original products, not copies.

This has led to a boom in sales for design brands. Most of these are from abroad, with European brands investing heavily in China, and looking beyond Shanghai and Beijing. Danish furniture and lighting brand Fritz Hansen recently opened its largest-ever standalone store in Xi'an. Fellow Danish brand Hay opened a store there the same week.

But Chinese brands are increasingly grabbing the action too. The Design Shanghai fair, the biggest in China, has grown exponentially since it was first launched in 2014, becoming the biggest of its kind in China. This year it covered a sprawling 35,000 square metres of the vast Shanghai Exhibition Centre.

> 'Demand for design is now spreading from the major "first-tier" cities of Shanghai, Beijing, Guangzhou and Shenzhen to second- and third-tier cities'

In its early years the fair showcased just two local companies among the mostly western brands, but the percentage of home-grown exhibitors has grown dramatically, this year representing almost 25 per cent of the 400 exhibitors. This year, for the first time, Stellar Works used the fair to launch products in its home city, feeling the domestic market is now established enough to be a platform to rival Milan.

Stellar Works launches furniture at Design Shanghai for first time

Augusta Pownall | 11 March 2019 | Leave a comment

Shanghai furniture brand Stellar Works has for the first time launched products in China rather than Milan, unveiling pieces by Nerikilla, Jens Risom and Space Copenhagen at the Design Shanghai fair.

The brand presented new designs by Nerikilla and Space Copenhagen, plus additional reissues of mid-century pieces by Jen Risom.

Stellar Works launched new pieces to the Slow collection of furniture by Space Copenhagen in Shanghai

The brand will launch further items at Milan design week next month, but its decision to unveil part of the collection in China is a first for the company and a vote of confidence in China's burgeoning contemporary design scene.

"It's the first launch for us in Shanghai because every year in the past we have always launched in Milan," said Stellar Works founder Yuichiro Hori.

"Milan is very important, but it's also important to say we are in Shanghai, that Shanghai is becoming international and that there's lots of design movement here."

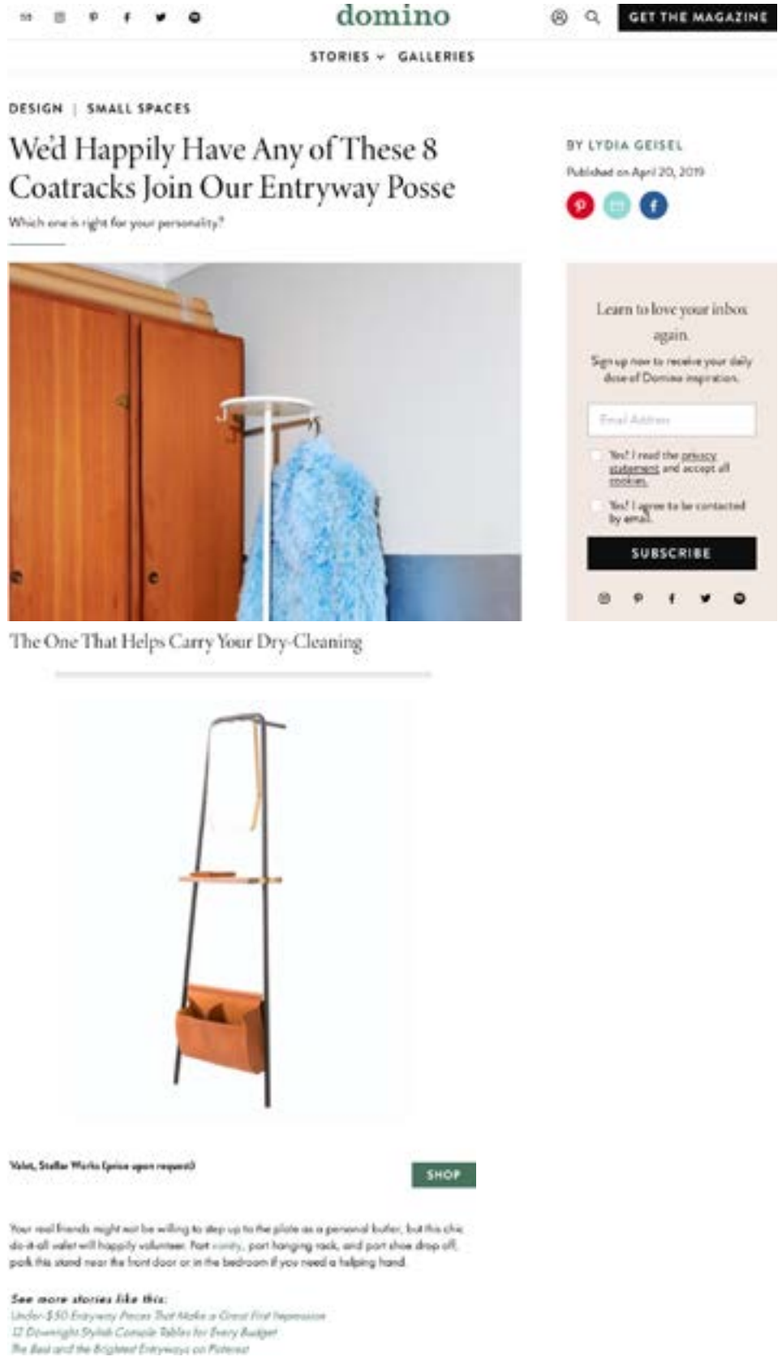

Nerikilla's Discipline sofa and Band table are additions to their designs for the Shanghai-based brand

Along with the other pieces in the collection, the pieces are inspired by the chair Space Copenhagen designed for 108, a restaurant in Copenhagen.

Stellar Works x OEO Studio | Lucent

"The design ethos behind Lucent is playful, analogue and sculptural – a distillation of the essential elements of form and function."

Stellar Works, established in 2012, is a brand that brings together ideas, think: 'East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry.' Launched with an aim to 'inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics, taking the forms, styles and motifs that have characterised Japanese design across the centuries and filtering them through the lens of the European tradition to create something new and timeless.' Alongside this ethos, Stellar Works believes that sustainability is fundamental to good quality and timeless design, something we here at enki believe in too.

The design brand has just announced its collaboration with Copenhagen-based OEO Studio on the creation of its first lighting collection, Lucent. As a long-term partner of the brand (OEO Studio was part of the team that shaped Stellar Works brand and design philosophy when it launched back in 2012), it was a no-brainer for the brand's Creative Directors, Lyndon Neri and Rosanna Hu to commission the studio to design and create the new series of lights.

In terms of the brief, it was of course important for OEO Studio to mirror the ethos and spirit of Stellar Works: where Asian design influences meet effortlessly with a more timeless, international style that will work across both consumer and contract environments. Within the collection you'll discover everything from a desk lamp, to floor lamp and small and larger pendants. The soft, comforting glow of Lucent's oval bulb will instantly entrance, while the designs' sculpted base and contemporary lines bring a dynamic, mechanical composition to the table too. OEO Studio took inspiration from analogue experiences when designing Lucent. For instance, the ritual of playing vinyl on a record player, or taking photo's with a camera.

Q&A With Yuichiro Hori, Founder And CEO Of Shanghai-Made Furniture Brand Stellar Works

Y-Jean Mun-Delsalle Contributor ⓘ
Watches & Jewelry

Yuichiro Hori, founder and CEO of Stellar Works, discusses how his furniture brand is reinventing "Made in China", proudly showing off its Shanghai-based manufacturing and how it has single-mindedly challenged the stereotype that China is only synonymous with mass-volume and low-quality production.

Why are you proud of the "Made in Shanghai" label?

People have a fixed mindset of "Made in China", so we want to go the opposite way. China is the biggest production platform for any industry, but nobody creates a brand. It's a new approach, a different angle and brings curiosity. Shanghai is very international and diverse, so what's important is not the origin of the manufacturing, but the story of the brand, the quality and design. We're a Japanese-French company, a joint venture. Our Shanghai factory is a kind of hybrid: we use Japanese manufacturing operations, Toyota production systems, like how to arrange production planning, systems or visible quality control. Now lots of Japanese companies are using this method to get the best efficiency and the best quality management, so it's also useful for furniture factories. We brought this Japanese know-how to Shanghai, but the technical know-how is from France, and many of our workers are Chinese. Our managers are Italian, Japanese and French, and they manage the whole production quality using Chinese resources.

Der australische Designer Tom Fereday hat für das luksuriöse asiatische Lifestyle- und Luxus-Kaufhaus Lane Crawford seine erste Kollektion gestaltet. The Crowford Collection besteht aus einem Lounge-Sessel, einem Tisch, mehreren Teilen und einem Esstischmodell. Fereday war Gewinner der letztjährigen Creative Call Out Campaign von Lane Crawford. Dieses Programm zur Unterstützung von Nachwuchsdesignern beinhaltet eine 18-monatige Partnerschaft, in der Fereday die Gelegenheit hatte, eine exklusive Kollektion zu entwickeln. Interessant an der Arbeit des Australiers ist die Fusion aus nachhaltigen Materialien und asiatischer Sensibilität in der Formfindung, die aber für ein internationales Publikum erfahrbar gemacht wird. In Mailand wird die Kollektion in Kooperation mit der asiatischen Designmarke Stellar Works präsentiert. Apropos Stellar Works – unter dem Titel „Behind The Scenes" zeigt das Label in der Galleria Teatro Museum eine theatralische Inszenierung aus neuen Kollektionen von Nendo, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg, OEO Studio und Tom Fereday neben Mid-Century Arbeiten von Vilhelm Wohlert und Jens Risom. Für diese Ausstellung kooperiert Stellar Works mit Agapecasa.

In einem Projekt mit Beteiligung des Mailänder Polytechnikums «CILAB» geht es um das Spielerische im Wohnen und Zusammenleben. „The Playful Living" zeigt auf 150 m² und zwei Ebenen Möglichkeiten, alle Facetten des Lebens mit spielerischer Energie aufzuladen. Objekte, Materialien, Licht und Möbel werden so gestaltet sein, dass sie Emotionen und die Kreativität sowohl von Erwachsenen als auch von Kindern anregen. Aspekte des modernen Wohnens unter dem Blickwinkel des Spielerischen sollen in diesem Rahmen – in der Via Tortona (Opificio 31) – in Expertenrolle, runden Tischen und Workshops diskutiert werden. Die Veranstalter planen ein tägliches Programm von Meetings mit Experten, Eltern und Kindern.

Stellar Works showcased a series of new pieces at Furniture China, China's leading furniture expo from 9 – 12 September 2019. Stellar Works presented spaces that are themed for domestic and residential settings, leading visitors through nine interior 'rooms' with the journey culminating in an outdoor space by Maiori Design. The spaces showcased Stellar Works' contemporary designs in a variety of environments and contexts, celebrating indoor and outdoor living, with many new pieces being shown for the first time in China. Stellar Works is also partnering with Maiori who presented complimentary outdoor living options.

Each of the nine 'rooms' takes on a different personality, utilising Stellar Works' most recent launches to create an assortment of environments that highlight the versatility of the brand's new collections. The pieces include designs from Stellar Works' Creative Directors Nendo and long-term collaborators Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg, and OEO Studio that debuted in Milan in April this year. In addition, Stellar Works showcased its first collection with Australian designer Tom Fereday.

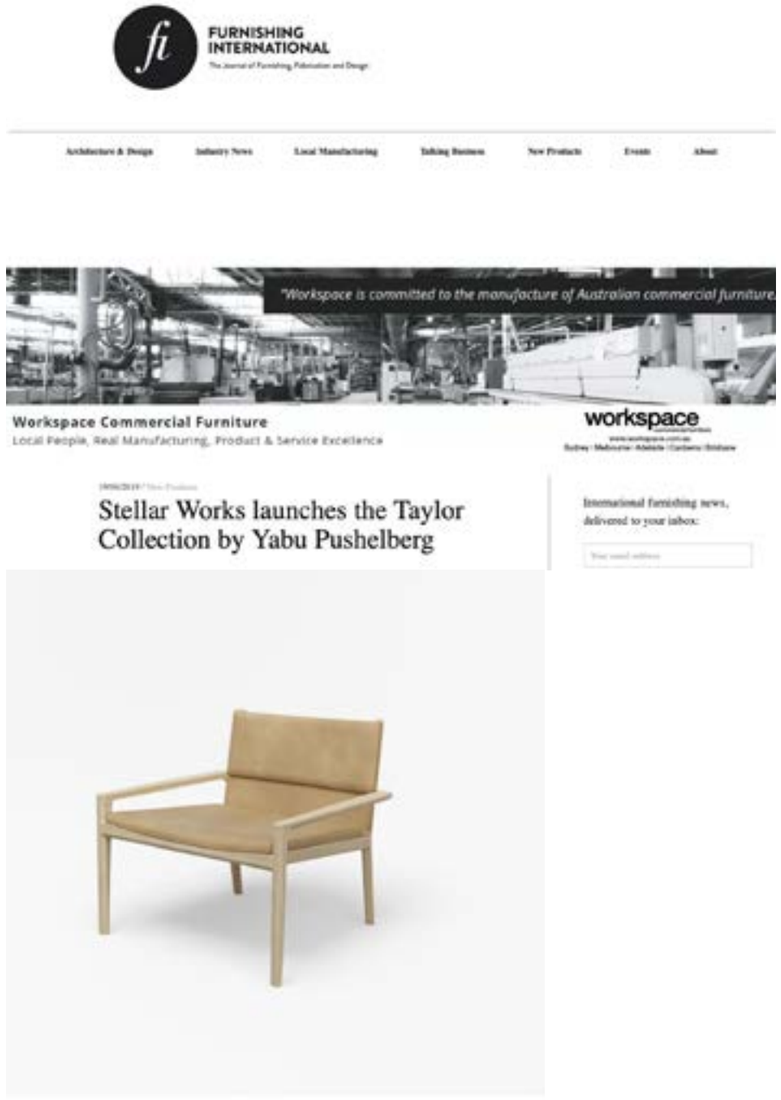

The award-winning Crawford Collection by Tom Fereday is the Australian designer's first collaboration with Stellar Works and represents a fusion of cultures that celebrates the growing design movement in the Asia Pacific region. Fereday's designs utilise natural materials, tactile finishes and subtle, yet elegant details.

堪雄一策：让Stellar Works成为代表亚洲的设计品牌

点击: 7902 次 来源: 美国室内设计中文网 时间: 2019-04-12

（采访/美国《室内设计》中文版资深编辑杨阳）

2019 年3月，2012年成立的新兴家具品牌Stellar Works首次在设计上海发布了他们的新品系列，包括创意总监Neri&Hu的3件新作，以及来自Space Copenhagen和Jens Risom的新作。

诞生于上海的Stellar Works，始终立足于从经典风格和传统手工艺中汲取创作灵感，所设计的产品从设计理念、外观造型及使用功能上，皆展现了经典与现代及东西方美学文化的融合。

创意总监Neri&Hu的新作为Discipline Sofa、Bund Table和Cabinet of Curiosity衣柜系列。

Discipline Sofa包含了4个不同形状的软包模块，并配以利落的质感框架，以其严谨的结构感而得名。简约的几何造型及严丝合缝的模块衔接更是其点睛之笔。该沙发可自由组配成不同的形状，如私密的L字型、2D米的加长款、亦或是背靠背的中岛组合，使空间的创造性设计成为可能。

Bund系列的设计灵感来自上海的外滩，它不仅充分地体现了上海的过去、现在与未来，同时又结合了这座城市出色的工业往绩和多元化的西方色彩元素，该系列包括了餐椅、吧椅及休闲椅等家具产品。此次的新作Bund Table延续了一贯的简约风格，以采用不同材质拼接对比为设计亮点，打破了传统概念中大理石底座搭配黄铜桌面的厚重感，通过应用精致的线条及纤巧的比例，使整体呈现出轻盈的视觉感。

Stellar Works x Appiccani

Stellar, who has been in Tortona, came to the luxury area with Appiccani this year. Inspired by the Marconi Theatre in the 1950s, he created the exhibition "behind the scenes", the former theme of which is "Montage". The theater is a place to "see and be seen". If you think of it here, the roles of the audience and actors are often vague. The exhibition consists of eight "drama" collages that appear in successive arcades, with new products from Nordifu, Space Copenhagen, OEO Studio and Tom Freudley.

take a seat: 8 of the best hallway benches

Sign up to our newsletter

BY JACKY PARKER MARCH 09, 2019

Leaving your shoes at the door when you come home is a good habit to get into – cleaner floors and rested feet anyone? In fact in some cultures, it's considered rude to leave them on if you're visiting someone's home. But we love it as it's a habit that also cries out for some stylish furniture.

A smart hallway bench will provide the practical benefits of having somewhere to sit while you, your family or your guests, switch footwear – or rest your bags while hanging up your coat when you get in, but it can also make a chic focal point in an otherwise bare entrance hall.

Our edit of the best hallway benches spans a range of styles that would suit most modern homes whether a bijou apartment or grand family abode. Read on and you'll find simple Scandinavian looks and pale blonde timber at both Pib and Ikea. There's luxurious Hollywood glamour at Houseology, boho luxe at Graham and Green or a Shaker influence at Staffan Tollgård.

We've discovered dark and dramatic geometric shapes at Bo Concept and Nest, while the bench by David Rockwell for Stellar Works has a valet pouch for storing things you might need when you leave the next morning.

Whichever bench you decide on, the advantages are more than purely aesthetic.

8 Bedroom Layout Solutions to Solve Any Problem

Awkwardly Empty Corner

This might be the oldest rule in the playbook, but if you have an awkward empty corner in your bedroom, fill it with a small reading nook. A chair, side table, and a floor lamp can add just the right layer of sophistication to a space without overwhelming it—and it also breaks up the hard lines of storage furniture. Other great options include a bench or a luggage rack.

Stellar Works

Stellar Works was established in 2012 as a way to bring ideas together: East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry, bringing the best of the past into the light of the present. Their aim was to inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics, taking the forms, styles and motifs that have characterized Japanese design across the centuries and filtering them through the lens of the European tradition to create something new and timeless.

Stellar Work's creative direction is overseen by the Neri&Hu Design and Research Office. Founded in 2004, the design practice is based in Shanghai and London and led by architects Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu. The company's diverse, multicultural team strives to reinvent classic craft, adding a fresh, contemporary touch to their projects and collaborations all over the world. Photo: Taran Wikhu.

«BEHIND THE SCENES», POR STELLAR WORKS Y AGAPECASA

08 de marzo de 2019

Stellar Works, la principal marca de diseño de Asia, expone en la Galleria Manzoni de Milán durante la Semana del Diseño de Milán 2019 (del 8 al 13 de abril). La instalación forma parte de 'Behind the Scenes', una colaboración con Agapecasa para la cual las dos marcas crearán instalaciones que hacen referencia a sus propias interpretaciones dramáticas del teatro, inspiradas en el vecino Teatro Manzoni. Las dos marcas también compartirán un «vestíbulo de entrada» central que reúne los dos conceptos creativos.

La instalación de Stellar Works titulada 'The Montage' está concebida por los directores creativos de Stellar Works, Neri & Hu. Para 'The Montage', Neri & Hu se inspiraron en los alrededores del magnífico Teatro Manzoni de la década de 1950, al referirse al teatro como un lugar para «ver y ser visto» y en donde los «roles del espectador y el intérprete a menudo pueden ser borrosos. La instalación se ejecuta como un collage de múltiples «teatros» organizados en un viaje secuencial a lo largo de la Galería.

Stellar Works partners with Yabu Pushelberg on Taylor range

30 SEPTEMBER 2019 | IN PRODUCTS | BY DONNA SALEK

Stellar Works has revealed its Taylor collection designed by Yabu Pushelberg, featuring a range of sofas, chairs, tables and a cabinet.

The Taylor dining chair is wooden-framed with modern, chamfer details and a flushed seat surface that integrates the upholstery from seat to frame to create a striking silhouette, whilst the matching dining table is intricately designed and available in soap-finished walnut. The bar stool and counter stool in the collection also feature chamfer details and a flushed seat surface for a modern yet classic aesthetic.

The sofa is a sectional piece designed with soft curves and minimal upholstery details in the seat, back and arm rests and, echoing the lines in the sofa, the complementary lounge chair is multidimensional in shape and form. Designed as a structural form, the Taylor valet is a three-legged wooden piece that is balanced by a fixed stone tray.

For the collection, Yabu Pushelberg refined every detail to its essence, breaking down ideas to their most basic elements to meet people's needs. The collection values modesty, ensuring that each detail does not infringe on the other and instead unites to create a strong, collective character.

"We designed the collection in a similar way you tailor a bespoke suit; with precision and

Stellar Works introduces Crawford range

9 MAY 2019 | IN PRODUCTS | BY BEN THOMAS

Stellar Works has launched its first ever collection with Australian designer Tom Fereday and Asia's luxury department store Lane Crawford. The Crawford collection was conceived following Lane Crawford's Creative Call Out Sydney in 2018, for which Tom Fereday was the winner, to create a new furniture range for Stellar Works. Part of the series was showcased in Milan for the Salone del Mobile, though it will have its full UK debut at Clerkenwell Design Week.

Comprising a lounge chair, bed, table range and dining chair, the series follows Stellar Works' ethos and was developed on the principle of design that celebrates Asian sensibilities but reinterprets them for an international audience.

The refined Crawford Lounge Sofa, crafted from solid timber with a low-slung design and linear steel frame, is available in both an armed and armless versions, while a second minimal solid timber chair is designed to embrace the user with a formed and shaped backrest. The chair is characterised by a stainless steel frame that supports the sculptural timber elements and allows for stacking, while its seat comes in upholstered or timber options.

The Crawford Table range meanwhile features a chamfered solid timber top set above steell frame legs. With bespoke brass fittings and a removable rotating central platter, the table encourages a social dining experience. A smaller coffee table is also available.

Stellar Works outlines plans for Milan Design Week

14 MARCH 2019 | IN PRODUCTS | BY BEN THOMAS

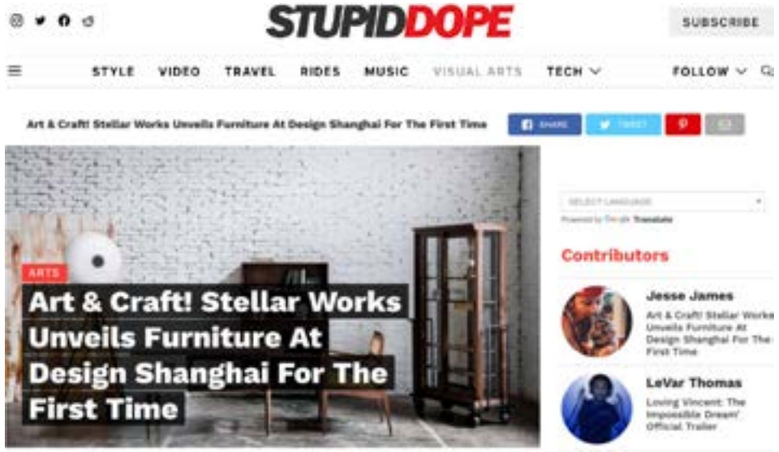

Stellar Works has revealed its plans for Milan Design Week 2019, where it is set to collaborate with Agapecasa at Galleria Manzoni as part of a Behind the Scenes installation. The two brands reference their own dramatic interpretations of theatre – inspired by the neighbouring Teatro Manzoni, and will share a central entrance foyer that brings together the two creative concepts.

Conceived by Stellar Works' creative directors Neri&Hu, the concept will see the brand taking over multiple spaces within the iconic Galleria, where they will showcase new furniture and lighting designs by Neri&Hu, Space Copenhagen, Yabu Pushelberg, OEO Studio and Tom Fereday, alongside reissues of mid-century vintage pieces by Vilhelm Wohlert and Jens Risom.

Taking inspiration from the surroundings of the 1950s Teatro Manzoni, 'The Montage' references the theatre as a place to see and be see, where the roles of the spectator and performer can often be blurred. The installation is executed as a collage of multiple small theatres arranged in a sequential journey along the Galleria.

Each theatre features its own orientation and colour palette, with stepped levels acting as stages displaying the new collections. Visitors will also find themselves in the spotlight, with framed openings offering multiple views and also allowing glimpses of the

The Shanghai-based furniture brand, Stellar Works is launching new products at Design Shanghai for the very first time. The brand has revealed pieces by Neri&Hu, Jens Risom, and Space Copenhagen at the Design Shanghai fair. The new designs also include reissues of mid-century pieces, while offering all new designs too. Stellar Works founder Yuichiro Hori stated: "It's the first launch for us in Shanghai because every year in the past we have always launched in Milan," adding "Milan is very important, but it's also important to say we are in Shanghai, that Shanghai is becoming international and that there's lots of design movement here."

Stella Works also launched the Discipline sofa, Bund table, and Cabinet of Curiosity: Dress. These come as part of a long-running collaboration with Shanghai architects Lyndon Neri and Rossana Hu. The sofa boasts a wooden base that sits low on metal legs. The cushioned backrest and buttoned upholstered seat make a nice touch It can be configured from a small two-seater sofa, up to a 20-meter-long bench, or placed back-to-back. Neri&Hu spoke about their creations, stating: "The wardrobe rests on a metal trolley inspired by scenes from a ceramic factory, before the cart enters the furnace," adding "The furnace represents the trials and tribulations we all encounter in life, from which we offer up sweat and tears, pain and pleasure."

Studio Seven: Leather Chairs

Here are seven of the latest leather armchairs

March 2019

Carl Hansen & Son
A decade after the first Borge Mogensen's Huntsman Chair was first presented at the Copenhagen Cabinetmakers' Guild Furniture Exhibition in 1950, it is now being put into production at Carl Hansen & Son. The Huntsman Chair complements the Hunting table and is made from smoked oak and saddle leather. Carefully skived for a smooth transition between layers, the leather panels can be mounted on either brass or stainless steel brackets.

Established & Sons
Designed by Jamie Hayon, the Tudor chair is a rich piece of British history, thanks to its detailed leather stitching which features a pattern that has been used since the 1500s. Available in white or black, it is finished with gold legs and leaf stitching. It measures 46cm-wide x 56cm-deep x 92cm-high.

Natuzzi
The Agronomist Collection is the newest collaboration between Natuzzi Italia and Marcel Wanders. Made using rich leather upholstery, the Furrow armchair is finished with intricate saddle stitching. The leather used is from the brand's Heritage collection, created specifically for this range. It is finished in a glossy texture for a retro feel.

Stellar Works: To See and Be Seen
Living with Art & Design Apr 3, 2019
Stellar Works collaborated with Agapecasa to create 'Behind the Scenes': an exhibition in Galleria Manzoni where both brands share their view on theatre.
Text by Mechteld Jungerius
This Milan design week Asia's leading global brand Stellar Works shows The Montage from 8 - 14 April at Galleria Manzoni. The installation is part of Behind the Scenes which is a collaboration with Agapecasa. The brands share a central entrance foyer that brings together two creative concepts that take inspiration from theatre and Teatro Manzoni. This joint foyer leads visitors to two respective displays.
The Montage is inspired by the neighboring Teatro Manzoni. It references to the theatre as a place 'to see and be seen'. Where the line between spectator and performer is blurred.
The installation is arranged in different small theatres in the Galleria each featuring its own perspective and color palette, creating a collage. Together, a sequential journey is formed with stepped levels acting as stages. Each displays new furniture and lighting from a myriad of designers.
The Crawford Collection shows a sofa, bed, tables and a dining chair are shown. Following Stellar Works' ethos, the collection was developed on the principle of honest design that celebrates Asian sensibilities, whilst reinterpreting them for an international audience.
Stellar Design collaborated with Copenhagen-based OEO studio to create its first lighting collection, Lucent, that is also on display. OEO Studio's design draws inspiration from analog experiences and rituals, such as playing vinyl on a record player or taking photos with a camera.
A well-known acquainted Space Copenhagen debuts a number of new collections in The Montage. Covering a range of furniture typologies, the collections continue to tie together Japanese and Scandinavian design traditions.

Thanks to the conductive strap, the lights could be shifted along the strap by releasing a clamp and sliding them along to the desired position, all the while being able to draw electricity once clamped again. This also meant that as well as being suspended as a pendant light, the system could span between walls, or between floor and ceiling (in what this design nerd thinks is the best homage to Achille Castiglioni's Parentesi so far).

framed houses built by developers such as Joseph Eichler. These modest designs would later have a great influence on the Louisiana Museum.

Wohlert was invited to work on Louisiana in the mid-1950s by its founder Knud W Jensen, who had bought a 19th-century villa in Humlebæk, just north of Copenhagen, in order to turn it into Denmark's first contemporary art gallery. Working with fellow architect Jørgen Bo, Wohlert devoted the next 30 years to the project, designing a group of buildings that sit alongside the villa. The first wing opened in 1958, and was followed by four others and a concert hall in the ensuing years.

Linked by glass walkways and cobbled paths, the museum's low-lying pavilions almost disappear into the wooded landscape. Inside, exposed brickwork, timber ceilings and full-height glass walls offer panoramic views of the trees. The museum's café is especially picturesque, overlooking the waters of the Øresund across to Sweden.

Tasked by Jensen with finding stacking chairs for concerts and lectures, Wohlert went a step further and designed his own, with a curved shape and clever angles that allow it to be stacked. Stellar Works' reissue of the design now graces the Louisiana Museum café, where, surrounded by brick tiles, concrete and warm wood, it's destined to win many new admirers. stellarworks.com

The design of Aston evolves to offer even more comfort. The result is Aston Club by Jean-Marie Massaud, a seat of extraordinary yet discreet elegance. With an eye on sustainability: the internal parts of the seat are in recycled post-industrial plastic. At the end of its life, Aston Club - produced without glues - can be completely disassembled for recycling or reuse of all the materials.
7. STELLAR WORKS | KITE
Three collections mark the debut of the collaboration of the brand with Nendo. Alongside the Blend stools and the steel Frame system, we should mention the Kite line of seating: a compact chair created for commercial and hospitality spaces, thanks to its reduced structure. The back (in two heights) is the distinctive feature, embracing the whole chair to create a protective shell for greater privacy.

A Moegash Mule or Sunset Swindle or Old Fruit Fashioned to sip at sundown, in the vintage atmosphere of the Pacific Standard Bar on the 41st floor of Alila Bangsar, the hotel designed by Neri&Hu Design and Research Office. In an up-and-coming zone of Kuala Lumpur, the hotel occupies the ground level and last 8 floors of a new tower, with five levels of guestrooms and three of public facilities. These are concentrated around the external courtyard that extends for three levels, defined by a regular grid of columns and beams, the leitmotif of the entire building. The two upper levels of the courtyard contain the restaurant, the cocktail bar and an outdoor bar. The Pacific Standard Bar, with gilded accents and green marble walls, is furnished with the Utility collection by Stellar Works, designed by the duo Neri&Hu. This sophisticated series of seats and bar stools combines luxurious materials like wood and leather with elegant lines. The collection is ideal for any setting, from high-end hotels to residences.

Zen-Minimalismus aus Shanghai: Die neue Kollektion von Stellar Works

Fiona Bornhoft | 14. Mai 2020

Design | Holz | Möbel | News | Produkt

Japanische Design-Ästhetik harmoniert besonders gut mit skandinavischem Minimalismus. Fügt man noch einen Hauch französischer Raffinesse hinzu, nähert man sich dem Gelingrezept von Stellar Works. Die neuen Möbelstücke des chinesischen Unternehmens versinen scheinbar mühelos Stilrichtungen aus der ganzen Welt.

2020 wird ein wichtiges Jahr für das für das in Shanghai ansässige Design-Unternehmen Stellar Works. Alle paar Monate soll eine neue Kollektion – mit verschiedenen Kooperationspartnern – lanciert werden. Neri&Hu und OEO Studio machen den Anfang: mit einem neuen Stuhl und einem filigranen Regal.

Stapelbar! Der Name ist beim „Stack Chair" offensichtlich Programm. Doch Lyndon Neri und Rossana Hu, Kreativdirektoren von Stella Works, entwerfen ein Sitzmöbel das eigentlich viel zu schade zum Verstauen ist. Das grazile Leichtgewicht beruht auf einem Gestell aus dünnem Stahlrohr, das der Silhouette des Stuhls folgt und die formierte Lehne und Sitzfläche unauffällig stützt. Graphisch elegant und trotzdem bequem, kann der Stuhl verschiedenste Funktionen einnehmen – und bei Bedarf fast verschwinden.

Stellar Works' new extended collection is here

Stellar Works extends a selection of its celebrated collections by Space Copenhagen, Hallgeir Hornstvedt and Tom Fereday

As part of its 2020 collection, Stellar Works unveiled extensions to existing collections by long-term collaborators Space Copenhagen, as well as Oslo-based Hallgeir Hornstvedt and Australian designer Tom Fereday. The extensions to the three distinctive collections result from the design expertise of each of these talented international designers paired with Stellar Works' unrivalled ability in craftsmanship. Each collection piece seeks to celebrate Stellar Works' ethos for a refined international aesthetics with nuances of Asian culture.

Initially launched at Milan 2019 with an elegant bar stool, the Freja collection by Space Copenhagen has been extended with two low stools and a bench, whose soothing visual appeal celebrates the Scandinavian furniture-making traditions while conveying a Japanese way of expression.

KITE Sessel für kleine Räume von Stellar Works und Nendo

Hersteller: Stellar Works
Designer: Nendo

07.07.2020

Gemütlichkeit für kleine Nischen
Das asiatische Label Stellar Works hat sich erstmals für eine Kooperation mit Nendo zusammengetan. Das Ergebnis sind drei Kollektionen – Blend, Kite und Frame. In einem Statement von Oki Sato, Gründer des japanischen Designstudios, heißt es dazu: „Ich glaube, eines der stärksten Merkmale von Stellar Works ist das Design und die Funktionalität der Produkte, wodurch sie sowohl zu Hause als auch in öffentlichen Räumen eingesetzt werden können. Wir nutzten eine ähnliche Herangehensweise im Entwurfsprozess dieser Kollektionen."

Schwebendes Detail

Der Hocker Blend – entworfen von Nendo für das asiatische Label Stellar Works – bringt ein besonderes Detail mit sich: Seine drei Beine sollten ursprünglich mit klassischen Querbalken verbunden werden. Doch das japanische Designstudio entschied sich im Gestaltungsprozess dazu, den Querverbindungen eine Biegung zu verleihen, die in vertikalen Verläufen endet und so für Stabilität und eine minimalistische Rückenlehne sorgt. Ein einziger Querbalken verbleibt und dient als Fußauflage. Diese strukturelle Veränderung wird zum Hingucker des gesamten Entwurfs.

Como parte de sus lanzamientos 2020, Stellar Works y el estudio de diseño Nendo compartieron las primeras imágenes de sus tres nuevas colecciones: Blend, Frame y Kite.

Cada una de las piezas comparten y aprovechan la experiencia en diseño y el meticuloso proceso del estudio de Oki Sato junto con la capacidad inigualable en la artesanía para la producción de muebles y accesorios de Stellar Works.

Blend es un taburete para bar de tres patas que combina un marco de metal negro con madera maciza de nogal y roble. Además, cuenta con un reposapies de barra transversal y existen cinco variaciones disponibles, donde la que más destaca es la que las patas forman parte del respaldo.

Frame es más bien un marco de acero siempre en forma de L diseñado para ser multipropósitos, que van desde fungir como toallero o sostener un espejo, hasta utilizarse como un estante.

Finalmente, Kite es un sillón compacto diseñado para espacios comerciales y de hospitalidad, particularmente en lugares pequeños, para ofrecer un poco de calma y seguridad. El respaldo y el asiento son partes independientes con espacios poco profundos.

Stellar Works launches the first round of its new 2020 collections

By Canadian Interiors — On Apr 29, 2020

Share

For 2020, Stellar Works is set to launch a series of collections throughout the year by new and existing collaborators. In keeping with the brand's heritage in creating pieces which celebrate contemporary Asian craft and international aesthetics, Stellar Works has worked with collaborators OEO Studio and Neri&Hu.

Neri&Hu, creative directors of Stellar Works, are responsible for the Stack chair. This lightweight, multi-purpose chair is designed with a thin tubular steel frame, which acts as the supporting element for the seat but also follows the entire silhouette of the chair as a distinctive design feature. The continuous lines give Stack a strong graphic character, while maintaining softness and comfort, due to the three-dimensional steel bending technique used. As its name alludes, the Stack chair is stackable, to also optimize its storage and space requirements when not in use.

Danish designers OEO Studio have collaborated with Stellar Works since the company was founded in 2012. This year OEO Studio present Seiton, a new versatile modular storage system that can be adapted to form high and low shelving and cabinet options. Seiton can also be configured as a freestanding room divider and comes in an easy to assemble flat pack. Seiton is a functional piece made from wood with powder coated steel and burnished brass elements, the design will be available in walnut and oak.

Komfortabler Minimalismus
Im Rahmen einer ganzen Reihe von Kooperationen arbeiten Stellar Works erneut mit dem in Shanghai ansässigen Studio Neri&Hu zusammen. Der gemeinsame Austausch brachte dieses Mal den Stack Chair hervor. Ein Stuhl, der durch sein dünnes pulverbeschichtetes Stahlrohrgestell definiert wird. Es ist sowohl das tragende als auch verbindende Element der Sitzfläche und Rückenlehne und sorgt so für die luftige, minimalistische Erscheinung des Stuhls. Die sanften Rundungen des schwarzen Gestells sowie die abgerundeten Ecken der aus Furnierschichtholz hergestellten Sitzfläche und Lehne verleihen dem Stack Chair eine einladende Gemütlichkeit – trotz des sonst so zurückhaltenden Designs. Der Stuhl ist ein stapelbares Leichtgewicht und eignet sich somit für private und öffentliche sowie kleine Räume. as

The Salone that Didn't Happen

Before Milano Design City, set to open later this month, there was the Salone that didn't happen. Here we round up our favourite new pieces that would have launched in Milan earlier this year, and while some of them will be launched in the city later this month, we're looking forward to seeing them all in person as soon as we're able to

With Design City Milano opening later this month as a smaller stand-in for Salone del Mobile, we round up our picks of the new pieces that were set to debut at this year's edition of the design world's biggest gathering. The government-backed Milano Design City will run for two weeks from September 28th, taking place across showrooms and other design venues, and aims to celebrate the capital's culture of design and innovation, emphasising the re-design of urban spaces, sustainability and circular economy. But for those of us who won't be making it to Europe anytime soon, here are our top picks of the launches we would have seen in Milan earlier this year.

Design in the time of Covid-19

London, UK

How has the design industry adapted to lockdown life? When this is all over, what lessons and innovations will we take forward and what will we leave behind?

It's a mantra being repeated widely in design circles: do we need continuous growth? "There is clearly an opportunity to challenge the status quo and recalibrate what is important and how it might change," says Lloyd. "The unfettered culture of production and consumption that we have all become so familiar with is both a symptom and cause of the global world that allowed Covid-19 to so easily take control. I believe that the patterns of life will reform as a result of the crisis."

That said, there are those coming out of lockdown demonstrating how things can return to what we once called normal, and maybe the world won't look so different after all. Stellar Works' factory in Jaiding, China is back to 90% production, with new collections launching digitally later this month. "Thankfully, we are now on the other side of the outbreak and business here is returning to normal," says CEO and founder, Yuichiro Hori.

But will minds and bank balances allow us to return to pre-lockdown consumption? New York's David Rockwell is optimistic: "As a firm we have weathered national and international crises before, from 9/11 to the Great Recession and emerged stronger. We shouldn't quickly assume a different world. There are parts of the human experience that are fundamental to who we are and that includes socialising, dining together, gathering for theatre and entertainment, and learning together. Our work is about creating environments that are in total service to our rituals, enhancing whatever real time, in person interactions are taking place within the space – to make them more memorable, more emotional and ultimately more meaningful."

And from Italy, which has been locked down now for six weeks: "Surely there will be a decline but I can't say how long and deep. The house has regained even more importance by becoming our refuge in recent weeks. Many will be thinking about how to make it even more comfortable with quality and long-lasting products. Belonging to this sector in a certain sense can benefit us," says Agape's Benedini.

As Tom Parker calls it, the best we can do is remain agile, roll with the punches, and use the time and space the virus affords us to refocus the industry to care better for the planet as well as its own community. "I don't think the pandemic will so much change the world as accelerate processes that were already underway: de-globalization, growing inequality, surveillance and so on," says Chen. "We'll probably see more consolidation as its euphemistically called, with smaller players having an increasingly tough time. But I have faith in the design world's ingenuity; we will all find a way."

IL GRANDE RITORNO DELLE SPECCHIERE DA TERRA

Editor: Massimo Rosati

IL GRANDE RITORNO DELLE SPECCHIERE DA TERRA.

LA STORIA DI PSICHE. OVVERO, COME NASCE LO SPECCHIO DA TERRA

Gli specchi da terra (o specchiere) sono del complemento d'arredo che da sempre ci accompagnano nei rituali della vita quotidiana. Un tempo questa scenografica specchiera da terra veniva chiamata semplicemente Psiche (Psyche mirror in inglese) in onore della meravigliosa dea mitologica.
Nelle Metamorfosi, lo scrittore e filosofo romano Apuleio raccontò la storia di Psiche, una fanciulla di straordinaria bellezza. Talmente bella da conquistare Eros, il dio dell'amore, che la sposò portandola con se nell'Olimpo.
Amore e Psiche ebbero una figlia dal nome evocativo: Volupta, Voluttà. Una storia romantica e sensuale, che ben si addice a questo complemento d'arredo complice della bellezza e della femminilità.

Se vuoi approfondire la leggenda di Amore e Psiche, guarda la pagina dedicata su Wikipedia!

FRAME, NENDO PER STELLAR WORKS
Una specchiera da terra davvero minimale. Una struttura a L in acciaio verniciato di nero e uno specchio dalla forma ellittica. Questo è il nuovo progetto firmato dallo studio giapponese Nendo per Stellar Works.

3 NUOVI PROGETTI DELLO STUDIO NENDO PER STELLAR WORKS

Editor: Massimo Rosati

3 nuovi progetti dello studio nendo per Stellar Works

Lo studio giapponese nendo ha lanciato un'interessante collaborazione con il brand cinese Stellar Works. Si tratta di tre nuove collezioni: Blend, Frame e Kite. E, come quasi sempre commentiamo quando si tratta del genio poetico di nendo, questi tre oggetti di design sono decisamente belli e intelligenti.

BLEND
Blend, il primo dei prodotti disegnato da nendo per Stellar Works, è uno sgabello da bar a tre gambe, caratterizzato da una struttura in metallo nero decisamente particolare. Uno dei tre montanti, infatti, si sdoppia per diventare gamba posteriore e schienale a T.
Blend è disponibile in 2 altezze.

KITE
Il secondo prodotto disegnato dallo studio nendo per Stellar Works è Kite, una poltrona compatta progettata principalmente per il settore contract, per gli spazi commerciali e per le hall degli alberghi. Una poltrona con diverse tipologie di schienale. Da quello più basso e informale a quello più alto e avvolgente, che crea una maggiore privacy e una notevole protezione acustica.

FRAME
L'ultimo progetto di nendo si chiama Frame ed è un semplice sistema componibile in acciaio a forma di L che si adatta a diversi scopi.
Può diventare una mensola, un portasciugamani o anche una specchiera (da parete o da terra) se accessoriata con gli appositi specchi coordinati dalla forma rotonda oppure ellittica.

CARRELLI BAR E CARRELLI DI SERVIZIO: IL RITORNO!

Editor: Alessia Forte

Carrelli di servizio e carrelli bar di design? Ecco la nostra selezione. Per rivivere le atmosfere della vecchia Hollywood con uno sguardo al presente.

Molto popolari negli anni '50 e '60, dopo un lungo periodo di assenza, i carrelli bar sono tornati di gran moda negli interni. La testimonia Pinterest, il social network dedicato alla condivisione delle foto, dove il numero di board dedicato ai carrelli di servizio di design è in costante crescita. Ma anche e soprattutto i numerosi progetti proposti di recente da tanti brand di design che hanno reinterpretato questo must del passato in una chiave moderna.

Vi piacerebbe avere un carrello di servizio in cucina o nel living? Bene, abbiamo preparato per voi una selezione di carrelli bar di design. Un mix molto vario che spazia da icone, come il carrello 900 di Alvar Aalto, fino a

James Bar Cart, design Yabu Pushelberg per Stellar Works
Attuale ma con uno sguardo al passato. James Bar Cart, il carrello disegnato da Yabu Pushelberg per il brand cinese Stellar Works, è un elemento d'arredo in bilico fra diverse anime. L'ispirazione? Il mondo delle automobili. Un rimando che è evidente nei materiali utilizzati: il metallo verniciato di nero della struttura e il legno scuro dei ripiani e delle ruote.

La collezione James comprende anche una scrivania, uno sgabello e una chaise longue.

"Una delle caratteristiche di Stellar Works è il design funzionale degli arredi, ideali sia per ambienti domestici che contract. Abbiamo adottato questo approccio per creare le sedute Blend e Kite e gli arredi Frame, tre collezioni versatili ed essenziali", questa è l'introduzione di Oki Sato per la nuova collezione di Studio Nendo.

La collezione realizzata in collaborazione e per Stellar Works è un mix perfetto tra il minimalismo che porta la firma proprio di Oki Sato e una lunga tradizione artigianale del brand.

Ma andiamo con ordine ad elencare gli elementi principali.

Poltrona Kite

La poltrona Kite nasce per rispondere alle esigenze dei luoghi d'attesa. Di solito si tratta di ambienti scomodi e di passaggio, dove le sedute sono essenziali per la forma e per la visibilità ma non esprimono la stessa essenzialità nel loro uso risultando scomode e particolarmente piccole.

Stellar Works is presenting three collections at VDF products fair including Kite

Stellar Works' VDF products fair showcase features chairs by Nendo and Neri&Hu

Lizzie Crook | 29 June 2020

Stellar Works has launched three of its latest collections for 2020 at VDF products fair, including chairs designed by Nendo and Neri&Hu.

The Shanghai furniture brand has also unveiled a modular storage system called Seiton that it has developed with its longstanding collaborator OEO Studio.

Now live at the VDF products fair, the showcase is the latest part of the VDF x Stellar Works collaboration, following a live panel discussion with the brand's CEO Yuichiro Hori, Neri&Hu and Space Copenhagen that was hosted by Dezeen's Marcus Fairs earlier this month.

Kite armchair by Nendo for Stellar Works

Dezeen staff | 29 June 2020

Dezeen Showroom: Stellar Works has collaborated with Nendo on the compact and modular Kite chair that is designed for small and narrow spaces.

Kite is distinguished by a multilayered form that combines various independent components, including a curved seat and statement shield-like backrest, supported by a slender metallic frame.

Intended for use in commercial and hospitality spaces, it was developed by Nendo and Stellar Works to take up minimal space in response to a lack of furniture suited to narrow common spaces in places like hotels and offices.

"Kite is a compact armchair designed with commercial and hospitality spaces in mind and in particularly small spaces," said Shanghai furniture brand Stellar Works.

"There are numerous armchairs and sofas for lobbies and lounges, but well-executed designs for narrow spaces such as corridors, elevator lobbies, and entrances are in short supply."

Kite is covered in a speckled grey upholstery, and available with a backrest in two different heights and seat with two depth options to help users tailor it to the space and level of privacy required.

It forms part of Nendo's wider 2020 collection for Stellar Works, which also includes a multi-purpose steel frame system, aptly named Frame, and a three-legged bar stool named Blend.

Stack chair by Neri&Hu for Stellar Works

Dezeen staff | 29 June 2020

Dezeen Showroom: Furniture brand Stellar Works has collaborated with Neri&Hu to create the Stack chair that boasts a "strong graphic character".

The Stack chair is designed by the architecture and design studio Neri&Hu for use in a variety of spaces and, as its name suggests, has a stackable form to ensure ease of storage.

It is characterised by its lightweight, tubular steel frame, which is teamed with a wooden seat and backrest. While supporting the chair, the tubular frame runs continuously and seamlessly around Stack's entire silhouette to provide it with a distinctive graphic finish.

"This lightweight, multipurpose chair is designed with a thin tubular steel frame, which acts as the supporting element for the seat but also follows the entire silhouette of the chair as a distinctive design feature," explained Shanghai-based Stellar Works.

"The continuous lines give Stack a strong graphic character, while maintaining softness and comfort, due to the three-dimensional steel bending technique used."

Stack is one of several collections by Stellar Works launching throughout 2020, which the company has developed together with new and existing collaborators.

Seiton storage by OEO Studio for Stellar Works

Dezeen staff | 29 June 2020

Dezeen Showroom: Seiton is a modular storage system designed by OEO Studio for Stellar Works that can double as a partition and be built in various configurations.

The versatile system is intended for use in both domestic and commercial interiors and can be built with varying heights and widths for use as a cabinet, shelving unit or freestanding room divider.

Seiton is made as an easy-to-assemble, flat-pack kit and offers a pared-back yet industrial finish, composed of walnut and oak wood shelves, a powder-coated steel frame and polished brass feet.

The system is the latest design developed by Danish company OEO Studio in its ongoing collaboration with Stellar Works, with whom it has worked since 2012.

"This year OEO Studio presents Seiton, a new versatile modular storage system that can be adapted to form high and low shelving and cabinet options," said Shanghai furniture brand Stellar Works.

"It can also be configured as a freestanding room divider and comes in an easy-to-assemble flat pack," it continued. "Seiton is a functional piece."

Designers "preparing for a worsening situation and supply problems" due to coronavirus

Designers are preparing for significant disruption to their businesses and supply chains as coronavirus spreads around the world.

Industry sectors including lighting, fashion, sportswear and automotive have been hit by the shutdown of factories in China, with brands struggling to get hold of stock and components.

UK designer lighting brand Plumen, which manufactures all its lightbulbs in China, said it faced delays of six to eight weeks in getting hold of stock.

"The immediate result for Plumen is that we are now out of stock of our two best selling products, the 001 LED and the 002 LED," said Plumen co-founder and MD Michael-George Hemus. "This obviously affects revenues over the next two months."

Architecture projects in Europe could be delayed

Factories in China are now reopening following an extended shutdown caused first by Chinese New Year and then by coronavirus.

"Like almost all businesses in China, the coronavirus outbreak resulted in an extended closure of the Stellar Works production facility following the Lunar New Year holiday," said Chinese furniture brand Stellar Works.

"However, the Stellar Works factory has now reopened, and we aim to be at 80-90 per cent productivity by the middle of March," the brand said. "We are currently reviewing all orders and are updating customers on revised delivery dates where necessary. We are working hard to return to optimal production as soon as possible."

But elsewhere, factory employees have not returned to work, particularly those affected by the lockdown in Wuhan, which the virus was first detected in December last year. Many plants are still not working at full capacity.

Stellar Works, brand asiatico di arredo contemporaneo con base a Shanghai, presenta la sua prima collezione di lampade. Disegnato dai collaboratori del marchio OEO Studio e Space Copenhagen, la serie è ispirata al Giappone e cerca un punto di contatto tra artigianato asiatico ed estetica europea.

La lampada di Space Copenhagen, Yama, è un cono pendente con riferimento al territorio montano giapponese, adatta a diversi utilizzi all'interno dello spazio. Haro, "cielo" in giapponese, è la seconda creazione dello studio di design danese, composta da una superficie di vetro opalino bianco sospesa su una base metallica scura.

Mün, "luna", disegnato da OEO Studio, è caratterizzato da una forma morbida e curvilinea unita a un elemento industriale. Può essere una lampada da tavolo, da terra e pendente, versioni a cui si aggiungono i modelli da terra di 145 e 170 cm e la lanterna ricaricabile pensata per l'interno e l'esterno.

Collezioni: Yama, Haro, Mün Designer: Space Copenhagen (Yama, Haro), OEO Studio (Mün) Produzione: Stellar Works CEO del brand: Yuichiro Hori Anno: 2020

DESIGN HERO: DANISH MODERNIST JENS RISOM

We take a closer look at the designer and entrepreneur who popularised Scandinavian style in the USA

By AMY BRADFORD 12/11/2020

July 2, 1964 is a momentous date in American history. On this day, President Lyndon Bird Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act, ending racial segregation.

The cane-backed wooden chair he was sitting on as he did so received little attention, but that was right enough; in any case, its designer, Jens Risom (1916-2016), would have approved, believing that furniture should be modest, not attention grabbing.

The 'C140' chair and 'Risom' desk, now made by Stellar Works
Stella Works

The 'C140' chair's presence in the Oval Office was a sign, though, of Risom's status in the American Modern movement. Born in Copenhagen, the son of acclaimed architect Sven Risom, his career in the Danish design industry looked set, especially once he completed his studies at the Copenhagen School of Arts and Crafts, where his classmates included Hans J Wegner. But rather than rest, Risom decamped for New York in 1939, determined to introduce America to Scandinavian style.

INSIDE STORY: STELLAR WORKS

Yuchiro Hori's Shanghai-based studio is at the forefront of the new revolution in Chinese design

By FIONA MCCARTHY 18/05/2020

Stellar Works

Once upon a time 'Made in China' was a label synonymous with cheap, fast, throwaway mass manufacturing but, as ELLE Decoration reported in August 2019, in recent years a creative revolution has been underway. And one of the pioneers is Stellar Works founder Yuchiro Hori, who is giving 'Made in Shanghai' an upbeat and desirable spin. Having established the brand in 2012, with some heavy-hitting design collaborators such as OEO Studio, Yabu Pushelberg and David Rockwell along for the ride, Stellar Works' sleek, chic furniture and lighting pieces – which marry 'East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry', Hori says – have been at the forefront of transforming the way we value Chinese design and artisanry.

Described by the American architect Michael Sheridan as 'one of a distinguished group of Danish modernists who wanted to create timeless objects that would serve people and exist beyond fashion', Vilhelm Wohlert (1920-2007) had no time for attention-grabbing novelty. Rather, Sheridan says, his approach was to 'search for the natural and apparently anonymous ideal object'.

Vilhelm Wohlert
Vilhelm Wohlert

Since its launch in 2012, craft-focused design brand Stellar Works has championed Wohlert's work, reissuing several of his pieces from the 1950s. The edit is a collaboration with Wohlert's son and fellow architect Claus. Now, to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Louisiana Museum of Modern Art near Copenhagen – which Vilhelm Wohlert co-designed – the company has unveiled three more pieces, all originally developed for the museum: a barstool (above), a matching stacking chair and a copper dome pendant (both below).

A Copenhagen native, Wohlert studied architecture at the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts, where one of his tutors was the designer Kaare Klint. In the early 1950s, Wohlert was a visiting professor at the University of California, Berkeley, where he encountered the Californian modernist architectural style and the flat-roofed, timber-framed houses built by developers such as Joseph Eichler. These modest designs would later have a great influence on the Louisiana Museum.

Made In China: 10 Trends Shaping The Country's Soft Power In Design

The "Made in China" stamp may have had a less than appealing connotation before – but that's not the case anymore. Check out the top 10 trends shaping the country's soft power of design.

By HOME & DECOR STAFF , October 1, 2020

Visible in the iconic buildings by star architects, from Frank Gehry to Zaha Hadid, and in the proliferation of museums, high-end hotels and other-worldly retail spaces, design and culture in China have come a long way. On the ground, the swift rise of home-grown talent is notable. Its creative landscape has also matured dramatically in the last two decades.

Trend 2: Asian Sensibility

2 / 10

Refined minimalism, understated luxury, quality furnishings and a desire for comfort and functionality form the basis of a more thoughtful approach to interior design. Attracted to a subtle Oriental aesthetic and commitment to space and light, Chinese consumers are pushing for more artful, contemporary designs that are accessible to all.

Yuichiro Hori's furniture brand Stellar Works is a case in point. His Japanese roots bring together East and West, heritage and modernity, as well as craft and industry in the brand's Shanghai workshop.

Modernist Nordic brands like Fritz Hansen and Hay, as well as domestic label Zaozuo's streamlined, Scandinavian-inspired furniture and homeware collections are also garnering a large following among young urbanites.

Also garnering attention is the Six Senses Qing Cheng Mountain resort outside Chengdu that showcases its connection to nature with a clean, uncluttered, organic design. Much of its wooden antique, Chinese-style furniture is locally made, underscoring its commitment to give back to the community.

Die Balance der Gegensätze – Space Copenhagen

von Markus Schrank | 14. Oktober 2020

Peter Bundgaard Rützou und Signe Bindslev Henriksen gründeten Space Copenhagen im Jahr 2005. © Anders Schønnemann

Signe Bindslev Henriksen und Peter Bundgaard Rützou gründeten ihr Designstudio Space Copenhagen 2005. 15 Jahre später letten sie ein Büro, dass vor allem mit seinen Interieurgestaltungen für Restaurants wie dem berühmten Noma Zeichen setzte. In ihren Arbeiten führen sie das enorme skandinavische und speziell dänische Erbe im Möbeldesign weiter, in dem sie mit jedem neuen Projekt versuchen, eine Balance der Gegensätze zu finden: Industriell und organisch, skulptural und minimal, Licht und Schatten, klassisch und modern. Sie selbst nennen ihre Herangehensweise „Poetischer Modernismus" und konzentrieren sich mit einer „Ästhetik der Langsamkeit" auf Werte wie Qualität und Langlebigkeit. Dabei setzen sie funktionellen Notwendigkeiten intuitive Formen gegenüber und zeigen dabei immer ein elementares Interesse am Menschen. Vielfach führen ihre gestalterischen Überlegungen zu charakterstarken Materialien (Holz, Metall, Stein etc.), die nicht von schrillen Farben überdeckt werden, um deren wahren Kern zu offenbaren.

Neri&Hu designen charakterstarken Stack Chair für Stellar Works

von Markus Schrank | 13. Mai 2020

Lyndon Neri und Rossana Hu verfügen in all ihren Designs einen ganzheitlichen, interdisziplinären Ansatz. Den Möbeln von Stellar Works verliehen sie kürzlich. © Foto: Neri Yang & Zhu Zhu

Der Großteil der chinesischen Möbelbranche ist nach wie vor auf industrielle Massenproduktion ausgerichtet und kopiert nur allzu gern Designs aus dem Westen. Es gibt verhältnismäßig wenig Möbel die versuchen auf Qualität zu setzen und eine eigene Designsprache zu entwickeln. Einer der Hauptprotagonisten ist das Shanghaier Unternehmen Stellar Works, das 2012 von Yuichiro Hori (als Partnerschaft mit dem französischen Hersteller Laval) gegründet wurde und auf eine Kombination aus asiatischer Inspiration, kulturübergreifendem Design und internationaler Ausrichtung setzt. Die Erfolgskurve der letzten acht Jahre gibt diesem Konzept recht: Stellar Works betreibt heute Büros in China, Großbritannien, Frankreich, Australien, Japan, den USA und Dubai. Für das Jahr 2020 hat Hori einen weiteren Coup gelandet und ist eine Partnerschaft mit dem dänischen Unternehmen Nine United (unter anderem Eigentümer von &Tradition) eingegangen. Die Dänen übernehmen den gesamten Vertrieb in Europa.

Mit verantwortlich für den Aufstieg von Stellar Works sind die Kreativdirektoren Neri&Hu. Ihnen ist es zu verdanken, dass diesen Ost meets West mit einer eigenen starken Identität auftritt. Eine weitere beeindruckende Manifestation dieser Identität gelang dem Shanghaier Architekturbüro nun mit dem neuen Stack Chair. Formfaktor hat mit Lyndon Neri, Rossana Hu sowie Stellar Works-CEO Yuichiro Hori Interviews über die neue Kollektion, den Status des chinesischen Möbelmarkts und die aktuelle Situation in Shanghai geführt.

formfaktor: Wie sah Ihre Intention und ursprüngliche Idee für den neuen Stack Chair aus?

Yuichiro Hori: Die Entwicklung der Idee hinter dem Stack Chair offenbart sich im Namen. Wir wollten einen Stuhl schaffen, der den Raum optimiert und leicht stapelbar ist. Deshalb musste er leicht und einfach zu bewegen sein. Außerdem sollte der Stuhl Funktionalität und Komfort mit einem unverwechselbaren Design verbinden, und Neri&Hu haben das perfekt umgesetzt.

Rossana Hu: Im Gegensatz zu herkömmlichen Stühlen, bei denen der Rahmen nur als

Inspired by the picturesque mountains of Japan, the Yama series is a range of sleek, conical pendant lamps whose streamlined shapes lend themselves well to minimalist interiors. The series was unveiled as part of Shanghai-based Stellar Works' first lighting collection, and created in collaboration with Space Copenhagen. "We try to be attentive and respond to the little ways these typologies evolve overt ime, how uses might morph or change, while also working towards the piece having a certain sculptural quality," says Space Copenhagen on their lighting design.

Stellar Works and nendo Unveil First Furniture Collaboration

Encompassing three different collections: Blend, Frame and Kite.

By Keith Estiler

Design Jun 18, 2020 1.7K 0

Design practices Stellar Works and nendo are both known for fusing Asian aesthetics with minimalist cues across varying home decor and furnishings. Both companies have now come together for their first furniture collaboration encompassing three different collections: Blend, Frame and Kite.

Blend is a three-legged stool made of metal with a solid wood base and upholstered seat. What gives this item its elegant look is the sleek shape of the legs and seat-back. Kite is a modular armchair that features multiple, adjustable backrests. Conclusively, Frame is an L-shaped mirror system intended for different functions.

Frame can serve as a towel rack mounted on the wall or a free-standing floor mirror with built-in organizers for clothing or any other household items. In addition, the system can be enlarged and affixed with varying sized mirrors alongside towel bars and shelves.

Take a look at the collection above and then visit nendo's website to learn more about the collection.

Nendo invente un nouveau vocabulaire mobilier pour Stellar Works

Nendo crée une nouvelle fois la surprise avec une collection pour l'éditeur asiatique Stellar Works, bien parti pour devenir un poids lourd du mobilier contemporain.

Dans le monde un brin policé du mobilier contemporain, Nendo fait figure de trublion. Le studio nippo-italien aime en effet explorer de nouveaux langages formels qui opèrent une synthèse originale entre fonctionnalisme et avant-garde, Orient et Occident. Pas étonnant donc que les dirigeants de Stellar Works l'aient contacté pour donner un nouvel élan à leur collection 2020 pour laquelle ils nourrissent de grandes ambitions.. Fondé à Shanghai par un citoyen japonais avec le soutien d'un groupe français du luxe, Stellar Works avait misé gros sur cette année 2020... Avec le retour de l'activité industrielle en Chine, il a pu lancer trois nouvelles collections signées Nendo en plus de la chaise de ses directeurs artistiques Neri & Hu il y a

Best-of : Nos meubles et objets préférés d'avril 2020

Par Jean-Christophe Canuet | LE 30 AVRIL 2020

Jamais rendre nos intérieurs plus beaux et faciles à vivre n'a été si important qu'en ce printemps. IDEAT vous livre ses six meubles et objets domestiques coups de cœur de ce mois d'avril.

S/ Chaise Stock de Neri & Hu (Stellar Works)

Comme un écho aux bouleversements en cours qui ouvrent la société à plus de frugalité, le mobilier 2020 se fait économe en matériau pour se concentrer sur l'ergonomie et la durabilité. A l'instar d'un Joseph Marinon pour Vitra, Neri & Hu viennent de dessiner une chaise d'une sobriété absolue pour Stellar Works. Les designers sino-américains ont fait part des assez fins arbitrages de cet édifice créé par un Japonais à Shanghai avec un investisseur français (Lunvé). Légère et empilable, la chaise Stock est la première salve d'une riche collection 2020, qui verra déferler dans les prochains mois avec une pléiade de grands designers internationaux.

The entire world is living a difficult time. "Sorry, we are temporarily closed until further notice, to guarantee the safety of our clients and staff", says the most of the industries and shops around the planet. Like after a bad dream, the design companies woke up with a complex situation to manage, while they were working hard on the previews for Salone del Mobile, at the moment scheduled in June.

Jennifer Kang, team manager of HI-MACS Europa, LG Hausys

Although the Italian brands have decided stop the production until the 3rd of April, the foreign companies are facing Covid-19 in different ways, most of them are still in the definition phase of the strategy while trying to understand the evolution of the situation in their respective countries. As says Jennifer Kang, HI-MACS team manager Europe at LG Hausys: "The European team is composed of a number of international team members located in many different countries. Stack Chair by Stellar Works

JUNE 4, 2020 BY ADMIN

Nendo, the creative directors of Stellar Works, presents the Stack chair. This lightweight and multi-purpose chair is designed with a thin tubular steel frame, which acts as the supporting element for the seat but also follows the entire silhouette of the chair as a distinctive design feature. The continuous lines give Stack a strong graphic character, while maintaining softness and comfort, due to the three-dimensional steel bending technique used. As its name alludes, the Stack chair is stackable, to also optimize its storage and space requirements when not in use.

A Functional Collection From Stellar Works is Designed for Short Rests

Designed by Japanese Firm nendo, Kite, a collection of armchairs from Stellar Works, flouts conventional armchair design.

Stellar Works' factory on the outskirts of Shanghai produces collections in collaboration with international designers, as well as bespoke pieces for hotels. Of its international roster of collaborators, founder Yuichiro Hori says: "We always look for creativity and practicality." Among the brand's launches this year are the arm-chair Kite, the stool Blend, and Frame, a modular system that can be augmented with mirrors or trays.

One of this year's most intriguing furniture debuts is an armchair that seems to flout all the conventions of armchairs. Kite, the brainchild of the Japanese studio nendo and created for Stellar Works, was designed to provide seating for short periods of time in confined spaces.

Partition DANOISE.

Pionnier du design danois, Kaare Klint (1888-1954) a transmis son goût pour les lignes ergonomiques et les matériaux nobles à ses étudiants de l'Académie royale des beaux-arts de Copenhague. Ainsi, le designer et architecte Vilhelm Wohlert (1920-2007), qui a collaboré avec le maître jusqu'à son décès, a pratiqué auprès de lui le travail des proportions. Parti dès 1951 comme professeur invité à l'université de Californie à Berkeley, il y créera, quatre ans plus tard, la Piano Chair, éditée par P. Jeppesen Møbelfabrik. « Mon père en a eu l'idée, car ma mère avait besoin d'une chaise confortable pour jouer du piano. Il l'a toujours considérée comme l'une de ses favorites », raconte aujourd'hui son fils Claus. L'objet a les proportions parfaites, comme souvent chez Vilhelm Wohlert, doué pour conjuguer simplicité et équilibre formel. Il appliquera à l'architecture ce don pour imaginer des structures harmonieuses, notamment le Musée Louisiana, temple de l'art moderne et contemporain du nord de Copenhague dessiné en 1958. L'équipe de l'éditeur Stellar Works s'est plongée dans les archives pour rééditer cette pièce, ainsi que trois autres modèles signés Wohlert. La collaboration entamée avec le fils du designer dans le cadre de ce travail de réédition devrait mettre au jour d'autres classiques de cette figure du modernisme. Ⓒ Marie GODFRAIN

The brand is set to launch a series of products over the course of the year, designed by new and existing collaborators. In keeping with its heritage in creating pieces that celebrate contemporary Asian craft and international aesthetics, Stellar Works has worked with designers from across the world.

Neri&Hu, Stellar Works' Creative Directors, present the Stack chair. The lightweight, multi-purpose chair is designed with a thin, tubular steel frame, which acts as the supporting element for the seat, but also follows the entire silhouette of the chair as a distinctive design feature.

This continuous lines give Stack a strong graphic character, whilst maintaining softness and comfort, due to the three-dimensional steel bending technique that is used. As its name alludes, the chair is stackable, which optimises its storage and space requirements when not in use.

Danish designers OEO Studio, who have collaborated with Stellar Works since the brand was founded in 2012, have unveiled Setton – a new versatile modular storage system that can be adapted to form high and low shelving and cabinet options.

Setton can also be configured as a freestanding room divider and comes in an easy-to-assemble flat pack. The piece has been crafted from wood – available in walnut and oak – with powder-coated steel and burnished brass elements.

2020 is set to be an exciting year for Stellar Works, with the brand having recently announced a new partnership with Denmark's Nine United – who also own &Tradition). Nine United has taken over all of Stellar Works' European distribution, strengthening the brand's position in European markets.

Created in Shanghai to connect East and West, Stellar Works invites Sleeper on a trip to China to experience the journey of its products from conception to completion.

Since its inception in 2012, Stellar Works has bridged the gap between East and West, old and new, creating timeless furniture pieces that blend heritage, modernity, craft and industry. With a Japanese founder, Shanghai headquarters and a partnership with high-end French furniture manufacturer Laval, the brand is a truly global operation. Its designs follow suit, taking inspiration from forms, styles and motifs central to the Japanese aesthetic and combining them with European tradition.

Having first visited Shanghai as a young designer, Nagoya-born founder Yuichiro Hori felt drawn to the city, becoming enamoured by the opportunities it offered, as well as the skill and determination of its workforce. So, when he had the idea to create a luxury furniture brand to counter the uninspiring offering of the time, Shanghai was the perfect location to nurture his vision. With the help of interdisciplinary design practice Neri & Hu – appointed as the brand's Creative Directors in 2015 – Stellar Works has furnished hotels worldwide, collaborating with distinguished designers such as Yabu Pushelberg, Tom Fereday and David Rockwell for some of its latest collections.

Embracing tradition and innovation, Stellar Works' designs are executed with enduring craftsmanship by experts, most of whom are young, eager to learn and originate from nearby villages known for specialising in different trades. During Sleeper's time in Shanghai, Hori proudly recounts tales of his team; the most memorable being of a young man raised in a small village known for its woodworking, who was not only highly skilled in this craft, but could also tell the material's moisture content with only the touch of his hand. It's these talented recruits, together with French technicians – a result of the Laval partnership – and Japanese managers overseeing quality control, that make the brand what it is today.

The refined Crawford Lounge Sofa, crafted from solid timber with a low-slung design and linear steel frame, is available in both an armed and armless versions

Challenging the perception that China churns out low-quality, mass produced stock, the Stellar Works offer boasts lasting quality, wearing its 'Made in Shanghai' badge with pride. Where others turn to machines to reduce costs, the brand's leading base and commitment to a skilled local workforce allow for the creation of handmade and hand-finished furnishings.

Our three favourite lights

By Elspeth Pridham
October 8, 2020

There has been a crop of new lighting launches this autumn and in the October issue of Studio magazine we round up our favourites.

But, as a brief taster of what is currently available, here are the three designs that particularly caught our attention. From the simple ceramic shades at Hand & Eye Studio, to the seven layers of glass in Septima from Louis Poulsen and Japanese influenced design from Stellar Works.

Designed and produced in collaboration with ceramicist Linda Bloomfield, the handmade Morandi pendants from Hand & Eye Studio are inspired in shape and colour by the bottles depicted in paintings by artist Giorgio Morandi. Made from wheel thrown porcelain they are glazed in two-tone with a tactile matt-satin glaze. Available in two shapes.

This Autumn, Louis Poulsen is bringing back the PH Septima, a distinctive glass lamp originally designed by Poul Henningsen. The seven shades have alternating clear and frosted sections to diffuse a pleasantly delicate light while maintaining downward directed, glare-free distribution. Septima was originally launched at the Danish Museum of Decorative Art in 1926.

Stellar Works has unveiled its first substantial lighting collection. Included in the collection is the Halo light by long-term collaborators Space Copenhagen. Named after the Japanese word for halo, this delicate design comprises a refined floating opal glass shade poised on slender matt powder-coated metal base. Available as wall, standard and table lamp.

NOVELTY STORY

Fine Lines

Stellar Works is currently presenting the first highlights of its new collections for this year. The modular designs were creatively masterminded by Nendo, OEO Studio, Neri&Hu and Space Copenhagen. They will be followed with pieces by Sebastian Herkner and Tom Fereday.

by Anna Moldenhauer | 6/4/2020

"Blend", "Frame" and "Kite" are the names of the latest newcomers that Stellar Works is presenting this week together with Nendo – a bar stool, an armchair and a multifunctional steel frame system. Oki Sato, founder of Nendo, has as we have come to expect given his pared-back designs a lovely twist such that they possess a quite idiosyncratic character. "Blend" stands on only three legs, and yet is highly stable. Its shape brings the famous pose of the thinker to mind, with his legs bent up and his elbows resting on his knees. If you want to do the same while sitting on the bar stool and give yourself over to your thoughts, then you can simply leave your feet resting comfortably on the bent cross-struts. Since as we all know the mind needs free scope to wander, "Blend" also comes in five different versions to encourage personal expressivity. "Kite", by contrast, is the armchair Nendo has devised for Stellar Works and can be integrated into small rooms such as to take up little space without at the same time spelling any loss of comfort. The central element is the star-shaped backrest. It can be set independently of the seat, for example when it comes to the desired height. Leaving as much scope as possible for adapting it to different needs and architectures likewise constitutes the essence of "Frame". The L-shaped steel frame system offers you all manner of possibilities, from shelving and a clothes stand to providing the base frame onto which various hooks and accessories such as mirrors can be fastened.

Interiors trend: the best rattan furniture and accessories for your bedroom and living room

The 1970s look has made it to the high street but there's no need to go the full macramé: refined rattan is easy to weave into your decor.
By Katrina Burroughs

Katrina Burroughs Sunday February 09 2020, 12.01am GMT, The Sunday Times

Have we reached peak wicker? The Instagram craze for chunky vintage rattan furniture, flanked by pot plants and surrounded by pointless boho accessories, has trickled down to the high street for SS20. In fact, there's a tidal wave of clunky conservatory chic in store. The 1970s look that seemed so cute and quirky now feels tired, middle of the road, pastiche.

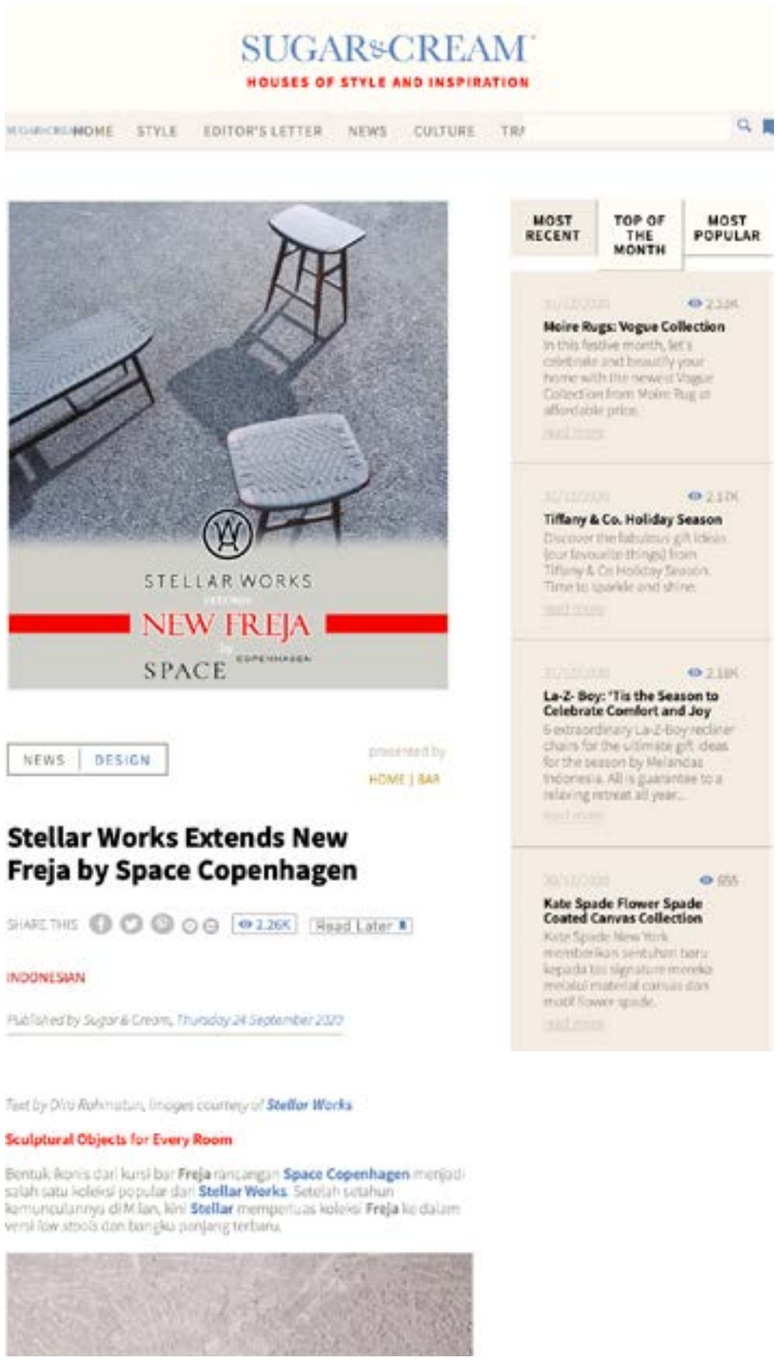

So, should we call time on the rattan trend? Not yet. Because a handful of designers and retailers are doing sterling woven work, shifting the emphasis from the heavier bent rattan seats to more slender styles and furniture that features see-through panels of cane mesh (the outer skin of the rattan vine, woven into decorative webbing).

7 Steer away from sets. There is no place for a rattan three-piece suite (except at a garden centre). Even a bed and a matching wardrobe will be too much.

8 Want a statement piece? Posh rattan is a thing. Ilse Crawford's Sinnerlig collection for Ikea includes a perfectly lovely woven pendant, but there's real cachet in seeking out examples made in the UK by Soane's specialist studio or the contemporary wickerwork by Atelier Vime, woven in its workshop in Provence.

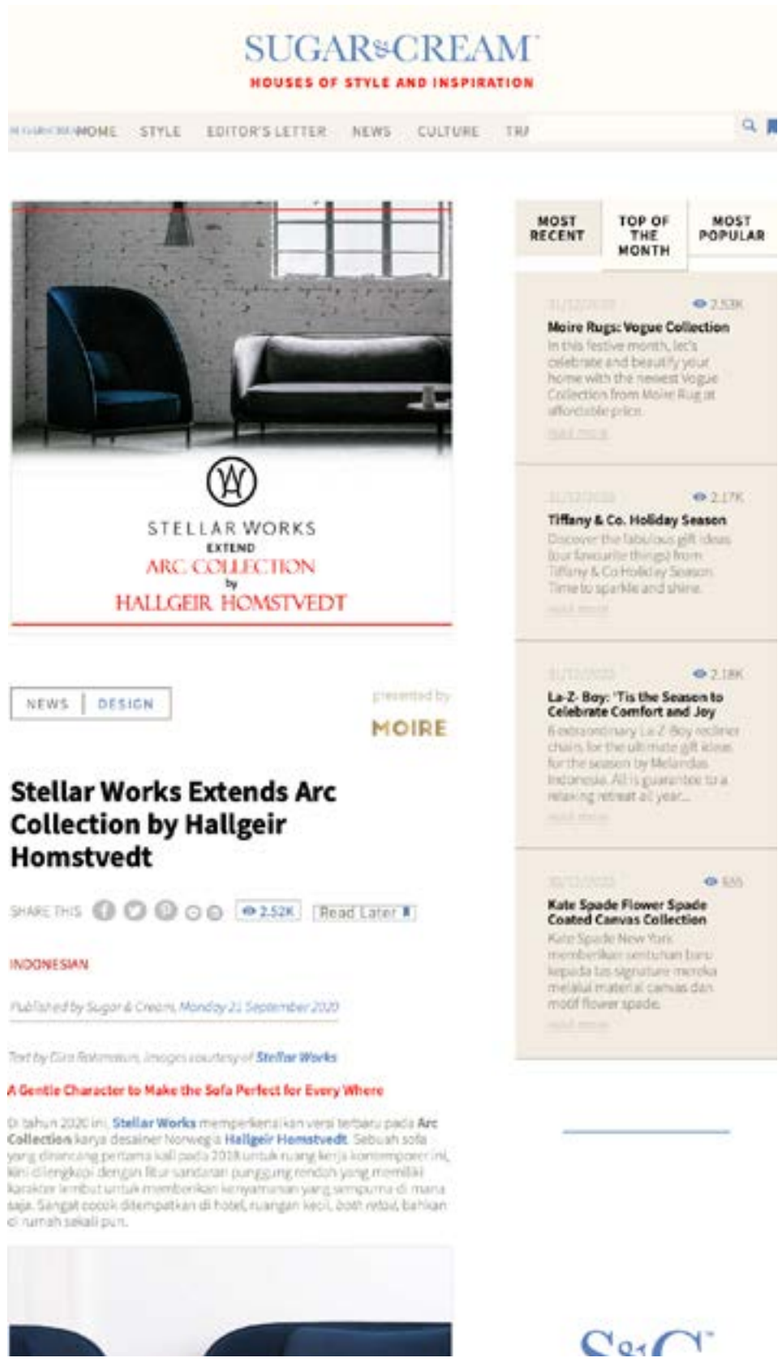

9 If you must go retro, make it a midcentury classic rather than a 1970s clone. Try Thonet's model 218 bistro chair with a wicker seat, or the C140 by Jens Risom, now manufactured by Stellar Works.

Home comforts

With people now spending more time at home, the Designart showcase at World Kita-Aoyama building is focusing on home office goods, displaying major brands including Vitra from Switzerland and Scandinavian Muuto. Other venues, too, had their fair share of items designed to spruce up the home environment.

Stellar Works x Nendo
Venue: Omotesando Hills B3F Space O

This is the first time Shanghai-based Stellar Works is showing its furniture in Japan, an event that coincides with the opening of its new Tokyo store in Roppongi Hills. Headed by Yuichiro Hori, Stellar Works' connections with first-rate designers has been consistent since its launch in 2012. This year, it debuts three new collections conceived by Oki Sato of Nendo, its first collaboration with the Japanese designer.

The Kite series re-thinks the lobby armchair into compact and minimal seating for small spaces. Gently tilted, the rounded seats encourage visitors to lean back into an adjustable back support cushion — the focus of the design. For a little extra privacy, half-round tubular backs curve around the user. Modular in construction, the rounded seats, tubular backs and cushion supports also can be assembled in different combinations. Though Kite was designed for commercial spaces, its compact nature makes it equally suitable for the home.

Nendo's Blend stools and multipurpose Frame units both feature strong lines of black steel in seemingly simple yet functional designs. The unusual structure of the Blend stools' split third leg not only gives it a little aesthetic flair, but also serves as a handy foot rest, while the L-shaped customizable Frame can be hung on a wall horizontally as a shelf or towel rail, or used free standing as a mirror rest and clothing rack.

Stellar Works × Space Copenhagen

Signe Bindslev Henriksen and Peter Bundgaard Rützou of Danish studio Space Copenhagen have created a new series of lamps for Shanghai-based furniture brand Stellar Works' inaugural lighting collection. Named after the Japanese word for 'halo', the Haro lamps combine an elegant, floating opal glass shade with a slender matt powder-coated metal base. Available in multiple configurations, including floor, table or wall lamps and a pendant, Haro is a delicate piece with a distinctly industrial feel.

MUEBLE DOMÉSTICO

Cada vez más versátil y polivalente, el mobiliario doméstico da respuesta a las nuevas necesidades surgidas este último año. Lugares hasta hace poco de descanso y encuentro familiar, que han tenido que reinventarse como espacios de trabajo y estudio, en un proceso donde el mobiliario ha jugado un papel fundamental. Elegantes y minimalistas, las nuevas propuestas apuestan por combinar materiales naturales, como la madera, la piedra o el metal, con tonos neutros y texturas que añaden volumen y contrastes de luces y sombras. Diseño respetuosos con el medioambiente y la salud de los usuarios, que no olvidan la estética cálida y acogedora que caracteriza a cualquier hogar. Realiza: Laura Novo, arquitecta.

Leuchtentrends – Die Tage sind kürzer geworden, und wir machen es uns drinnen gemütlich. Was dabei nicht fehlen darf: stimmungsvolles Licht. Diese Farben, Formen und Materialien gehören zu den Trends bei Leuchten.

Schöner Schein

Sie sind charmante Eroberer: Die neuen Designobjekte, die Luca Nichetto für das chinesische Label Stellar Works entworfen hat, sind so farbenfroh wie funktional. Die

Minimalistische Eleganz im Japandi-Stil

In dieser Saison schicken sich zahlreiche neue Leuchten an, unser Zuhause zu erobern. Ganz im Trend, wie auf Messen wie dem «Supersalone» im vergangenen September in Mailand zu sehen war, liegt derzeit der Japandi-Stil. Dieser Einrichtungsstil zelebriert die Liebe zu Holz und Papier in Perfektion. Bei der Mischung aus skandinavischen und japanischen Stilelementen entfalten reduzierte Formen und dezente Naturtöne ihre Wirkung. So liess sich das Designstudio Space Copenhagen von traditionellen japanischen Papierlaternen inspirieren. Ihre Leuchtenkollektion «Unbound» für das dänische Label Gubi kombiniert einen grauen Marmorsockel mit einem drehbaren Stoffschirm. Auch das Designduo No-Made dachte bei seinem Entwurf «Kumo» für das deutsche Label Pulpo an Papierlaternen, aber auch an die Wolkenformationen im Himmel. Das weisse oder rauchfarbene mundgeblasene Glas sorgt für einen sanften Schein, der die LED-Lichtquelle im Inneren nur schwach sichtbar macht. So wie jede Wolke am Himmel einzigartig ist, so ist auch jedes Mitglied der Kumo-Familie ein Unikat.

Der dänische Hersteller Vipp lässt in der neuen «Paper Lamp»-Serie ebenso asiatische und skandinavische Handwerkskunst ineinander fliessen. Dünnes Papier spannt sich über ein Metallgitter, das von einem Ring aus massiver Eiche zusammengehalten wird. So entsteht ein besonders warmes, leicht gedämpftes Licht. «Ich habe die Gemeinsamkeiten zwischen dänischem und japanischem Design studiert und mich davon inspirieren lassen. Die beiden Kulturen liefern einander seit Langem Inspiration,» sagt Morten Bo Jensen, Chefdesigner bei Vipp.

Handwerk und Geometrie

Mundgeblasenes Glas ist diese Saison in allen Varianten zu sehen. So ist «Clam» eine Pendelleuchte aus mundgeblasenem Opalglas, deren Prinzip und Formensprache von natürlichen Muscheln inspiriert ist. In Analogie zu einer ihre Perle schützenden Auster kann sich die Pendelleuchte öffnen und schliessen, um ihr inneres Licht zu «verbergen». Der Entwurf des dänischen Designduos Ahm & Lund für den Hersteller Fritz Hansen ist eine Herausforderung selbst für erfahrenste Kunsthandwerker: Denn damit das Design richtig funktionieren kann, müssen zwei grosse mundgeblasene Lampenschirme in puncto Symmetrie und Gewicht perfekt aufeinander abgestimmt sein.

Einen Gegentrend setzen geometrische Leuchten: So inszeniert der italienische Hersteller Luceplan mit der Leuchte «Doi» das Spiel der Anziehungskräfte: Den kreisrunden Griff

Stellar Works has unveiled Host, its first collaboration with German designer Sebastian Herkner. Known for his unusual shapes and material choices, Herkner has designed a movable wardrobe created in response to the growing need for flexible furniture in both homes and hotels. Herkner's design features a metal frame that on one side provides generous rail space, and also becomes part of the framework for open shelving and a mirror. Host is partially on wheels to allow flexibility of movement as space requirements change. The rail's minimalist steel frame is also complemented by a veneer laminate base, solid wood and a large mirror.

3daysofdesign 2021: todo lo que nos ha dejado el gran festival del diseño danés

Hemos paseado por lo mejorcito de la 'déco' escandinava con motivo de 3daysofdesign, el festival de Copenhague donde se habla de diseño en mayúsculas. Esto es lo que hemos visto.

6. La oda al color de Luca Nichetto

En DDCated, un nuevo espacio dedicado a exhibiciones de pequeñas y emergentes firmas en un edificio histórico lleno de estatuas gigantes, esperaba el resultado del debut de la firma de mobiliario Stellar Works junto a Luca Nichetto y apunten el nombre de la colección, pues promete. En Space Invaders esperan joyas como Dhala table lamp, donde mandan los cristales de murano luminosos, la madera maciza y los marcos de metal minimalistas. Objetos funcionales, eclécticos, atrevidos y atemporales capaces de "invadir" una variedad de entornos, de ahí el nombre. Completa la colección la mesa y lámpara integradas Hoba y las bandejas Lonar y Kaali.

Stellar Works launched its new Space Invaders collection designed by Nichetto Studio at the 3daysofdesign event in Copenhagen last month. Following its first collaboration with multidisciplinary designer Luca Nichetto, the company also announced its new flagship opening in NYC.

Shanghai-based furniture design brand Stellar Works completed its first collaboration with celebrated Italian designer Luca Nichetto, launching the Space Invaders collection at 3daysofdesign in Copenhagen, and recently announced the opening of its flagship in New York City.

Space Invaders is an eclectic collection of functional yet playful objects such as luminous Murano beads, solid wood and minimalist metal frames, able to "invade" a variety of environments. The collection includes the Dhala table and floor lamps, the Hoba integrated table and lamp and the Lonar and Kaali trays.

The Dhala floor lamps are made with a minimal metal frame and feature a series of colorful Murano glass beads with hidden LED strips that create a warm glow within the beads. It has a variety of finishes, optional legs and both cable and rechargeable versions.

The bold Hoba is a small table with an integrated lamp. Hoba comprises a minimalist circular base supported by discreet legs connected to a symmetrical tabletop by a side column, creating a void "invaded" by a Murano glass shade. With hidden LED stripes, it adds the functionality of a lamp, making Hoba a small table/lamp a timeless and surprising object enriched by a high quality of craftsmanship.

The yoyo-like Lonar tray features two circular plates with relief edges that are joined at the center. The trays come in different colors and can be stacked to create a delightful element to the room.

Mūn Rechargeable Lantern by Stellar Works

The Shanghai-based manufacturer Stellar Works has recently launched Mūn, a portable lantern designed by the Danish OEO Studio, adding to the brand's series of elegant outdoor furniture. The Mūn rechargeable lantern belongs to the first lighting collection launched by Stellar Works and draws inspiration from analog experiences and rituals, such as playing vinyl on a record player or taking photos with a camera. The lantern is fitted with a sturdy silicon strap that makes it easy and flexible to use around the home and garden, either used as a table centerpiece for outdoor gatherings and picnics or hung on the wall for a diffused glow.

Asian design brand Stellar Works has unveiled its first collaboration with German designer Sebastian Herkner. Known for his unusual shapes and material choices, Herkner has created Host, a movable wardrobe created in response to the growing need for flexible furniture in both homes and hospitality environments. Herkner's design includes a metal frame that on one side provides rail space, and also becomes part of the framework for open shelving and a mirror.

Host is placed partially on wheels to allow greater freedom in moving the piece around the room as space requirements change. The openness of its design allows Host to be used for a multitude of purposes, with an added small tray for personal items such as jewelry and watches. For a hotel room, Host features enough space for a suitcase and generous hanging space. Host's minimalist steel frame is complemented by a veneer laminate base, solid wood, and a large mirror.

De comeback van de persoonlijke ruimte

Decennialang was verbouwen min of meer synoniem voor: haal alle binnenmuren weg. Open huizen wilden we, met ruimtes die in elkaar overvloeien, maar daar komen we nu stilaan van terug. Omdat we dromen van meer rust en privacy, maar ook omdat de rommel ons rusteloos maakt.

Atrevido y a prueba de modas: así es el debut de Luca Nichetto para Stellar Works.

Nichetto y la prestigiosa firma de mobiliario asentada en Shanghái presentan Space Invaders. Esta serie de luminarias y bandejas decorativas no solo juegan con las formas geométricas, sino también con materiales como la madera y el cristal de Murano.

Space Invaders. Nichetto x Stellar Works

Por increíble que parezca, no ha sido hasta ahora que la firma Stellar Works ha colaborado con el diseñador italiano multidisciplinar Luca Nichetto. Fruto de ello nace Space Invaders, una colección compuesta por las luminarias de mesa y de pie Dhalia; la mesa con lámpara integrada Hoba y las bandejas Lonar y Kaali. Ante todo, estos objetos se caracterizan por dos cosas. En primer lugar, por su carácter audaz, lúdico y un diseño igual de funcional que atemporal. Y, segundo, porque «son capaces de invadir una gran variedad de entornos», según destaca la propia marca asentada en Shanghái.

"Host is a companion for your home or hotel room, which serves you and your needs. It has a spontaneous and functional character. We need those allrounders, which are practical and straight forward". This is how German designer Sebastian Herkner, born in 1980, describes his new project for Chinese brand Stellar Works.

Unveiled at Design Shanghai, Host is not just a simple coat rack but a multifunctional piece of furniture conceived in response to the growing need for changing living spaces. The structure, with its minimalist design, comprises a steel frame equipped with a system of visible shelves and storage units, an integrated mirror and a solid wooden base which, thanks to its integrated wheels, allows it to be moved easily.

Salto in Cina dove - si sa - gli abbracci scarseggiano. Che gli orientali non amino il contatto fisico è cosa ben nota: toccarsi è un gesto intimo, profondo, segreto. La sedia Ming di Neri & Hu per Stellar Works è la perfetta espressione di un territorio che considera prezioso, anzi preziosissimo il gesto di abbracciarsi. Attingendo all'estetica del passato, il duo del design cinese ha rivisitato le arti decorative storiche della Cina per creare uno stile di arredamento contemporaneo. Così il più comune e iconico tratto asiatico si intreccia ai motivi ornamentali definitivamente moderni. Il risultato dà forma e materialità a una serie di sedie impilabili in legno, che si inseriscono con eleganza nell'ambiente domestico dal gusto orientale e rendono omaggio al contatto fisico, all'abbraccio.

HERITAGE IS THE ULTIMATE INSPIRATION FOR THESE 12 AAPI DESIGNERS

A talented group of designers and artists shares how memory and tradition shape their work.

In honor of Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) Heritage Month, ELLE Decor talks with 12 designers, makers, and artists that celebrate their heritage in their work. From sculptors working in unusual materials like rope and rubber to designers and makers honoring traditional crafts with contemporary thinking, this design dozen is united by innovation, materiality, artisanship, and a goal of sharing culture through the international language of design.

When Yuichiro Hori founded Stellar Works in 2012, he had the simple goal of bringing together East and West, heritage and modernity, craft and industry. "Our aim was to inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics," says Hori. The furniture collection—which includes designs from internationally renowned luminaries, including Yabu Pushelberg, Space Copenhagen, Jens Risom, and Neri& Hu—illustrates this sentiment beautifully, and is proudly handmade in Shanghai (as opposed to the more generic "Made in China" label), where the company has a factory focused on transparent sourcing and manufacturing, and a demonstrable commitment to sustainability. Speaking about the product and the brand's bicultural ethos, Hori adds, "We have chosen this path between the old and the new because I believe good design is timeless design."

NEW CORDLESS LAMPS SHINE BOTH INDOORS AND OUT, BRINGING LIGHT WHEREVER THEY GO

Both in&out, the newest nomadic lights exploit batteries to move without cords or outlets

STELLAR WORKS - MŪN LIGHTING

Mūn Lighting Collection, the family of lamps signed off by Oeo Studio for Stellar Works, combines the sensibility of Asian design with a timeless aesthetic as the synthesis of form and function. Inspired by analog technologies and the poetry of rituals, the studio founded in Copenhagen in 2003 by Thomas Lykke and Anne-Marie Bæmann has designed a colorful collection inspired by the traditional Japanese name for "moon", including a table lamp, two floor lamps and a rechargeable lantern that can be used both indoors and outdoors.

Mūn Lighting Collection, la famiglia di lampade firmate da Oeo Studio per Stellar Works, coniuga la sensibilità del design asiatico con un'estetica senza tempo, sintesi di forma e funzione. Ispirandosi alle tecnologie analogiche e alla poesia del rituale, lo studio fondato nel 2003 da Thomas Lykke e Anne-Marie Bæmann con sede principale a Copenaghen ha disegnato una variopinta collezione che, dovute il suo nome alla traduzione giapponese di 'luna', include una lampada da scrivania, due piantane e una lanterna ricaricabile che può essere utilizzata sia all'interno che all'esterno.

"Designing for Stellar Works is an extraordinary opportunity; their production methods are linked to bygone craftsmanship and allow an artistic freedom that in an industrial culture would otherwise be lost," states Michele De Lucchi.

"The ability to produce detailed prototypes allows us to develop the best final product and all the details of the Float sofa have all been verified several times on the test models: from the metal structure, to the coffee table that hooks onto the armrest up to the cushions with visible stitches that follow a defined path for perfect ergonomics."

Designed by De Lucchi, Float is a new modular sofa system that presents cushions supported by a seemingly invisible structure, as if they are floating on air.

The magical effect created by these floating cushions is made possible by the arrangement of feet outside of the padded form.

A double layer of cushions, supported by a metallic sheet, provides optimal comfort and strength, while a crossbar that runs back and sideways containing the cushions, supports the headrest elements and gives structural integrity.

The Float sofa is supported by a thin yet robust steel structure and is designed to allow for comfortable sitting, resting and invites users to "flop down" on it.

The Float collection comes in four versions: a one, two and three-seater sofa, as well as an L-shaped option.

The collection is modular and the individual components are designed to be combined in a multitude of comfortable configurations.

The Float sofa system can be further customized with a range of accessories, including a backseat, headrest and a series of pillows that can be arranged in different layouts to give the sofa a different look and function.

Float is also available with optional built-in wooden sides tables, which come in in two sizes, an ancestral element that De Lucchi sees as inextricably linked to the idea of the home and of handmade construction.

4. Triangle Chair by Vilhelm Wohlert

Vilhelm Wohlert's Triangle Chair has had a modern update, with an outdoor version created by Stellar Works in alluminium with a Batyline sling. Although it was originally designed for visitors at the Louisiana Museum of Modern Art in Humlebæk, Denmark, this new version has magnified its use, not only indoors, but also outdoors. Wohlert's pieces were some of the most celebrated in the 1950s, and the new edition is evidence of their relevance even today. The chair is meant for comfort - for users to sit back, relax and contemplate, maybe even while propping their feet up on the Triangle Ottoman.

3 easy tips to emulate Japanese minimalism

In this part two of three article series on diverse minimalism, we take a look at the Japanese take on minimalism.

by Asih Jenie / September 17, 2021

The minimalist design philosophy is inherent in Japanese culture as it is rooted in the Zen philosophy that, in turn, greatly influences Japanese design. The social hub of a traditional Japanese home is a flexible, multifunctional room called washitsu (literally translates to 'the Japanese room') or the tatami room, which is an empty room with tatami that can serve a number of purposes. This tradition of having a flexible room is especially relevant in our world today, where we do almost everything from home.

Technicolor boréal

Si la neutralité chromatique reste emblématique du design nordique, les marques et les designers qui s'en émancipent le font avec autant de raffinement que d'audace. Chez Kvadrat, la collection de rideaux et de tapis créée par le Britannique Peter Saville s'inspire de ce « graffiti rural » qu'est le marquage des troupeaux de moutons. Graffiti encore, mais urbain cette fois, avec la lampe Space Invaders, de Luca Nichetto, pour Stellar Works et effet blush avec le linge de lit de la jeune marque suédoise Magnéberg, dans laquelle Kvadrat a d'ailleurs investi. Chez Hay enfin, on découvrait en avant-première un subtil coloramo de l'iconique Rey Chair, de Bruno Rey (1971), qui sera rééditée en partenariat avec Dedar courant 2022.

Shelving and bookcases provide order and subdivisions of spaces, as in the case of Seiton by Stellar Works, a flexible modular storage system designed by OEO Studio. The product can be configured in two ways: against the wall, or as a freestanding room divider. In both cases, the design plays with the horizontal placement of shelves in walnut or oak, and the vertical presence of steel supports.

Designed by Wolfgang Tolk in 1995, with protruding shelves, the Load-it bookcase system is a Porro classic, presented in the new variant with steel shelves and wall panels in natural canneté, alternating horizontal and vertical lines to create an intriguing pattern on the wall.

Agapecasa offers Cavalletto by Angelo Mangiarotti, a furnishing system entirely made in wood, whose characteristic module is a trestle with an overturned V form that can support bookshelves or closed cabinets.

Johan van Hengel has designed Folded Shelves for Muuto, a metal system that imitates the look of folded paper and responds perfectly to the need for organization of objects used for work.

Фестиваль Design Moskva 2021: в прямом эфире Лука Никетто

Трансляцию прямого эфира организует образовательная платформа Skillbox

Лука Никетто. Фото: Arte Studio

Лука Никетто — звезда международного дизайна, основатель одноименной междисциплинарной студии в Венеции и Стокгольме. С 2006 года Nichetto Studio сотрудничает со множеством брендов со всего мира в различных областях дизайна, а также занимается консалтингом. Практика на стыке итальянской и скандинавской культур принесла студии всемирное признание, выведшее далеко за рамки индустрии дизайна. В 2021 году Никетто вошел в состав жюри Russian Project Award. 12 ноября в рамках фестиваля Design Moskva Лука Никетто в прямом эфире расскажет о самых интересных проектах — и о том, как создавать эмоциональные объекты.

Светильники Space Invaders, Stellar Works, Лука Никетто

Во время прямого эфира выясним, почему Лука Никетто делает акцент на потребности людей, а не на быстротечную моду, и почему хорошо дизайнерское решение должно быть устойчивым с экологической, социальной и коммерческой точек зрения. Разберем, почему модульность в современном мире становится важной темой, какие объемно-планировочные системы могут быть рациональны и объединены, и как пространство выигрывает от гибкости и универсальности. Модульность помогает найти устойчивые способы связать нас с окружающей средой и создать диалог. Поговорим о «кайфе» и сравним, дом и дух как глобальные тренды, локальном дизайне, новом понимании объекта и пространства. Трансляцию прямого эфира организует Skillbox.

Linterna recargable Mün by OEO Studio

— 90+10 · #ObjetodeDía · Diseño, Ideas Creativas · 25 enero, 2021

El fabricante Stellar Works con sede en Shanghai acaba de lanzar Mün, una linterna portátil diseñada por el estudio danés OEO, que se suma a la serie de muebles de exterior de la marca.

La linterna recargable Mün pertenece a la primera colección de iluminación lanzada por Stellar Works, y se inspira en experiencias y rituales analógicos, como poner un vinilo en un tocadiscos, o tomar fotos con una cámara.

La linterna está equipada con una resistente correa de silicona que la hace fácil de usar en el hogar y el jardín, ya sea como centro de mesa para reuniones y picnics al aire libre, o colgada en la pared para una luz difusa.

Su diseño pertenece a OEO Studio, fundado en 2003 y con sede Copenhague, Dinamarca, y una oficina de proyectos en Tokio. Sus diseños de muebles e interiores para restaurantes con estrellas Michelin hasta objetos aspiracionales integran las colecciones permanentes del Victoria and Albert Museum de Londres, el Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum en Nueva York y en el Musée des Arts Décoratifs en París.»

LUCA NICHETTO, SPACE INVADERS, STELLAR WORKS

Stellar Works ha presentado Space Invaders, su primera colaboración con el diseñador Luca Nichetto, una ecléctica colección de luminarias.

Todas sus piezas, desde las lámparas de mesa y pie, Dhala, a la mesa con lámpara integrada, Hoba, o las bandejas, Lonar y Kaali, fusionan funcionalidad, alta calidad material y artesanía.
De diseño versátil y divertido, Dhala se construye a partir de un marco de metal mínimo en el que se introducen coloridas cuentas de cristal de Murano, cálidamente iluminadas por tiras led en su interior. La gran variedad de acabados del cristal permite un original diseño modular de elementos apilados, disponible también con patas opcionales, y versiones de cable o recargables. La mesita con lámpara integrada, Hoba, yuxtapone diferentes materiales y formas para crear una combinación inesperada. Una base circular minimalista apoyada sobre discretas patas se conecta a un tablero simétrico por una columna lateral, dejando un vacío entre ellos 'invadido' por una pantalla de cristal de Murano con tiras led en su interior. La forma del yo-yo inspira la bandeja Lonar, con dos placas circulares con bordes en relieve que se unen en el centro y dejan un espacio entre ellas que permite agarrarla cómodamente. Con todas las cualidades de la colección, la bandeja Kaali apoya un elegante y robusto cuerpo de madera maciza en forma de media luna sobre una colorida y redonda base 'invasora', anclada al primero por un tornillo de metal.

The outdoor season is upon us and as endlessly bright summer days are still a few months away lighting is key! Good thing that Shanghai-based manufacturer Stellar Works and Danish OEO Studio have just launched "Mūn", a rechargeable portable lantern. Place it in the middle of the table for a romantic outside dinner or hang it up in a tree for extra soft diffused light.

Given the prevalence of streamlined and minimalist schemes, the distinctive forms of the fittings can make a statement without appearing too flashy or obtrusive. Mid century design classics re-issued by Stellar Works

FEATURED PRODUCTS

Following the mantra that good design is timeless design, Stellar Works has re-issued a selection of classic furniture designs to sit alongside its more contemporary collections. I take a closer look at the pieces from Vilhelm Wohlert, Jens Risom and Carlo Francolini.

Since its inception in 2012, Shanghai-based Stellar Works has endeavoured to fill the gap between Eastern and Western design, as well as heritage and modernity. Founded by CEO Yuichiro Hori, Stellar Works was established as a partnership between Hori and French manufacturers Laval.

The company has long collaborated with respected international designers, and is now re-issuing a carefully curated selection of furniture design classics.

How to make your garden posh

Invest now in luxurious textiles, statement lights and decorative pergolas to make your outside space fit for at-home socialising

By Jessica Doyle
27 March 2021 • 5:00am

CREDIT: East London Parasol Company

With garden parties – albeit intimate ones – on the agenda again from Monday, our outdoor spaces are set to be the focus of our social lives for some time. Here's how to turn yours into a summer restaurant substitute that guests won't want to leave.

Bring the wow factor

A pergola or parasol will fulfil the dual purpose of providing much needed shelter during an unpredictable British spring and summer, and giving your garden a bit of decorative impact. East London Parasol Company sells patterned and plain parasols (top, £945 each) with the option of a scalloped edge and fringing; choose from colour-cladding baths, classic canvas, and William Morris-style botanical motifs. Alternatively, go all-out Bridgerton with a cream pergola from Sal Teet Club (below, from £1,800), the perfect spot to host afternoon tea.

Give it some glow

Go large with statement lighting | CREDIT: Charles

Installing effective lighting helps to set the ambience into the evening, and nothing makes a statement quite like a giant outdoor floor lamp, such as the Cone lamp (above) by Chiaramonte & Marin (£3,140, Chaplins). Italian brand Contardi is also a safe bet for decorative designs, from art-deco wall lights to its colourful Calypso collection of outdoor pendants (£830, Chaplins). For the minimalist option, try the outdoor iteration of Michael Anastassiades' classic 1C F2 floor lamp for Flos (£1,130, The Conran Shop), or the new Mün rechargeable portable lantern from Stellar Works (£258, stellarworks.com), which can be placed on a table or hung from a hook or branch.

Welcome to the next stop in our journey through global design, featuring pieces from across Asia: for this instalment of Wallpaper's Global Interiors, we focused on an extended view of the continent, from the Middle to the Far East. Our findings were arranged in an immersive set created by Berlin 3D design studio Form & Bauach, and feature pieces by the likes of Stellar Works, Mario Tsai Studio, Marzeti and more. Discover in more detail our snapshot of design from Asia.

Stellar Works

Shanghai-based brand Stellar Works' mission is to combine refined culture and Asian sensibility, a goal it achieves through a sophisticated collection of furniture, objects and lighting in collaboration with global designers and architects. 'Our aim was to inspire a renaissance in Asian aesthetics, taking the forms, styles and motifs that have characterised Japanese design across the centuries and filtering them through the lens of the European tradition to create something new and timeless,' says Yuichiro Hori, CEO and founder.

OEO Studio's new series of lamps for Stellar Works combines Asian aesthetic sensibility with Danish design. Designed to be 'playful, analogue and sculptural', the Mün series includes floor (pictured) and hanging lamps in different sizes, and a portable lamp that can also be used as an outdoor light. Its name references the Japanese word for moon, and its sophisticated appearance mimics its subtle movement.

NYCxDesign 2022: Highlights From a Whirlwind New York Design Week

With collection releases, pop-up exhibitions, and topical designer talks, the citywide event had one of its strongest showings yet

By Adrian Madlener

The week started off with Bespoke Only's Vision & Voices panel discussion, hosted at the Stellar Works flagship in Tribeca. Coinciding with Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) Heritage Month, the talk explored the nuances of identity and race within the design industry. Panelists included Tariq Dixon, founder of TRNK NYC, Jean Lee, cofounder of Ladies & Gentlemen Studio, Andrea Hill, founder of Tortuga Forma, Melissa Lee, founder of Bespoke Only, as well as design writer William Li. The panel highlighted the opportunity for creatives to build inclusive environments—ones that can help forge dialogues and unite AAPI designers amid the current spate of anti-Asian aggressions. And to that end, on May 16, the Asian American Pacific Islander Design Alliance—an organization committed to mobilizing and empowering AAPI professionals in the home and design industries—hosted its first panel at the Schumacher showroom with speakers including Young Huh, Jean Liu, and Rosie Li, among others.

SAH In what ways do these two neighborhoods—Soho and Tribeca—provide your brand opportunities to interact with other creative industries?

Andrew Yang, U.S. managing director, Stellar Works Tribeca was ideal in so many ways. It is adjacent to Soho and the neighborhood's many architecture and design firms, showrooms, and museums and galleries. In the last year alone, dozens of galleries have opened just blocks away. Soho is pleasantly commercial, so to have our showroom literally on the border of art and commerce feels right to us. Plus, the proximity to Chinatown also speaks to Stellar Works' Asian roots.

Mel Saenz, VP, relationship management, Juniper There is an interesting mix between fashion, design, food, and art in Soho. Downtown has a neighborhood feel you just can't emulate in most other NYC districts. Soho residents and businesses have something of an open-door policy with each other. This helps in a lot of ways, not least of all when it comes to collaborating on a creative level.

DIMENSIONS
Stay dining table, 75 H x 120 W cm

Stay chair, 81 H x 50 W x 56 D cm

Italian architect Michele De Lucchi has contributed the striking Stay collection to the diverse portfolio of furniture-maker Stellar Works. The two-piece series consists of a dining table and chair, each taking a sensitive approach to nature by eliminating any unnecessary detailing or accents.

Made from solid wood, the playful yet rigorous designs have an organic and sculptural appeal that references natural formations. With the dining table, four pieces of wood are seamlessly joined at the centre and have a refined bevelled edge. Reminiscent of a tree's supportive root system, the four legs branch out from underneath and feature an intriguing open design that works to ensure stability.

The legs of the Stay chair mirror those on the table, give the piece a strong visual character. Strengthening this is the intricate four-leaf clover-shaped seat.. Constructed from carved and hand-finished wood, no two are exactly alike.

Suitable for use in both residential and commercial settings, the Stay collection is available in oak (in natural, black, dark brown or onyx finishes) or walnut (in natural or soap finish).

NYCxDesign 2022 Preview: 5 Upcoming Product Launches

NYCxDesign — and by extension, ICFF and WantedDesign Manhattan — are just around the corner. Here are the big unveilings that have us excited.

New York City has officially regained its gravitational pull over the rest of the world. Broadway is back, the Met held another dazzling celebrity gala on Monday night, and the art world is buzzing about a new Basquiat show that offers the most personal look at the artist yet. But for design lovers, the best is still yet to come. On May 10th, the city's annual NYCxDesign festival kicks off its 2022 edition — and Instagram is already full of sneak peeks and behind-the-scenes previews.

NYCxDesign is back to its regular spring time slot for 2022 after last year's edition was postponed to the fall. Running 10 days, this year's festival marks the 10th anniversary of NYCxDesign. To celebrate, the organizers have planned a full assortment of design exhibitions, product launches and showroom events spread all across the city.

Meanwhile, over at the Javits Centre, NYCxDesign 2022's two main anchor events — ICFF and WantedDesign Manhattan, both running May 15 to 17th — promise to bring major manufacturers and independent designer-makers together under one roof for a one-two punch of design excellence.

Last Friday, Cultured magazine's senior editor, Elizabeth Fazzare, hosted a private breakfast at Stellar Works's new showroom in Chinatown, New York in celebration of Women's History Month. Alongside Stellar Works and Ruinart, Fazzare gathered an impressive group of women to honor their work in architecture, design and the arts. Notable guests included Arielle Assouline-Lichten of Slash Objects, Lora Appleton of the Female Design Council and lighting designer Anna Karlin alongside many other architects, artists, designers and writers.

Stellar Works is a Shanghai-based furniture design brand that represents the rebirth of tradition, fusing long-standing Asian cultures and aesthetics with the light of the present and modernity. The lively brunch was hosted in the company's first permanent United States showroom on Canal Street in Manhattan, in a spacious 4,000-square-foot space that was the former home to Pearl Paint and holds the company's ever-growing furniture collection and designer collaborations. It also is home to the first-ever physical space for the Brooklyn-based wallcoverings company, Calico Wallpaper.

Upon arrival, guests mingled over perfectly chilled Ruinart Blanc des Blancs champagne, coffee and tea. The powerhouse women socialized in the Stellar Works showroom in Chinatown, formerly the home of Pearl Paint. Once seated, guests were treated to a beautiful brunch by Chef Catherine Rojas. Menu highlights included avocado toast on bread from local She Wolf Bakery, spinach and goat cheese frittatas as well as an assortment of fresh-out-the-oven pastries and scones. Brunch was served on dishware by Departo, a home goods company based in New York and born of a collaboration between Stellar Works and Yabu Pushelberg.

Fazzare took a moment to speak to the group about the importance of building a strong community of women in the long-standing male-dominated fields of architecture and design while Stellar Works managing director Andrew Yang shared a few words about celebrating designers in their beautiful new space. Organizing this brunch was the perfect way to honor the successes of every woman at the table.

A Flat-Packed Café Chair Is Made up of Just Six Parts

05.16.22 | By Vy Yang

Flat-packed furniture, while convenient and sustainable for shipping purposes, sometimes gets associated with poor quality and a lack of design. This is not so in the case of Pagoda, a new series of chairs designed by Shanghai-based Stellar Works in collaboration with American design studio BassamFellows. The design is inspired by an East meets West sensibility with café chairs from the 19th century in Vienna and the café culture from the 1920s in Shanghai. The chair comes completely flat packed with only six parts: a curved seat, a rounded back, and four legs.

MICHELE DE LUCCHI ALLUDES TO NATURE WITH 'STAY' CHAIR & TABLE

Leading Asian design brand Stellar Works has unveiled the new 'Stay' Dining Table and Chair, its second collaboration with famed Italian architect Michele De Lucchi. Boasting agile, playful, and organic forms, the furniture set is carved out of wood, alluding to nature with poetic flair.

Indeed, when approaching the design, De Lucchi wanted the 'Stay' collection to express a certain sensitivity to nature. He says, 'At this time when we are aware of the climate emergency and the need to change our behavior, wood is sustainable and makes everything seem natural. I love carving wood because it is a material that lends itself well to our ability to create ever-changing objects with our hands, which sets us apart as human beings. I thought it would be fantastic to create a collection carved in wood for Stellar Works, which expresses today's sensitivity to the planet with a strong emotional identity. Wood never makes waste.'

ORGANIC, PLAYFUL, AND AGILE FORMS

The 'Stay' Dining Table has a round top and comes in all standard wood finishes from Stellar Works' signature collections. The top is supported by four wooden pieces that seamlessly join the center with a refined edge bevel design. The table legs, meanwhile, branch into two pieces reminiscent of a tree while also ensuring stability.

Michele De Lucchi (see more here) endowed the 'Stay' Chair with an equally strong character, straying away from industrially-produced designs. Carved from wood, the individual components of the seating object are finished by hand, making each piece unique. Its overall organic silhouette is thus a consequence of eliminating the superfluous.

Yuichiro Hori – We bridge the gap between East and West, old and new

15 September 2022 by George Dean 0 comments

As part of designerati's Around the World interview series, we speak exclusively to Yuichiro Hori, founder of Stellar Works, the contemporary furniture design brand. He tells us about his passion for collecting vintage furniture, how he founded Stellar Works, and how his cultural influences have guided him throughout his career.

Tell us about growing up – how much did your childhood experiences, environment and cultural influences steer you towards becoming a creative?

I was born into a family of artists and creatives, so it felt natural to pursue a career in design. My mother is a painter, teacher and pioneer of decoupage, a decorative art originating in France. She brought decoupage art to Japan and has published numerous books on the subject. My grandmother was also a gifted painter. She taught me how to draw as I used to spend time with her after school in her atelier and outside in the garden sketching and painting. My two sisters are also dancers. My older sister is a musical dancer, and directs musicals in Japan, whilst my younger twin sister is a ballroom dancer in London.

Sfere in vetro di Murano, supporti metallici e volumi in ceramica e legno si intrecciano insieme per invadere lo spazio, appunto, secondo giustapposizioni cromatiche e materiche inattese. LA NEW GENERATION DEL TAVOLO MODERNO È UN RITORNO AL PASSATO FATTO DI LEGNO

Stay, disegnato da Michele De Lucchi per Stellar Works

Nel disegnare il tavolo Stay per il brand asiatico Stellar Works, Michele De Lucchi ha voluto che esprimesse sensibilità per la natura. "In questo momento, in cui siamo consapevoli dell'emergenza climatica e della necessità di cambiare i nostri comportamenti – racconta il progettista - il legno è sostenibile e fa sembrare tutto naturale. Amo scolpire il legno perché è un materiale che ben si presta alla nostra capacità di creare con le nostre mani oggetti sempre diversi, che è ciò che ci distingue come esseri umani. Ho pensato che sarebbe fantastico creare una collezione scolpita nel legno per Stellar Works, che esprima la sensibilità odierna per il pianeta con una forte identità emotiva. Il legno non produce mai rifiuti". Stay è costituito da quattro elementi in legno che si uniscono senza soluzione di continuità al centro formando un raffinato disegno dai bordi smussati. Le gambe si diramano ricordando un albero e garantendo stabilità, ed il piano rotondo è disponibile in tutte le finiture in legno standard delle collezioni firmate Stellar Works.

Modern Classic: Stellar Works Launches Pagoda Chair in Collaboration with BassamFellows

By Home Journal
2022-07-02

The new Pagoda flat-pack chair is inspired by the simplicity of café chairs in mid-19th-century Vienna and the café culture of 1930s Shanghai.

A collaboration between Chinese design brand Stellar Works and American design studio BassamFellows, the collection marries efficiency and comfort, reducing the compact design to its very essence – a curved seat, rounded back and four legs – to lend the interiors a nostalgic personality.

The chair is supremely light and compact with a structure consisted of only six pieces, delivering good craftsmanship and efficiency while allowing multiple material configurations. Cantilevered arms and back subtly reference Pagoda gates, giving the chair its personality sans the need for an arm and armless version.

9 Stunning New Product Showrooms

From London to Mumbai and everywhere in between, experiential spaces let the products shine

Stellar Works

On Canal Street in New York, the two-story Stellar Works showroom serves as the brand's global flagship, as well as its first brick-and-mortar space in the U.S. "Stellar Works has a very refined, Japanese-meets-Scandinavian material palette of wood and metal, and we wanted a space that would act as a minimal but warm backdrop for our growing furniture and lighting collections," says the brand's U.S. managing director Andrew Yang. Stellar Works shares the space with Calico Wallpaper, and "as a showroom for two distinguished brands, [we wanted] the space to allow the work to be presented in an approachable, harmonious, and adaptable manner," says David Bench, principal at INCA, the architecture firm behind the design. Also notable are the show's two entrances. The first is the main entrance for Stellar Works' collections, and the second is designed as an experimental space for design partners, which rotate on a regular basis. "With two street frontages, it was paramount that everything be exposed yet in service of the display; raised windowsills allow platforms for furniture, which guide visitors into the space from either side; irregularly shaped existing walls were filled with a wallpaper display cabinet; and immovable egress stairways and doors are made into opportunities for wall display and wallpaper, respectively," explains Bench.

6– Michele de Lucchi pour Stellar Works

L'un des plus importants éditeurs de design asiatique entame sa deuxième collaboration avec l'Italien Michele De Lucchi. Si celui-ci a appartenu au Groupe de Memphis, son travail pour Stellar Works s'en éloigne radicalement. En effet, cette table ronde et sa chaise assortie font de la simplicité d'un détail le plus grand intérêt. Ici, tout repose sur le piètement qui semble se dédoubler, à la façon d'une toile d'araignée qui supporte deux formes arrondies, un plateau rond pour la table, un dossier et un siège. – F.L.G.

Carbone Interior Design Balances Art Deco and Modernist Influences at This Hotel in Zurich

Since 1935, the Neues Schloss Privat Hotel Zurich has charmed guests with its rational-yet-rounded façade, an expert blend of Art Deco and Modernism. Today, thanks to a rethink by the city's Carbone Interior Design, the interiors live up to the building's motto: "A place that brings together what usually doesn't combine."

A member of the Marriott Autograph Collection, the 57-key hotel mixes a jewel-tone palette of velvety textures with walls in natural plaster. Rooms contrast shadow—bathroom walls in deep purple, dark oak details—and natural light. Public areas and a meeting room take advantage of similar contradictions, finding unexpected balances of curvy furnishings and the clean lines of linear light fixtures. And the new restaurant, Castellan's, ties it all together, serving Mediterranean cuisine among banquettes that lap the walls like waves, just steps from Lake Zurich itself.

A custom screen creates a lounge area on the ground floor, with a Morelli sofa, Stellar Works armchair, Baiert & Demmelhuber tables, and floor lamp by Pulpo.

The 16 key lighting trends for 2023, setting the stage for how homes will look next year

Experts decode the lighting trends for 2023, explaining the brightest ideas and most brilliant lightbulb moments

15. SPACE-AGE TABLE LAMPS

Space Invaders Chalet lamp by Luca Nichetto for Stellar Works.
(Image credit: Stellar Works)

Like a scene from The Galactic Bar in Star Wars, these pieces all take on something of a slightly obscure but loveable visual aesthetic. They're not what one might instantly call beautiful, but they definitely have a cute charisma and there's something - could we say otherworldly? - about them. Essentially, you might want to just softly warn your desk that your home office ideas are about to be invaded by something, not necessarily extraterrestrial, but certainly 'extra' in the design sense.

From designer-to-designer, it seems everyone has space invaders on the brain when it comes to desk and tabletop lighting design for 2023. Think bobbly Dalek-like bases and Space Invader 'bodies', a Mondrian-style color palette, and, a serious dose of fun-factor!

"Opt-in for this trend if you're looking to funk up your room," says Linda Boronkay. And essentially that's what these little lamps all offer. An opportunity to sprinkle some "fun-factor around the home". Who wants a boring desk lamp anyway? Not us. Forget needing to be so practical. Sometimes a trend is just purely about being a little bit whimsical and different - this is especially fun to incorporate into your small bedroom desk ideas as pieces that double as quirky reading lamps.

Look for design details including gloss or lacquered finish (there's something truly delectable and almost edible about the little gloss ones - like candies on display in a sweetie shop - we kind of want them all) a shapely base (in fact the more shapely the better!), and, a knock-out shade, fitting in nicely to current color trends. Take the Habitat Ngami in Royal Blue - a cute little button of amusement that's just landed on shop shelves.

Muránói üveg az űrből: egyedi lámpák egy különleges kollaborációból

marie claire MARIECLAIRE.HU — 2022. január 11.

A bútorokat készítő Stellar Works stúdió Luca Nichetto multidiszciplináris dizájnerrel karöltve alkotta meg a Space Invaders névre keresztelt kollekciót.

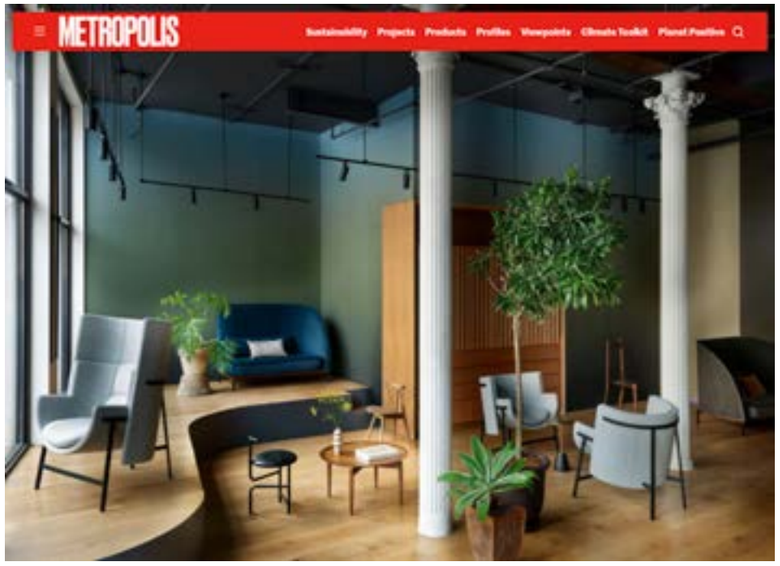

Az 1978-as videójáték színes „űrbéli" formái ihlették a Stellar Works stúdió és Luca Nichetto dizájner együttműködéséből született különleges kollekciót. A Space Invaders széria lámpái muránói üvegből, tömörfa-részletekből és minimalista fémvázakból épülnek fel, eklektikus, merész végeredményt kínálva. A kollekcióban az asztali- és állólámpa mellett egy különleges asztal és két dekoratív tálca is helyet kapott.

A játékos és stílusos lámpákba rejtett LED-világítás meleg, barátságos fényt sugároz, amit a szűrőként funkcionáló muránói üveg tesz még hangulatosabbá. Bár a fő inspirációs forrás az űrhangulat volt, a darabok ugyanúgy megidézik a videójáték érájának bútortrendjeit, kortárs csavarral kiforgatva a mid-century modern dizájn jellegzetességeit.

"Kvadrat's name derives from the squares on gridded point paper, which were used to record textile patterns before computers," the designer says. "This history was important for me when developing the company's first New York showroom." He's exalted the virtues of high modernism in a playfully contemporary scheme.

Down on Canal Street, leading Shanghai-based furniture manufacturer Stellar Works has teamed up with wallpaper brand Calico to share the ground floor of the former Pearl Paint art store building. Strategically located on a stretch of Lower Manhattan experiencing a well-deserved revival, the three-thousand-square-foot Italianate showroom is clad in an ever-changing series of bespoke wallcoverings and adorned with a rotating offering of the latest furnishings. The arrangement is a win-win for both like-minded design world heavyweights.

"Our Tribeca showroom was conceived as a gathering place for the design community," states Stellar Works U.S. managing director Andrew Yang. "We're thrilled to be launching BassamFellows' flatpack Pagoda collection during NYCxDESIGN this year. A compact, efficient and elegant take on a classic, this cafe chair feels very right for this moment where people are yearning to be together again."

A Café Chair Designed for Luxurious Efficiency

A collaboration between Shanghai-based Stellar Works and Connecticut design studio BassamFellows yields a beautiful yet functional update on the classic style.

Pagoda, the latest update of the classic stackable café chair, is also a model of design optimization. Its frame disassembles into six compact parts (a ring-shaped seat, a curved back, and four legs) for easy reassembly and flat-pack shipping.

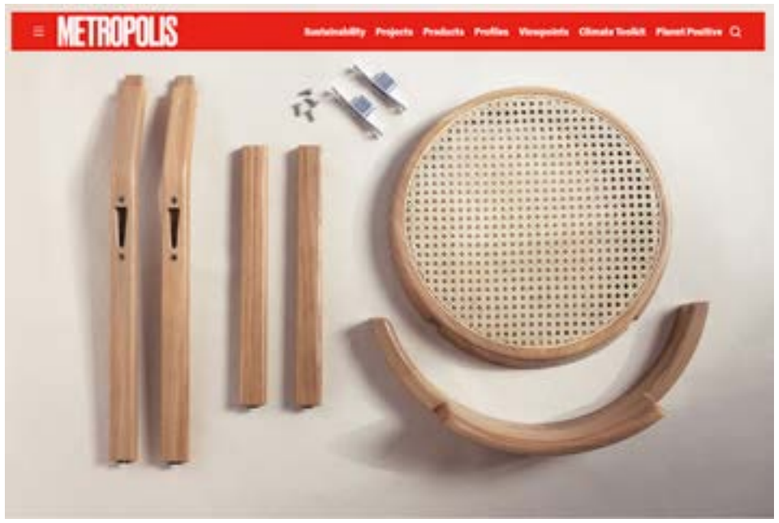

The user-friendly design evolved from a collaboration between Shanghai-based manufacturer Stellar Works and Connecticut-based design studio BassamFellows. As founders of the latter, architect Craig Bassam and creative director Scott Fellows are known for creating "sculpturally expressive" furnishings that have a "functionalist's simplicity." In line with that philosophy, the Pagoda collection features a combination of commercial-grade durability and visibly handcrafted details, such as the optional Vienna-style caned seat. Compared with chairs of similar material heft but more parts and hardware, Pagoda also holds the potential for a positive environmental impact as its innovative form requires less packaging and ships at lower-than-average cost. "This project has allowed us to pave the way for something entirely new: a luxurious yet efficient design," Bassam says.

Pagoda's chief materials (an oak or walnut seat ring and back, a classic Vienna cane or upholstery seat, and wood or aluminum legs in a choice of gold or silver finishes) lend themselves to numerous configurations. ALICE GAO, COURTESY OF STELLAR WORKS

Is the Future of Furniture Flat-packed?

Designing for easy assembly is back in vogue, because it's a fast way to achieve manufacturers' carbon-reduction goals.

Designed by Philippe Starck for Andreu World, the Adele Plus chair (above) consists of three pairs of rounded plywood that can be assembled "like a puzzle…without fittings or screws." Comprising six pieces and minimal hardware, Bassam Fellows' Pagoda chair for Stellar Works (top) was partly inspired by Michael Thonet's bentwood seating. TOP: ALICE DAO. COURTESY OF STELLAR WORKS ABOVE: COURTESY ANDREU WORLD

For manufacturers, there's also something demonstrably sustainable about designing for easy assembly, because when flat is the goal, a direct result is fewer parts and shorter production runs that naturally remove carbon-emitting steps from operations. In fact, few other carbon-abatement methods were able to slash embodied carbon, shipping, and transportation for building products as quickly as flat-packed, easy-to-assemble goods can.

"Easily disassembled furniture has never been more important, given the need to reduce carbon footprints and cost-cut transport goods," says Olivier Vit Lefèvre, explaining that "minimal (shipping) volume and material impact were both considered" in his design for Resident's Plate tables.

Stellar Works lanza PAGODA: una silla flatapck de Bassamfellows

BY SMARTLIGHTING HOME — 31 MAYO, 2022 DISEÑO 2 MINS READ

Stellar Works ha colaborado con el estudio de diseño estadounidense BassamFellows en Pagoda, una colección de sillas inspirada en la sencillez de las sillas de café de mediados del siglo XIX en Viena y la cultura del café de la década de 1920 en Shanghái. Una versión moderna de un clásico, la silla Pagoda construida por expertos combina eficiencia y comodidad .

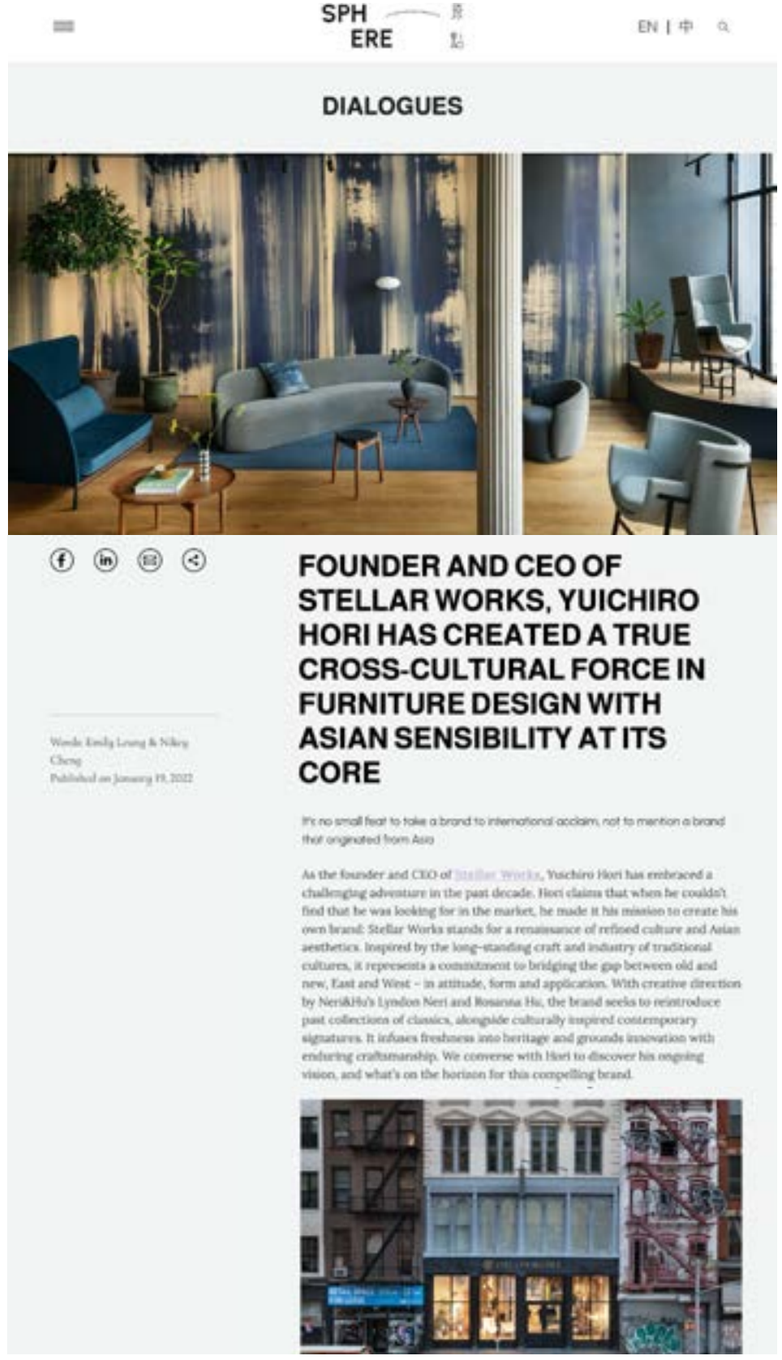

La estructura del diseño compacto de Pagoda se ha reducido a su esencia misma. Fácil de enviar y ensamblar, la silla flatpack consta de solo seis componentes: un asiento curvo, un respaldo redondeado y cuatro patas. Este diseño ofrece una artesanía de alta calidad y permite una multitud de configuraciones de materiales. El asiento circular de la silla se inspira en el «Camino de la Naturaleza», o concepto de «unidad» en la cultura china. Sus brazos y respaldo en voladizo, ligeramente curvados hacia arriba, hacen una sutil referencia a las puertas de la Pagoda, lo que le da a la silla su forma envolvente. Una silueta aerodinámica, pero cuidadosamente reimaginada, le da a la silla su personalidad distintiva.

Stellar Works, con sede en Shanghai, que combina la excelencia de las tradiciones artesanales asiáticas con el diseño y la fabricación modernos, ha colaborado con una lista global de diseñadores líderes desde su fundación en 2012.

"Este es un proyecto emocionante para nosotros, ya que hemos querido trabajar con BassamFellows durante muchos años. Admiramos su aprecio por la construcción y la artesanía, y nuestra sensibilidad compartida que combina modernidad y atemporalidad", dice Yuichiro Hori, fundador y director ejecutivo de Stellar Works. "Juntos hemos logrado algo único: una silla flatpack que no hace concesiones. No solo es elegante y bellamente proporcionado, sino que también está fabricado con los mejores materiales y construido para una máxima durabilidad tanto para entornos residenciales como de hostelería".

Stay: A nature-inspired collection by Michele De Lucchi x Stellar Works

Leading Asian furniture brand Stellar Works have recently partnered with renowned italian architect and designer, Michele De Lucchi giving way to their second collaboration, Stay. The collection by the celebrated designer features a dining table and a chair, their organic and agile forms communicating the utmost sensitivity towards sustainability that resides at the core of the craftsmanship. "At this time, when we are aware of the climate emergency and the need to change our behaviour, wood is sustainable and makes everything seem natural," shares Michele De Lucchi. I thought it would be fantastic to create a collection carved in wood for Stellar Works, which expresses today's sensitivity for the planet with a strong emotional iconicity," he adds.

Exuding clean and modern beauty, Space Copenhagen crafts two functional and versatile collections, the Atelier sofa and Journey chair, both derivatives of the studio's approach to design they define as "poetic modernism." Meanwhile, following the first collaboration of Stellar Works and OEO Studio ten years back, the recent Aya collection of dining chairs and tables exhibits a shared propensity for an aesthetic that embodies elegance and minimalism.

Flat-packed furniture usually gets a bad rap, but certainly not in the case of Bassam Fellows' latest design for the Asian furniture brand, Stellar Works. Nodding to cafe chairs of mid-19th century Vienna and the cafe culture of Shanghai in the 1920s, the American design studio has created Pagoda - a collection of chairs that mixes comfort with efficiency. Reduced to the essentials, each chair is comprised of just six components; a curved seat, a rounded back and four legs. The seat, in particular, draws from the idea of 'oneness' in Chinese culture, while its arching arms subtle reference pagoda gates while imbuing the chair with an enveloping shape.

NYCxDesign 2023: An AD PRO Essential Guide

Here's everything you need to know about the city's biggest design event of the year

Where to Wine and Dine

2023 hasn't disappointed with a new crop of hyped New York eateries and lounges to try out. With that in mind, making reservations ahead of time is essential. A short stroll from the Javits Center, the Ritz Carlton Nomad's recently opened Zaytinya will provide with Mediterranean fare in abundance—enough to sustain an afternoon of touring downtown storefronts. Revelie Luncheonette is a new offshoot of beloved brasserie Raoul's, perfect for those visiting SoHo. Swan Room and Le Dive in micro-neighborhood Dimes Square have become local favorites and will serve as good venues for end-of-day libations. Headed to Brooklyn? Milanese-inspired Saraghina Caffè in Fort Greene and Bar Americano in Greenpoint are musts.

Brands and designers are getting increasingly clever in how they present themselves IRL. San Francisco–based Rapt Studio and Swiss photographer David Shama, for instance, are opening Do Not Feed Alligators, a part café, part bookshop, part cocktail-and-wine bar in the West Village. Celebrating the renewal of SoHo and Tribeca as design destinations, leading brands Orior, Bocci, Roll + Hill, Calico Wallpaper, Stellar Works, Atelier de Troupe, and Henrybuilt have teamed up to host an open-to-the-public Block Party on Friday, May 19, from 6–9 pm. The outdoor festivities will take place on Mercer Street between Grand and Canal.

Showroom Spotlights

So much of New York Design Week's offering takes place in the city's diverse crop of storefronts. Brands historically have selected spaces downtown in SoHo and Tribeca, but today you'll find an equal presence in Nomad and even the Upper East Side.

At its Tribeca flagship, Stellar Works is partnering with tech giant Sony on an immersive installation. Though details are still under wraps, the Staydream experience is said to be a "surreal reality." Sharing the same space, Calico Wallpaper will launch its Verdure collection developed with Roll & Hill founder Jason Miller.

NYCxDESIGN 2023: STAYDREAM by Stellar Works x SONY

Stellar Works and SONY collaborated for this year's NYCxDESIGN event and presented STAYDREAM, a surreal reality exhibition with seven unique experiences.

Stellar Works and Sony's Creative Center have joined forces to present 'STAYDREAM – a surreal reality' at NYCxDESIGN 2023 (18-25 May). This conceptual installation seeks to introduce novel user experiences, innovative sensing, and interactive engagement while examining the coexistence of physical and meta realities.

The exhibition comprises seven distinct experiences that invite visitors to explore a series of conceptual pieces developed in collaboration with Sony's Creative Center. The focus lies in bringing elements of the outside world into interior spaces, emphasizing the contrast between natural ambiance and indoor settings. The installation aims to showcase how well-being can be enhanced within the home.

The 'STAYDREAM' installation spans the ground floor and basement of the Stellar Works Showroom, featuring various 'experience zones.' Additionally, it showcases innovative products conceptualized by Sony, which have been brought to life through the manufacturing and development expertise of Stellar Works. Inspired by traditional Japanese screens known as Byōbu, these products include high-tech Hatch Divider and a technologically advanced Lead design. The installation also incorporates new additions to the Utility collection by Hart Sony, alongside other Stellar Works products.

Each experience zone within the installation presents a distinct conceptual piece, created in collaboration with Sony's Creative Center, with a strong emphasis on interactive digital elements. By seamlessly integrating aspects of the natural world into indoor environments, these installations explore the potential of combining virtual and physical realms. Sensors strategically placed throughout the space detect visitors' movements, triggering transformations in the surrounding environment. This approach aims to redefine spatial value and demonstrate the exciting possibilities that arise when virtual and physical elements collaborate, drawing on the expertise of brands from diverse domains.

The overarching goal of 'STAYDREAM – a surreal reality' is to create a unique spatial experience that seamlessly blends the virtual and physical realms. Through the detection of human movement and adaptive environmental changes, the installation showcases the potential for collaboration between innovative brands from different fields, exploring uncharted territories and opening doors to new possibilities.

DISCOVER 'STAYDREAM — A SURREAL REALITY'

Away from the noise of New York's bustling Canal Street, furniture brand Stellar Works stages a 'surreal reality' known as STAYDREAM in collaboration with the designers at Sony's Creative Center. The installation debuted in time for NYCxDESIGN, and demonstrates a series of new ways that visitors can interact with interiors, harnessing design and technology to 'bring elements of the outside to indoors.'

The event showcases Stellar Works' new conceptual furniture collection which integrates Sony expertise to bring each piece to life with visual and auditory elements. Luminous graphic projections are designed to transform custom Calico wallpaper, while room dividers subtly emit ambient sounds or light art. Meanwhile, a chandelier takes shape as a cluster of floating lights which together react to viewers' movements and sounds, their energy informing the atmosphere of the room. All these responsive technologies accumulate with a bedroom — the finale of the installation — which envelops the visitor in soft sounds of nature and calming visuals.

To discover more about the collaboration, designboom interviewed with Hirotaka Tako, Head of Sony's Design Center Europe, and Daisuke Ishii, Head of Sony's Creative Center. Spanning two levels of the Stellar Works showroom on 304 Canal Street, the installation was open to the public until 6:00pm on May 25th, 2023.

Twelve things to do and see during New York's 2023 design week

Listen to this story: Twelve things to do and see during New York's 2023 design week

1x - 08:35 ADAURIS

This week, New York's design week returns for another iteration. Here, we have rounded up key shows, talks and installations put on by organisations and brands including NASA, Muji and the Female Design Council.

The design week in New York City begins this week, with events and programming oriented around institutions such as the NYCxDesign festival and the International Contemporary Furniture Fair (ICFF).

Hundreds of galleries, showrooms, schools and cultural institutions have planned programming for the week, from talks to the release of special collections.

Most of the events and programming take place in brand showrooms and at institutions throughout the city, from Brooklyn to Hudson Yards and beyond.

However, there are a few clusters where visitors can see many things at once, such as design districts in Soho and around the New York Design Center in Manhattan, as well as Brooklyn Navy Yard and Industry City in Brooklyn.

Design platform WantedDesign Manhattan will return as part of ICFF at the Javits Center, while furniture brand Stellar Works will partner with electronics company Sony for a large-scale installation in its showroom.

Keep reading for Dezeen's picks on what to do and see during New York design week.

Sociable sofas

Here's one trend likely to last well into the autumn and perhaps into the foreseeable future – sofas for social animals. It's perhaps not surprising that some designers are focusing on seating that encourages social interaction as a much-needed antidote to the enforced isolation many suffered during the pandemic. This thought is resulting in new alternatives to conventional rectangular sofas. Of course, designers often successfully experimented with free-form modular sofas in the 1960s and 1970s, creating sofas that could be reconfigured in a multitude of ways. A recent development of this is the crescent-shaped or curved sofa that is conducive to socialising since it makes it easier for people sitting together on it to face each other and chat.

Yabu Pushelberg designed the Taylor sofa for Stellar Works

London design emporium Heal's has long championed the work of young designers, including Lucy Kurrein, now an undisputed queen of the innovative or unusual sofa. Her Isola sofa and accompanying large ottoman, both inspired by the organic contours of coastlines or islands, are ergonomically appealing and lend themselves to socialising.

Why Sony wants to sell you invisible technology

Sony and Stellar Works envision a more design-focused future for the smart home.

[Image: Sony/Stelalr Works]

BY ELISSAVETA M. BRANDON 2 MINUTE READ

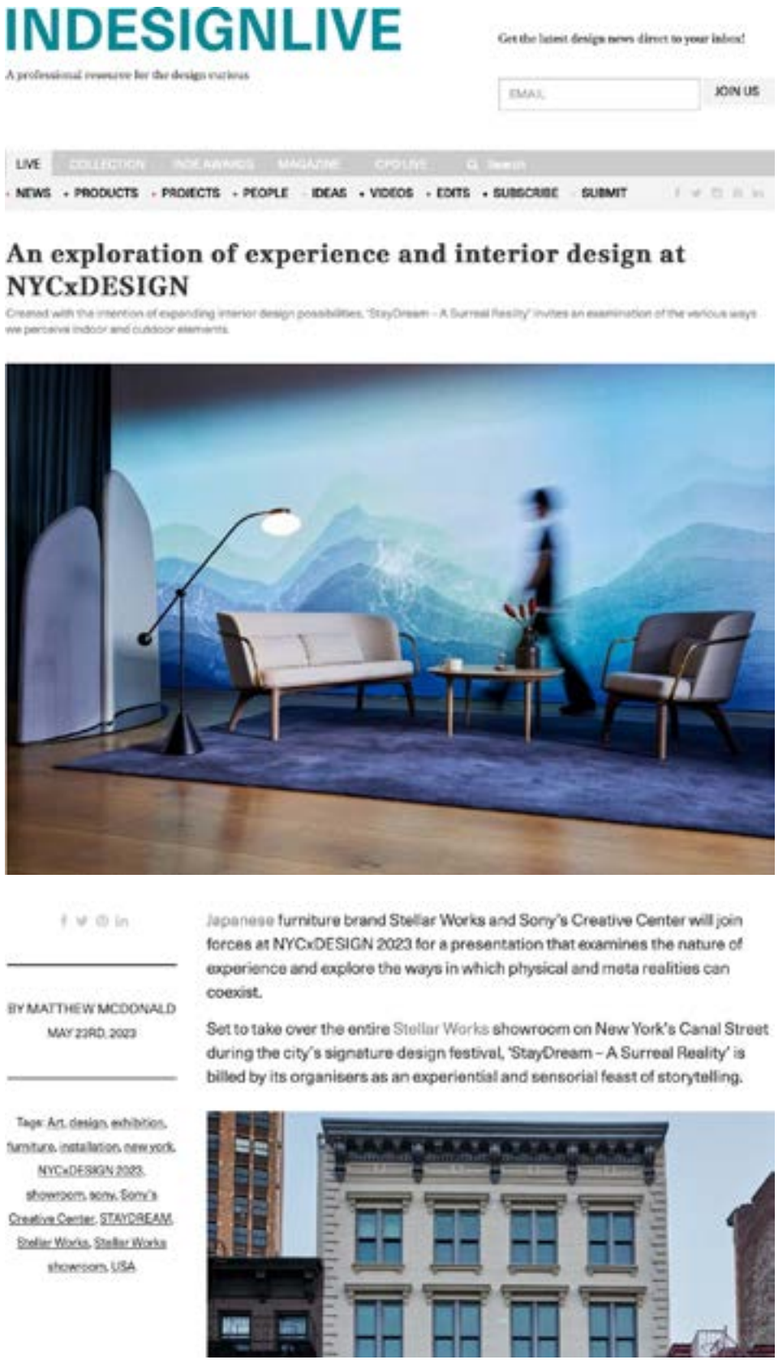

In 2018, Sony proposed a world with invisible technology. The Hidden Senses exhibition, which was held during Milan Design Week that year, included a candle holder that doubled as a light switch, a stone-like object that could change the volume of a nearby speaker when moved, and a bird sculpture whose shadow took flight when you grazed it with your finger.

The exhibition provided an intriguing design-first alternative to the smart home, where screens and dashboard were replaced with discreet technology that blends into your home. The objects on display were conceptual and only intended as conversation starters, but the underlying idea—that technology can be built into pretty much anything—is now one step closer to reality.

FAIR REPORT

The Best of New York Design Week 2023, Part II

by The Editors

At the beginning of this month's New York design mania — somewhere between Sight Unseen's two installs and after we'd been out at parties for three days in a row — I joked that while I've complained in the past that New York Design Week was too drawn out (it ballooned to nearly a month last year), this year felt too compressed, a kind of karmic retribution for my grumbling. How could we possibly see everything, and so close to Milan when we'd just gone through the same routine? But perhaps that sense of urgency was exactly what New York needed. (And, in truth, the "week" stretched to almost two). Because somewhere along the way, I realized I was having a significant amount of fun. Last year, we all agreed that "New York Design Week was back," etc. etc., and we saw wonderful work in beautiful locations. But this year something else returned to the city. New York got a little weird again — a word we haven't heard used to describe much around these parts lately.

There were tarot readings and card games at Egg Collective. There were bizarre, charmingly ramshackle exhibition locations, like the recently abandoned ice cream shop where Astraeus Clarke launched its new collection and group show; the disused neoclassical Chinatown building where Marta and Catalog Sale mounted an exhibition of 24 historic and contemporary ad-hoc chairs; and a 19th-century former bank building in Williamsburg — featuring a cruise ship-like bathroom and a hoarders' paradise flea market on the ground floor — where Bower and Ana Kras previewed their new mirror collaboration. There were bedazzled Le Croix cans and bejeweled can openers. Throughout the week, there were many, many fog machines.

Stellar Works x Sony STAYDREAM

STAYDREAM–a surreal reality is a collaboration between two Japanese companies: furnishings manufacturer Stellar Works and tech giant Sony. The experiential exhibition has taken over the ground floor and basement of the Stellar Works showroom in the form of seven distinct "experience zones." Each zone will showcase a different collaborative product between the two brands, while also contributing to the overall intention of the exhibition to digitally bring the outdoors inside. Traditional Japanese screens, Byōbu, have been reworked into high tech room dividers that will change the environment as the viewer moves through the experience.

Stellar Works Showroom in Kyoto in Partnership with Hosoo

The House of Hosoo with Stellar Works is a new showroom in Kyoto, Japan designed in collaboration with Copenhagen based OEO Studio. A synchronous encounter between two brands who have craft, tradition and beauty deeply ingrained in their DNA, the showroom is both a retail space yet it is also an opportunity to see one of a kind pieces and fabrics. Every piece presented in the showroom has been exclusively made for the space, a unique capsule collection of Stella Works furniture upholstered in Hosoo fabrics.

The showroom is housed in a 200-year old Machiya townhouse, what was once used as a traditional family house. Hosoo was using it as a warehouse space and Stellar Works CEO Yuichiro Hori pitched the idea to Hosoo to transform the townhouse, seeing the potential in making a showroom that would highlight the two brands in a special way.

OEO Studio and Stellar Works took care to respect the Machiya townhouse and its heritage as a family residence while highlighting the deep-rooted connection to craft in this city. Each room is its own mise-en-scene, such as a meeting room that features a Mandarin Dining Table by Neri & Hu and a suite of Laval chairs designed by OEO Studio and covered in a specially selected range of blue and purple hued Hosoo fabrics; an intimate living room with semi-circular sofa and chairs by Yabu Pushelberg, a beautiful cabinet designed by Neri & Hu with custom fabric interiors; and the AYA furniture collection designed by OEO Studio and launched at the NOMA pop-up in Kyoto this spring. Other highlights include the Kyoto standing lamp with a rice paper lampshade made by hand by a traditional Japanese umbrella maker, and a selection of ceramic pieces from the Arita collection designed by Neri & Hu.

Great ideas don't come with a timeline. You can't rush creativity, the thinking goes – and that's something both Stellar Works' CEO Yuichiro Hori and Sony's Design Center director Hirotaka Tako deeply understand. In fact, the design luminaries, who've been friends for a decade, after many years of conversations and exchange, have struck upon the right avenue for the furniture forerunner and technology powerhouse to collaborate. As Tako jokes, 'Every year, we'd say: "In five years, what if we do it [collab] next year?" Then three years later, we asked: "So we do next year?" And then finally the idea came last year.'
